COURT MEASURE ON RETIREMENT WINS IN HOUSE

Second Bill Delayed by President.

Scheme Attacked

Chairman H. W. Sumners.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—While President Roosevelt labored personally today to win Democratic senators to support of his project to control the judiciary, the house passed, by a vote of 315 to 75, the Sumners bill providing for voluntary retirement for Supreme court justices with full pay at the age of 70.

Then, just as the house was about to take up another bill embodying part of the President's proposals for procedural reform in the federal courts, a note from the White House halted the proceedings. Hastily the Democratic leaders adjourned the house and went into a huddle to learn the reason for the sudden countermand.

Find Technical Flaws.

The President, it transpired, had sent a note to Chairman Hatton Sumners [D., Tex.] of the house judiciary committee stating that Attorney General Cummings had found a number of technical flaws in the bill by virtue of which the President's objective would be defeated. Mr. Sumners called a meeting of his committee for tomorrow to consider the executive objections with a view to revising the bill.

The withdrawn measure provided for the intervention of the attorney general in all suits between private parties involving constitutional questions and for direct appeal to the Supreme court of all decisions by District courts holding acts of congress unconstitutional. These were minor features of the judiciary legislation proposed by the President in his sensational special message last Friday.

Consider Increase to 11.

Fearful of defeat of the Roosevelt scheme to pack the Supreme court, administration leaders in congress busied themselves today with face saving modifications. The suggestion chiefly considered was an increase of the membership of the Supreme court to 11 instead of the 15 proposed by Mr. Roosevelt and a constitutional amendment providing for automatic retirement of justices at 75 years of age.

Inasmuch as the adoption of a constitutional amendment ordinarily requires several years, such a compromise would not operate to give the President immediate control of the court, but it would "save his face" by giving him a semblance of what he asked for.

Mr. Roosevelt chose 70 as the retirement age for two reasons. First, it is the retirement age for judges under existing law. Secondly, a higher retirement age would not remove from the President's path all of the Supreme court justices who are obnoxious to him. There is, for example, Pierce Butler, who invariably has held against New Deal legislation, and he is just 70.

Age 70 Affects Several.

By making 70 the retirement age the President hits five of the justices who have invariably or frequently held New Deal laws invalid while exempting Justices Cardozo who generally, Stone who frequently, and

AGREEMENT TO BE SIGNED IN DETROIT TODAY

Peace Terms Not Disclosed.

BY WILLIAM O'NEIL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 11 (Thursday).—Gov. Frank Murphy announced at 1:35 a. m. (Chicago time) today that an agreement has been reached to settle the strike which for 42 days has paralyzed forty plants of the General Motors corporation.

The agreement will be signed at 10 o'clock this morning (Chicago time) and terms of the settlement will be announced then, the governor said. He said the sitdown strikers now occupying the Fisher body plants in Flint would not evacuate the plants until after the pact is signed.

Parley Lasts Eight Days.

The settlement, announced after an eight day conference called by Gov. Murphy at the request of President Roosevelt, followed a long session attended by William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of General Motors; John L. Lewis, chief of the Committee for Industrial Organization, and James F. Dewey, the federal conciliator.

The text of Gov. Murphy's statement follows:

"An agreement has been reached under the terms of which the union agrees to end the strike. The signing of the agreement will take place at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, and the terms will be disclosed then.

Calls Job Difficult.

"Mr. Lewis and his associates and the representatives of General Motors corporation have contributed all that they could in earnestness and fairness to bring to a conclusion this great industrial conflict. I greatly thank them.

"It is another great privilege of mine to acknowledge the wise counsel and assistance in these negotiations of James F. Dewey, the federal conciliator. It has been a difficult job, but reason has prevailed, and we hope it will contribute to end forever in the United States anything but peaceful and reasonable and conciliatory methods."

It was reported that the peace agreement provides for recognition of the union as a bargaining agency for its members only. On this point the long negotiations for a settlement repeatedly have been stuck, since General Motors has contended the union represented only a minority of its workers.

Earlier it was reported that Gov. Murphy had proposed as a compro-

Gunmen Rob Again on Gold Coast

Bandits Seize Uri B. Grannis, Sister and Son

The second robbery of prominent Chicagoans on the Gold Coast within a week was committed late last night. The victims were Uri B. Grannis Sr., 383 North Washington road, Lake Forest; his son, Uri Jr.,; his sister, Mrs. Henry L. Hollis, 936 Lake Shore drive, and Miss Madelon Search of the Churchill apartments, 1255 North State stret. They lost $1,185 worth of jewelry and $13 in cash.

Using exactly the same tactics employed by two gunmen who robbed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Ryerson, 1406 Astor street, on Feb. 3, two robbers last night forced their way into the Grannis automobile as it stopped in front of Mrs. Hollis' home at 936 Lake Shore drive.

Take $1,200 in Jewelry.

The men forced the chauffeur to drive to DeWitt place and Chestnut street. On the way there they compelled Mrs. Hollis to give up two rings valued at a total of $750, a wrist watch valued at $200, a pair of earrings valued at $20, and a $25 bracelet. From Grannis Jr. the robbers took a $40 ring, a $150 wrist watch and $8, and from his father they took $5.

The gunmen made their escape in another automobile driven behind the Grannis car, evidently by a confederate. The description of the robbers and of their automobile coincided with that given police by Mr. and Mrs. Ryerson, who lost two diamond bracelets valued at $7,000 after their car was stopped at Division and Dearborn streets.

Like the Ryersons, the Grannis party had attended a loop theater. Grannis Sr. is an investment securities counselor. His son, who was graduated from Princeton university in 1935, is employed by the American Brake Shoe company. Mrs. Hollis' husband is a mining engineer.

Cuneo Robbery Recalled.

The robbery recalled a similar holdup committed last Nov. 14 when two gunmen kidnaped John F. Cuneo, wealthy president of the Cuneo Press, and is wife, Mrs. Julia Shepherd Cuneo, in front of their home at 3300 Lake Shore drive. The bandits forced Cuneo to drive a few blocks away and robbed them of jewelry valued at more than $25,000.

Seven hours later a man identified as one of the bandits was found shot to death in an automobile parked in front of 3450 North Racine avenue.

BOYS CONFESS HOLDUPS

Three pupils of the Steinmetz high school on the northwest side yesterday confessed ten robberies of storekeepers in the neighborhood of the school. The robberies, they said, were committed during morning recess—from 11:30 to 11:45 o'clock—with the aid of an automobile which one of their number obtained from his parents. The car was kept parked in front of the school, ready for the robbery forays. After a holdup they would return to classes.

They Slip on a $5 Job.

But last Monday the three pupils, with two outsiders who were in the gang, robbed the notions store of Miss Barbara Johnson, 4225 Oriole avenue—within easy driving distance of the school at Malvina and Barry avenues. They took $5 from Miss Johnson. In the getaway one of the robbers dropped a letter.

After tracing an address on the letter, Irving Park police on Tuesday visited the high school and arrested Sam Scaccia, 17 years old, 2337 North McVicker avenue. He admitted using his parents' car in the robbery and named the four others.

Ten Robberies Confessed.

Arrested later in the day, they were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin. Yesterday they confessed.

Those in custody in addition to Scaccia, are Thomas Marsola, 17, of 2327 North Melvina avenue; Frank Piconere, 18, of 2245 North Mansfield avenue; Frank Varisco, 19, of 3318 Oketo avenue, and George Dolakas, 19, of 2226 North Monitor avenue. Scaccia, Marsola, and Piconere are pupils at Steinmetz High. Dolakas is a former pupil there. Varisco said he was an actor with a WPA troupe.

Miss Rose Driensky, 20, accepted the apology and $400 in settlement of her $100,000 breach of promise suit.

14 Churches in Mexico Seized by Catholics

BULLETIN.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—The Vera Cruz state legislature in a secret meeting last night repealed the law preventing religious ceremonies in the state. Neither the fact of the meeting nor the action became known until tonight. The Mexican press interprets the action as showing President Cardenas' determination to permit the freer holding of masses in Mexico.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

President Cardenas.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10.—Enraged Roman Catholics, defending their right to religious freedom, tonight entrenched themselves within 14 churches in the city of Orizaba, state of Vera Cruz, and defied soldiers and police to remove them. This new form of sitdown strike followed the action of 15,000 worshipers yesterday in breaking open the edifices which had been closed for ten years by order of the Mexican government.

"We demand freedom of worship!" cried the Catholics as they sat in pews of the closely shuttered churches. "We will never permit the churches to be closed again."

Ready to Fight Soldiers.

Angry laymen stood on guard at the doors, ready to resist any attempt by the police or military to regain possession of the buildings. The soldiers and police, however, stood idly by, apparently under orders not to molest the Catholics.

The storming of the churches by the worshipers followed funeral services for Leonar Sanchez, 14 years old, who was killed by police in a raid on a secret mass in a private home last Sunday. Angry mutterings were heard as the girl's casket was being carried to her grave. Then the wrath of the crowd broke out and a rush began toward the city's churches.

"Open them, open them," shouted the crowd.

The Catholics smashed open doors and went inside. Some gathered at the entrances and shook their fists at the police.

Leaders announced a Lenten crusade against the government's confiscation of religious possessions and its program of socialistic education.

An appeal for freedom of worship was dispatched to Gov. Miguel Aleman of Vera Cruz.

Police released Father Flores, who had officiated at Sunday's secret mass and who had been arrested.

Two Catholics in Jail.

Two other Catholics were arrested by police during the raid. They were still in custody. Gov. Aleman announced that the raid had been conducted "without authorization." He promised severe punishment for the girl's killer or killers.

There was some question tonight whether President Cardena's amnesty decree yesterday, which cleared court dockets of "political" cases, would apply to Catholic churchmen sent into exile under the government's anti-religious policies.

True Nazi Life Prescribed for Coddled Boys

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Children who fail to come up to the National Socialist [Nazi] ideals of education may henceforth be taken away from their homes and placed in state homes for destitute children, a German appeal court has ruled.

The court's decision was made known to all German courts by a special order from Dr. Franz Guertner, German minister of justice, today.

Grew Up Among Women.

The appeal court dealt with a boy 15 years old who "grew up in an exclusively female circle" consisting of his mother, grandmother, and aunt. According to the court they made an "egocentric, pampered weakling out of the boy, unfit to meet the requirements of life."

Though the court admitted that the boy "did not show the customary signs of neglect," it ordered his removal into a home for destitute children, since the boy did not answer the "National Socialist standard of mental and physical fitness."

A lower court previously had come to the same decision, adding that "the boy lacked discipline, a sense of comradeship, did not swim nor bathe, and never participated in gymnastic lessons."

Prepare to Conscript Youth.

The Nazification of German youth will advance apace next April 1 when Baldur von Schirach, national youth leader, officially takes charge of the newly created "supreme national department" of youth, which may be regarded as a youth ministry. At present Von Schirach and his lieutenants are busy preparing for the conscription of all boys and girls of the annual class of 1927 into the national youth.

On Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's birthday, April 10, boys and girls will be taken solemnly into the ranks of the "Young Folk."

$8,000,000 TAX SUIT IS LOST BY SCHOOL BOARD

U. S. Court Decides for Investors.

Judge Evan A. Evans.

In an unanimous opinion the United States Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday held the Chicago board of education, as a corporation, personally liable for paying almost the full face value of ten million dollars outstanding in 1929 tax anticipation warrants.

The Appellate court upheld a decision of the federal District court which enjoined the school board from retiring the outstanding warrants in numerical order; that is, in the order by which the warrants were numbered as they were issued. Instead the court ruled that warrants must be paid off on a pro rata basis among all their holders.

8 to 11 Million Liability.

The full liability of the board, if the ruling is upheld on further appeal, will range between eight and eleven million dollars, depending on the interest computation, according to an estimate last night. To offset this the board has on hand in the 1929 tax collection account only $1,280,450.

Collection of delinquent taxes by the school board and other local governments has been in a hopeless muddle for several years. There are millions of dollars in uncollected taxes, but due to confused records no one knows just how many millions. The probability of collecting much of these delinquent taxes is considered slight by county officials.

High Numbers Lose Out.

Under the numerical system of retiring warrants, as practiced by local taxing bodies, the warants are called for payment by serial number, beginning with the lowest, as soon as sufficient money is on hand. Should tax collections fail to yield the anticipated revenue, the highest serial numbers may never be reached. This occurs when the tax collection fund for the particular year becomes insolvent as it did in the case of the 1929 levy.

The warant retirement plan approved by the federal Appellate court operates differently. Whenever a distribution of tax funds is to be made on a pro rata basis, the investor receives a proportionate share of the money available, depending on the number of warants he holds.

$62,700,000 Warants Sold.

In anticipation of collections for 1929 the school board sold $62,700,000 of building and educational fund warants. This represented 75 per cent of the tax levy proposed at the time of issuance.

By the fall of 1935, the collections for 1929 totaled $66,772,313. Because a large amount of this went for the actual cost of collection and accrued interest on the warants, the board was able to retire only $52,678,000 of the warants.

The board's inability to meet the full tax warants liability is due chiefly to the reduction in 1929 assessed valuations. After the warants were sold the assessed valuation was cut sharply. As the tax rate was not changed the final levy was not much in excess of the outstanding warants.

Three years ago the school board tried to retire all of the outstanding 1929 warants by selling bonds. A bill providing for issuance of $10,000,000 in bonds was passed by the general assembly. In 1935, however, the Illinois Supreme court held the law unconstitutional and ruled that the warants could be redeemed only from tax collections for 1929.

Exceed Expected Collections.

Today the amount of 1929 warants outstanding is in excess of the amount of 1929 taxes which there is any reasonable expectation of collecting. The 1929 tax delinquency of $14,000,000 was written down to nearly $3,000,000 in the 1937 budget.

Tax experts were generally agreed last night that the principle of warant retirement set up by the Appellate court would have little effect on other local governments. Only minor amounts of warants for the years preceding 1934—other than 1929—are held by the public. On May 4, 1934, the state legislature legalized the numerical retirement of warants, a practice which had been common for more than fifty years.

The opinion of the Appellate court yesterday, which upheld the decision of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward last April 17, was rendered in the case of the Norfolk and Western Railway company. They hold $858,000 of the warants.

On Nov. 26, 1935, when the railroad filed suit to demand a pro rata apportionment, the board had on hand only $472,174 with which to satisfy its claim. Interest at 6 per cent brought the total amount of its suit up to $1,187,614.

Evans Writes Opinion.

The opinion yesterday was written and delivered by Judge Evan A. Evans. Federal Judges Walter C. Lindley and Charles G. Briggle, sitting as Appellate judges, concurred.

"It is true the warants were numbered," read the opinion in taking up the question of serial payment, "but such numbering was for the convenience of the parties. The numbers did not fix the order of payment of the warants or give preference of lien to lower numbered warants.

"The language of the warant pledged the 1929 taxes to the payment 'of this warant and of all warants.' The situation was not unlike that of a mortgage which secures several notes. The notes might be numbered, but the mortgage secures them all equally.

"In the absence of language in the warant indicating a different understanding, we must hold that the money received in the way of taxes was for the payment of all warants."

Ruling on Liability.

On the question raised by the railroad of holding the school board "personally to account for moneys improperly paid to other warant holders in excess of their pro rata share," the court held:

"The taxes received by the board of education constitute a trust fund for the payment of all warants. The board held the funds as a trustee.

"It became liable personally when it distributed this fund among warant holders in full payment of their warants to the damage of other warant holders who received nothing or a sum less than they would have received had the fund been distributed pro rata among all warant holders. The exact amount of this liability can only be determined by an accounting as the District court directed."

Liable for 83 Per Cent.

Excluding any interest, it was estimated last night, the board is liable for approximately 83 per cent of the outstanding warants, or $8,309,960. Deducting the amount of money on hand in the 1929 tax collection fund, the liability is reduced to $7,029,510. This liability, however, may be increased by inclusion of interest on the warants, which now approximates $4,000,000.

In his decision last spring Judge Woodward restrained the board from retiring the remaining warants on any but a pro rata basis. The Appellate court held this was insufficient. In this respect it amended the lower court's decision, ordering the issuance of a mandatory injunction directing the board to distribute on a pro rata basis all 1929 taxes on hand and any collected in the future.

James B. McCahey, president of the school board, yesterday was in Springfield, where he has been campaigning for the passage of the $45,000,000 pegged school levy bill in the legislature. Mr. McCahey will return to Chicago today to consider the next move of the board in the tax warant situation.

SCHOOL TAX TANK RUNS DRY

In the diagram below the tanks in the first or upper row represent how the Chicago board of education distributed tax collections to holders of 1929 warants according to the serial numbers on their warants. About five-sixths or 83 per cent of the warants have been paid, so five tanks are full. Nothing has been paid on the rest of the warants, so one tank is empty. The federal courts say the money should have been distributed pro rata. Then all the tanks would be five-sixths full, as shown in the lower row—each warant holder would have been paid five-sixths of the face amount of his warants.

COURT PROGRAM RESOLUTIONS UP IN LEGISLATURES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Various state legislatures throughout the country today considered resolutions concerning the President's plan to increase the membership of the United States Supreme court.

The Kansas house of representatives voted to ask congress to oppose any proposal to increase the number of justices "through appointment at the discretion of the President."

A resolution requesting the Maryland congressional delegation to oppose any change in the membership of the court was prepared for introduction in the Maryland legislature.

Similar resolutions were referred to committees by the Pennsylvania senate and the Arkansas house of representatives. A proposal to oppose the court revision plan was tabled by the Ohio senate, while the New Hampshire senate rejected a resolution to commend it. The Tennessee house was considering a proposal to vote against the plan.

The Indiana house defeated a resolution condemning the reform and the Delaware house voted to request that state's delegation to support it.

Yesterday the Maine legislature, the Connecticut house and the Texas senate passed resolutions opposing the change.

FLIES 5,000 MILES IN 45 HOURS TO BE OPERATED ON

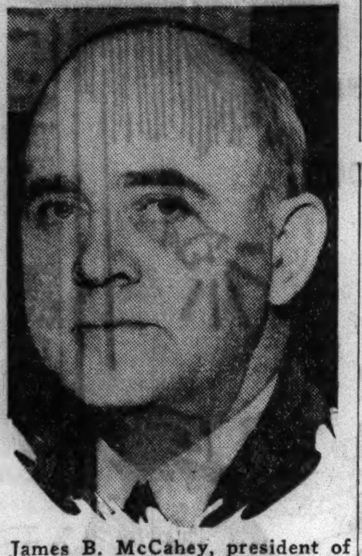
Newark, N. J., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Andrew Okis of Jersey City, 55 year old official of the American Pencil company stationed at Honolulu, arrived at Newark airport today, 45 hours and 12 minutes after he left Honolulu, to be treated for an infection of the right leg.

With a crutch he was able to walk to an ambulance which took him to a hospital. A surgeon said tonight the leg would be amputated to check a gangrenous infection resulting from diabetes.

Okis was a passenger on the China Clipper to San Francisco and completed the 5,000 mile journey by overnight plane.

Pupils Moved Into Stores So School Can Come Down

The 400 pupils of Goudy Elementary school, Foster and Winthrop avenues, were housed in five portable rooms and four neighborhood stores yesterday as workmen prepared to raze the school building. This will make space for a new $350,000, twenty-two class room structure which is expected to be ready next September. The pupils will continue their work in the stores and portables situated along Berwyn avenue between Broadway and Winthrop avenue.



James B. McCahey, president of school board, in Springfield yesterday to push $45,000,000 school levy bill in state legislature, will return to Chicago today to face tax warant problem.

REVEALS TAYLOR HAS SENT FUNDS TO GRANDFATHER

Beatrice, Neb., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Dwight Dalby of Beatrice, longtime friend of Robert Taylor and his family, disclosed today the movie star sent money to his elderly grandfather, Jacob A. Brugh, "within the last few days" in an effort to prevent him being a state pensioner.

Dalby, who knows Taylor as Arlington Brugh—the name he bore before entering film work—said he talked with the actor by telephone. Taylor wanted him to act as his agent or obtain some other agent at Beatrice, Dalby said, but finally decided it would be better to send the money directly to his grandfather by registered letter.

County Assistance Director T. E. Saunders said he did not know what arrangements Taylor has made. Meanwhile, he said, the actor's 82 year old grandfather will continue on the rolls as a $16 a month old age pensioner until assistance workers make their regular check.

TWO ACCUSED AS SEX OFFENDERS FINED $200 EACH

Two men accused of sex offenses were fined $200 each yesterday as the authorities continued their campaign against morons.

Louis Carow, 50 years old, 2709 North Merrimac avenue, was fined by Judge Stephen Adamowski in the Domestic Relations court for disorderly conduct. The charge was based on the story of a 12 year old girl.

The other man punished is John Papovich, 43 years old, 158 West Grand avenue, a WPA worker. He was fined by Municipal Judge Nuncio J. Bonelli on a charge of disorderly conduct brought by Eva Ritter, a maid in the home of Joseph Janek at 1420 Chestnut street.

2 'PEGGED LEVY' TAX BILLS MOVE TOWARD PASSAGE

School Measure Headed for Vote Next Week.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The "pegged levy" bills of the Chicago Board of Education and the Chicago Park district were advanced in the general assembly today to stages indicative that the school bill will be enacted next week and the park bill one week later.

Douglas Sutherland.

These rosy prospects for the measures were based not alone on their smooth progress in the legislative halls, but on what is accepted as indication of a friendly attitude toward them on the part of Gov. Henry Horner. Representatives of the two Chicago taxing bodies conferred with him for an hour today, and it was after this meeting that the levy proposals resumed their steady progress toward final passage.

Expect Passage Tuesday.

Tonight finds the school bill—already passed by the senate—on third reading in the house of representatives and ready for passage next Tuesday when the assembly reconvenes. The only other legislative step necessary will be concurrence by the senate in a house amendment. The bill then will be ready for signature by Gov. Horner.

The park bill was passed by the senate today, 38 to 0, which meant it had four more votes than the two-thirds required to make it effective upon approval by the governor without the statutory delay unil July 1. Then it was sent to the house, where, as the result of an agreement with Gov. Horner, it was referred to the committee on municipalities.

The meeting of that committee to consider the bill was set for the midday recess next Tuesday, and it is believed that after a hearing there, the bill will be sent back to the house not later than Wednesday with a favorable recommendation.

Need Is Conceded.

It was conceded by Douglas Sutherland of the Chicago Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency, who took part in the conference with the governor, that the board's budget is an economical one—that it needs the $45,000,000 provided by the peg levy bill this year and therefore will need it in succeeding years. Gov. Horner agreed with him.

The one amendment agreed upon in conference, and a few minutes later adopted in the house, was the elimination of the provision to substitute a tax rate of $2.22 for the present rate of $1.60. This left the bill strictly a bill to produce $45,000,000 without regard to the statutory rate.

Sutherland said that as a matter of fact the tax rate necessary to produce $45,000,000 will be approximately $2.22 at present valuations, and that omission of the rate from the bill merely obviated the possibility that such a provision might produce within a few years more than $45,000,000.

Asks $500,000 Flood Relief.

Among new bills introduced was one appropriating $500,000 for flood relief, which was said to have Gov. Horner's approval. It was presented by eight house members from the devastated area in southern Illinois.

At the behest of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, Representative Joseph L. Rategan [D., Chicago], introduced a bill to put an end to "rackets," organized under the "corporations not for pecuniary profit" provisions of the corporation act. The measure limits the purposes for which such corporations may be organized.

Charles H. Weber [D., Chicago], introduced a bill to provide that newspapermen shall not be compelled to disclose the sources of their information.

'DATE ON A BET' SLAYER FREED; SEEKS DIVORCE

Hopewell, Va., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Freed from a charge of slaying her own brother-in-law, comely Mrs. Kathleen Phelps Abernathy, 18 years old, said tonight she would seek to divorce the convicted forger who wooed her through cell bars while both were awaiting trial.

"A divorce—and a job," were her first wishes after Judge Marshall R. Peterson ordered a charge of slaying Howard W. Watkins, her sister's husband, dropped today on motion of the commonwealth's attorney.

The attorney, John Goodman, told the court there was no new evidence to offer in the "date-on-a-bet" shooting since Mrs. Abernathy was convicted last fall by a jury which recommended that she serve five years in prison. The court set aside the verdict on the ground the jury ignored instructions.

Mrs. Abernathy testified at the first trial she made a bet with her sister she could have a date with Watkins, the sister's husband. She said she shot Watkins when he invaded her bedroom and attempted to beat her "in a jealous rage" because she had kept a date with another married man.

GEORGIA JOINS IN PROTESTING SHERMAN STAMP

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Georgia legislature joined the South Carolina house of representatives today in protesting the issuance of stamps bearing the likeness of Gen. William Tecumseh Sherman.

Washington officials said, however, it was "too late" to stop the run of Sherman stamps, adding:

"If the South Carolina legislature still is in session, tell them we expect them to substitute the vote [against the stamps] for one of confidence and approval.

"Perhaps they will be willing to do that when they learn the next commemorative issue will carry portraits of Gen. Robert E. Lee and 'Stonewall' Jackson."

The action of the South Carolina house was brought to the attention of the official speaking, Roy M. North, deputy third assistant postmaster general, before the Georgia lawmakers acted.

SENATE CONTEST PROVIDES LAUGH FOR REPUBLICANS

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Republicans in the Illinois senate had a good laugh today as their embarrassed Democratic associates hesitatingly took up an election contest similar to the famous Bidwill case.

In that well remembered incident in 1935, Arthur J. Bidwill of River Forest, a Republican, was ousted summarily from his seat by the Democrats, who refused to recount the votes cast for senator in the 7th district in November, 1934. Bidwill had been declared victor by 149 votes in the canvassed returns over Charles F. Baumrucker, Democrat, also of River Forest.

Baumrucker, a political protégé of Richard Nash, brother of P. A. Nash, Cook county Democratic boss, contested the election and the senate ousted Bidwill and seated his opponent. Bidwill begged that the ballot boxes be opened, but the senate refused.

Questions 390 Plurality.

The shoe now is on the other foot. Former Senator Charles J. Kribs, Prairie Du Rocher Democrat, asks that the senate count the ballots cast in the 44th district last November. Returns showed that R. G. Crisenberry, Murphysboro Republican, defeated Kribs by 390 votes.

Kribs' contest asks that all of the ballots be recounted save in two precincts in Murphysboro which went overwhelming for Crisenberry. Kribs wants those precints thrown out altogether.

A search of the senate journal today revealed that on May 15, 1935, Kribs voted to oust Bidwill without a recount. Only one Democrat fought with the Republican minority to retain Bidwill. He was Prof. T. V. Smith, senator from the University of Chicago district.

Crisenberry Approves Recount.

Senator Crisenberry says he is perfectly willing that the ballots be recounted, although he thinks it would be a useless expense upon the state.

"The Kribs' petition," Crisenberry said today, after a subcommittee had been named to consider the contest, "says that in the two specific Murphysboro precincts there were 'missing ballots'; in other words, that more ballots were taken to the polling places than were found in the boxes.

"But he doesn't say how many ballots were missing, and to refute his charge I have affidavits from the judges and clerks of both precincts that all ballots were accounted for.

"I carried one of these precincts by 300 votes and the other by 246 votes, but my vote was comparable with the large majorities cast for other Republican candidates."

Sitting in preliminary judgment on the Crisenberry-Kribs contest will be a sub-committee named today by Peter P. Kixelminski of the elections committee. It is headed by Harry C. Stuttle [Dem., Litchfield]. The other members are L. C. Sieberns [Dem., Gridley], James O. Monroe [Dem., Collinsville], and Oral P. Tuttle [Rep., Harrisburg]. The committee will adopt its rules and prepare to hear evidence next Tuesday.

As he noted the Democratic reversal on the matter of recounting ballots in elections contests, Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, Republican minority leader, remarked that "the Democrats have learned their lesson, but it was a painful one."

FARMER IS BURNED TO DEATH, WIFE SHOT; SIX PERSONS ARE HELD

Fort Pierce, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. S. L. Williams was killed by two blasts from a shotgun today and a coroner's jury investigating the tragedy found her husband burned to death in servants' quarters behind the home. Williams was a prominent farmer.

Sherif B. A. Brown said he was holding six persons for investigation. He listed them as Mrs. Ruby Simms, her father and four negroes. No charges were placed against them, he said.

Sherif Brown said Williams told one of the negroes to take his automobile to Mrs. Simms, and the woman and a negro farm hand were arrested after the slaying when found riding in the machine.

Prosecutor, Aids Seek Probable Motive.

Possibility that the murder of Roger William Loomis of Lombard may have its explanation in someone's secret enmity against his foster mother was seen last night by the authorities investigating the strangling of the 5 year old boy.

Russell W. Keeney, Du Page county attorney, arrived home from an interrupted Florida vacation to take charge of the inquiry, and promptly gave approval to plans of his staf to coöperate with the mother, Mrs. Grace Loomis, in looking back over her life history for a clew to the murder.

Mr. Keeney said he would requestion all witnesses who have previously given information in the case. Should he deem it necessary, he said, he will have the body exhumed.

Prosecutor Meets with Aids.

Mr. Keeney, who rushed back by automobile, went immediately into conference at his Glen Ellyn home with Sherif Arthur Bennett; Allan Myers, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office; William Hooper, who was acting state's attorney during Mr. Keeney's absence, and Lee Daniels and Joel Baker, assistant state's attorneys.

Far back in Mrs. Loomis' girlhood in Canada or in her career as an actress, the officials said, might lie some forgotten incident that had brought vengeance in the from of the murder of the little boy adopted a year ago by her and her husband, George Crane Loomis.

Some former neighbor, still harboring a secret grudge, might have become so unbalanced as to come to Lombard for vengeance, the authorities said. Some rejected suitor might have chosen this means of making Mrs. Loomis pay. Someone whose jealousy she had aroused by her professional work might be at the bottom of the murder.

Consider Other Possibilities.

These and a dozen other possibilities were considered by the officials in their efforts to solve the crime which thus far seems without a motive.

Mrs. Loomis, grief stricken at the youngster's tragic death, told her life story briefly when the investigation began. But she could recall nothing at the time that would offer the slenderest clew to the killing, which was at first believed to have been committed by a sex maniac.

In the first questioning, Mrs. Loomis said she was 30 years old, although her husband later said she had evidently been confused, as she is 37.

Wife of Loomis Since 1930.

She was born Grace Yvonne Couture in Burke Falls, Ont., Canada, she said. After she grew up she was for a time an actress. In 1920 she was married to Robert McMillan, but he died two months later. In 1930 she was married to her present husband, George Crane Loomis, 43 years old, with whom she lives at 140 West Grove street, Lombard. He is an examiner of merchandise in the United States appraiser's warehouse at 610 South Canal street, a job he has held since 1919.

Four years ago Mr. and Mrs. Loomis took Roger into their home to rear as thier own. A year ago they formally adopted him.

They were living on Chicago's west side when they first took Roger, but because they wanted him to have a yard to play in and more room than there was in their apartment they moved to Lombard, taking a seven room house when Mr. Loomis was given a raise in pay.

Possible Grudge Against Father.

While the authorities thought they might find the clew they sought in Mrs. Loomis' life history, they were not overlooking the fact that her husband is a government employé and as such might have incurred the enmity of criminals.

As wonder grew that the boy Mrs. Loomis says told her of seeing her son get into a strange man's car could not be found, the police found George O'Connor, 8 years old, said by Mrs. Loomis to resemble the boy who gave her the information. George said that he had not seen Roger get into a car and that he was not the boy who talked to Mrs. Loomis. The O'Connor boy lives at 134 Windsor street, Lombard, not far from the Loomis home.

Roger disappeared last Thursday afternoon and was found strangled beside a lonely road in the northeastern part of Lombard next morning.

Wife Has Dream, Her Husband Is Found Dead

Newark, N. J., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth M. Harris of Easton, Pa., murmured "I knew it" when informed her husband had been found dead of a heart attack. She had dreamed Monday night, she said, that her husband, William, had been killed in Newark where he worked, and came here in search of him.

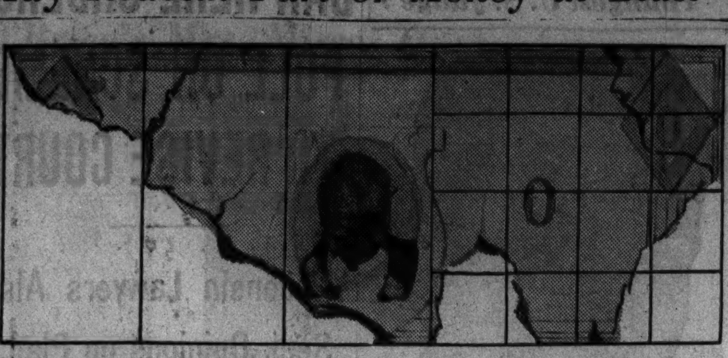
How Chicagoan May Redeem Part of Money in Blast

The United States secret service employs apparatus (as above) consisting of a microscope, magnifying glass, and a discount glass graduated into fifths, under which mutilated currency certificates are placed to determine the rate of redemption. This process must be used if William Herbert is to realize anything from the remains of $60,000 in currency which was blown into bits by the explosion in which his wife was killed at their home, 1427 Juneway terrace.



Facsimile of discount glass used in redeeming bank notes. All notes equaling or exceeding three-fifths of their original proportions and bearing the name of the bank and the signature of one of its officers are redeemable at face value. Mutilated United States currency is redeemable at its face value when not more than two-fifths of the note are missing. When mutilated so that less than three-fifths, but more than two-fifths of the original proportions remain, it is redeemable at half face value, unless when accompanied by affidavit that missing proportions are totally destroyed, when it is redeemable at face value.

Payoff on Burned Bits Hinges on Analysis.

In the skilled hands of the chemists of the United States secret service lies the chance of William Herbert, a wholesale lumber dealer, to recover a fortune—believed to be $60,000—which was lost last Monday in an explosion and fire at his home, 1427 Juneway terrace.

Charred fragments of the money were found yesterday in the wreckage of the home. The currency had been hidden in a small metal box under the basement rafters by the lumberman's wife, Mrs. Lillian Herbert, 62 years old, who was killed in the explosion.

Policeman Finds Bills.

Policeman Michael Kelly of the Rogers Park station, who with five other police had been sifting the ruins since the tragedy, found the charred bills.

"It was all in a pile," he said, "about three feet south of directly below the place pointed out to me as the cache where the money had been hidden. The metal box was blown apart by the explosion, and we picked it up in several sections near by."

Capt. Charles Essig of the Rogers Park station said he had been told the fortune included twenty $1,000 bills, with the rest of the money in hundreds, twenties, tens, and fives. When he examined the fragments at the police station, he said, he saw pieces of many $100 bills and bills of smaller denomination, but no parts of any $1,000 bills.

Advised to Seek Redemption.

All the fragments were turned over to Herbert, who was advised to take them to the federal courthouse to apply for redemption of the money. Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan of the United States secret service said Herbert did not call or him, and at the fiscal agency of the federal reserve bank it was said he had not appeared there.

Herbert is staying temporarily at the Illinois Athletic club, where a friend reported last night that no efforts had been made to piece together any of the fragments.

Under federal law if a portion of a burned bill less than three-fifths the size of the original, but more than two-fifths, is tendered to the treasury department, it will be redeemed at half its face value if it is proved the rest of the bill has been destroyed.

In the Herbert case police said the serial numbers of the bills had been registered at a bank by Mrs. Herbert. Capt. Callaghan of the secret service said such registration might be accepted by the treasury department as evidence but not as proof of ownership of the money.

Candle Causes Explosion.

The explosion which caused the death of Mrs. Herbert occurred when she went to the basement, carrying a lighted candle, to tend the oil furnace. Gas from an oil leak was ignited by the candle. The fire quickly exploded a can containing cleaning fluid.

Herbert told the police his wife had been hiding money under the rafters for five or six years, using funds received from the liquidation of mortgages and other securities. She did not trust banks and would not rent a safety deposit box, he said.

Baron Lurgan, third possessor of that title, was state steward to the viceroy of Ireland in 1895 and a large landowner. His only son, William George Edward Brownlow, succeeds to the title.

ARDENT WOOING TOLD IN DIVORCE AND DAMAGE SUIT

Wife Asks Judgment in Unusual Case.

He asked her 52 times for his first date, wooed and won her with love scenes from Shakespeare, wrote her 400 poetic letters, and she deserted him!

She gave him the date, played Juliet to his Romeo and read the letters. Moreover, she gave up her job, her maiden name, and her home. And he deserted her!

Face Each Other in Court.

Willard Curtis, 43 years old, son of the late William A. Curtis, vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co., and his wife, Agnes, 36 years old, 8149 Drexel avenue, faced each other before Judge Walter O'Malley of Aurora, sitting in Superior court here yesterday, and told these bitter stories of being left alone.

Their cross bills for divorce, unusual in that both charged desertion, though on different days, were the first admitted under the new Illinois civil practice act allowing suit for damage, to join with divorce proceedings. Mrs. Curtis is asking a settlement of $2,000 for salary lost when she gave up her job to be married and $5,000 for worry, trouble, and injury to her name.

Says He Still Loves Her.

On the witness stand, Mr. Curtis, under questioning of his attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., admitted the abundance of his love for his pretty wife, and in a lower voice, the scarcity of his funds.

"She asks for money," he sighed. "How can I pay her? How can I give her luxuries? I have no inheritance, no stocks, no bonds, no real estate—and alas, no money. I even do my own washing, but I still love her."

He related how he had sought work in every bond house in town, in vain.

"Ever think of a filling station job?" Mrs. Curtis' attorney, Earl Walker, asked him.

"No, no filling stations," he returned. "I'm not temperamentally suited to turning a crank. It's her fault, too, that we didn't have any money. I told her not to quit her job."

Romantic Wooing Described.

Mrs. Curtis, gracious and dark eyed, took the stand.

"He's so romantic," she smiled, "and so impractical. He wrote me sonnets instead of looking for a job. I didn't even know he was financially embarrassed until the day we were married. He was so busy telling me how anxious he was to get me down to his log cabin at Pelican lake. And another thing, he said if I was a real good girl he was going to take me to Honolulu . . . and him with no money!"

Decision on the case will be delayed for a study of the briefs.

$50,000 'SHAKE' PROPOSAL TOLD IN RACKET CASE

New York Store Named as the Target.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A plot to shake down a large department store for $50,000, as payment for the removal of a picket line, was disclosed by the testimony of a witness in the $2,000,000 a year café racket trial before the Supreme court today.

Samuel Gershowitz, operator of a string of cafeterias and lunchrooms in New York, told the court that Louis Beitcher, collector for the Arthur [Dutch Schultz] Flegenheimer gang, approached him in the spring of 1935 on the question of pickets in front of the restaurant operated in conjunction with S. Klein, women's apparel store.

Collector Looks for Agent.

"Beitcher asked me if I knew anybody in Klein's, and I said I did," said Gershowitz. "I said Mr. Klein was my landlord because I had just signed a lease to run a lunchroom. He said to tell the Klein people he would take off the picket line for $50,000."

Gershowitz testified that he went to the store management and failed to gain any satisfaction. The picket line continued, however, and shortly afterward the store ceased operating its restaurant.

Besides being forced to act as a go-between for a gangster, Gershowitz told the court he had plenty of troubles over his own establishments.

Accuses Several on Trial.

Gershowitz's testimony implicated several of the eight labor leaders and lawyers, on trial for conspiracy and extortion of vast sums of money from restaurant owners who paid rather than face the ruin of their business by stench bombs or labor violence.

Before he opened the Elkwood restaurant in 1933, Gershowitz declared, Paul N. Coulcher, secretary of a waiters' union allegedly dominated by the Schultz gang and a defendant in the case, demanded that the establishment be unionized.

A rival union, local No. 1, established waiters' organization in Manhattan, also wanted to unionize the place. Coulcher introduced Gershowitz to Jules Martin, Schultz gangster since slain, who said local No. 1 would not bother him if he played ball with Local 16, the Coulcher union. Gershowitz agreed and sealed the bargain by paying Martin $1,200 to head off trouble.

Halts the Picket Line

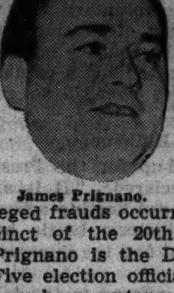
Local No. 1 then started a picket line. Last week the leaders of this union testified that they had removed their pickets when Martin put a gun in their ribs and told them James J. "Jimmie" Hines, Tammany leader and distributor of New Deal patronage in New York, was behind his union.

Gershowitz also joined the Metropolitan Restaurant and Cafeteria association which extracted thousands of dollars in initiation fees and weekly dues from the restaurateurs. Without any foreknowledge he was elected a director of the organization, the witness testified.

Gets Grand Jury Call.

When the investigation into the racket started Gershowitz received a grand jury subpena. Abraham Cohen, attorney for the Metropolitan association and a defendant, advised him what to tell the grand jury, the witness said. He told the grand jury that he had received $60 a week for his services as a director, Gershowitz declared, when in reality he had never received a penny.

INDICT JAS. PRIGNANO FOR PRIMARY BALLOT FRAUD IN 20TH WARD



James Prignano.

James Prignano, 722 Bunker street, brother of the slain State Representative Al Prignano, and William Cavico, 783 De Koven street, were reported named by the grand jury yesterday in true bills charging them with ballot alteration in the primaries of last April. The alleged frauds occurred in the 31st precinct of the 20th ward, of which Prignano is the Democratic captain. Five election officials of the precinct have been sentenced by County Judge Jarecki to a year in jail each for their part in the irregularities.

BANDIT FLEES; SHOT TO DEATH.

The body of a colored man shot to death by Rufus Roach a colored watchman, as he fled after attempting to rob two men in a liquor store at 311 East 51st street early yesterday, was identified later as that of Frederick Siggers, 28 years old, 3133 Indiana avenue.

Wife of H. E. Liebenstein, Broker, Gets a Divorce

Judge Philip J. Finegan in Circuit court granted a divorce yesterday to Mrs. Marie J. Liebenstein, 48 Sunset road, Highland Park, from Harold E. Liebenstein, La Salle street broker. Mrs. Liebenstein charged cruelty. The couple were married in 1915 and separated last Sept. 20. Custody of a son, Harold Jr., 11 years old, was awarded to the mother. A daughter, Miss Mary Louise Liebenstein, is 21 years old.

COURT MEASURE ON RETIREMENT WINS IN HOUSE

Second Bill Is Delayed by Roosevelt Note.

Oldest justice is Brandeis, who has voted with the New Deal every time except on the NRA, which was unanimously invalidated. Although he is 80, Brandeis is not one of the justices the President is gunning for. Brandeis would be welcome to stay on the court, for, while the votes of anti-New Deal justices would be offset by the votes of the new members appointed to the court, the vote of Brandeis for the New Deal would be doubled by the appointment of a new member because of his failure to retire.

Under the scheme worked out by Mr. Roosevelt he would appoint 6 new members of the court if the 6 over 70 failed to retire. The court would then consist of 15 members with a majority of 8. For minimum New Deal strength the President would rely upon Brandeis and Cardozo plus the 6 new members, a majority of 8.

President Summons Democrats.

Such is the opposition in the President's own party to the plan to pack the court that it is a question today whether a majority can be mustered for it in the judiciary committee of either house. Confronted with this crisis the President began calling in Democratic members of these committees. Those he summonded today were Senators Pat McCarran of Nevada, Carl A. Hatch of New Mexico, M. M. Logan of Kentucky, Matthew M. Neely of West Virginia, and George McGill of Kansas. With them went James H. Hughes of Delaware, another noncommital Democratic senator whom the President seeks to win to his support.

Senator Logan was received individually by the President to discuss not only the judiciary bill but the flood situation. The others were received in a group. When they emerged from the executive office Senator McCarran acted as spokesman.

"We had a general discussion of the subject uppermost in the public's mind," the senator began.

"A very interesting and pleasant discussion," Senator Hatch interjected.

"Friendly Discussion."

"Nobody was asked how he stood or felt on the plan," Senator McCarran continued. "No intimation was given of a desire for speed or anything of that kind. It was just a friendly discussion — very open and frank. No one was asked to approve the plan or their opinion about it."

Here the senator ingenuously revealed that one of the group had "expressed wholehearted approval of the bill." Pressed on this statement, he refused to give the identity of the supporter. His colleagues also stood mute. Senator McCarran hinted that he was not the one.

"I think it is a matter for careful study," he said. "Some phases of the program appeal to one right off the bat and other phases require careful study. It is a matter of such importance that no one should arrive at a speedy conclusion."

Fireworks Touched Off.

The oratorical fireworks were touched off in the house by Representative A. P. Lamneck [D., O.], who told his Democratic colleagues that they must choose, in voting upon the President's "pack the court" suggestions, between our form of government and communism or Fascism.

"If we permit a destruction of the Supreme court along the lines recently suggested," he declared, "we may have a Hitler, Mussolini, or Stalin government and perhaps something worse.

"Let us remove all the camouflage, sweep away the cobwebs, put the cards on the table face up, and consider all the ramifications of the President's proposal. In doing so let us remember that as Americans we are interested only in preserving this re-justification. institutions which made it great.

"Thus far we have permitted the executive branch to do our voting for us. That is the reason we are called 'rubber stamps' and that is the reason the people of this country have lost their respect for the legislative branch, and I say it is not without publican form of government and the

"I hope the time has arrived when we will meet this challenge to the usurping of our powers and duties and serve notice that we intend to insist that the executive occupy his position; that the judiciary shall occupy its position, and that the legislative branch will do the job the constitution intended it to do.

"The judicial branch has neither force nor will, but merely judgment. It is beyond comparison the weakest of the three departments of power; it can never attack with success either of the other two."

Argument Is Rdiciuled.

Lamneck ridiculed the presidential argument that congested courts necessitate an increase in the number of Supreme court judges. He pointed out that the attorney general has reported the Supreme court calendar in excellent shape.

Chairman Sumners produced a homely simile in leading off the debate on the bill providing for the retirement of Supreme court justices.

"When I was a boy," he said, "and my daddy had a horse that got too old to do the work of a regular horse he would take that horse which he had to feed anyhow and he would work him a little around the garden and put a good husky horse out in the field. That is all we are asking you to do in this bill, and if you have as much sense as an old fashioned farmer you will do it."

In answer to questions, Sumners explained that, while a retired justice might be subject to assignment in the circuits, he would not have a vote in determining questions before the Supreme court.

"Wouldn't it be more practical to shoot the horse that has grown too old to work?" inquired Representative Donald L. O'Toole [D., N. Y.].

"The gentlemen wouldn't think so if he were the horse," responded Sumners amidst guffaws.

Sumners denied there was an implication in the bill that Supreme court justices should retire at the age of 70.

Kansas Leads Opposition.

Opposition to the bill was led by Representative U. S. Guyer [R., Kas.], ranking minority member of the judiciary committee, who termed the measure "an invitation to the Supreme court to resign."

"And I don't want any of them to resign," he said. "We never had a better balanced court in our history. It has a stainless record."

"I see in the bill only an assurance to the justices, not an inducement to resign," retorted Representative Clarence E. Hancock [R., N. Y.]. "I would fight the bill if I thought the latter were the case."

Announcing that he would vote for the bill, Representative Hamilton Fish [R., N. Y.], predicted that neither the judiciary committee of the house or senate would report the President's "pack the court" act.

Flood of Protests.

Another Democrat, Emanuel Celler of New York, announced that he could not follow the leadership of President Roosevelt in his Supreme court recommendations. Congressmen are being flooded with mail opposing the Presidential suggestions, he asserted.

"The President and most of the members of the house and senate, including myself, have rightly taken umbrage at Judges Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland, and Roberts," he said. "Their actions have been unfortunate. But all on capital hill deplore the circuitous means that the President has employed to bring about a remedy he probably could get if he had asked for it directly."

Representative Francis D. Culkin [R., N. Y.] aroused cries of "No, no," from the Democratic side when he accused the judiciary committee of introducing the voluntary retirement bill "as a part of Presidential strategy to make the country believe that this house is extending a cordial invitation to judges over 70 to resign."

Terms it Build-up.

"This is a build-up for the President's bill," he declared. "It is an attempt to draw a red herring across the trail of the historic battle between the President and the Supreme court."

All amendments offered to the bill were defeated by voice votes. Representative Walter G. Andrews [R., N. Y.] proposed to make the retirement age of Supreme court justices 75 instead of 70 years, asserting that "this will remove all personal elements from the present situation."

Sumners pointed out that under the bill it would be up to the judge himself to decide whether he should retire at 70 or any year thereafter.

Another amendment offered by Representative Jed Johnson [D., Okla.] proposed to make the justice's retirement salary subject to income tax. The amendment was ruled out of order.

Representative E. E. Cox [D., Ga.] used strong language in condemning the President's recommendations.

"The recommendation constitutes the most terrible threat to constitutional government that has arisen in the entire history of the country," he asserted. "It is nationalism with a vengeance, and carried into effect would mean the end of the doctrin of state rights."

$100,000 SWINDLE VICTIM WILL PAY FOR A MANHUNT

CRIMINAL COURT.

John Tsukas, Mike Capara, and Richard DeMarlo, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; William Deese and Robert Johnson, burglary, each sentenced to life imprisonment under the habitual criminal act by Judge Rudolph F. Desort.

Elgar Sawyer, Robert Fowler, and Colonel House, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Silas Dockery, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Carl Munson, larceny, sentenced to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter H. Schwaba.

Benjamin Fishbain, 1050 North Spaulding avenue, wealthy lumber owner, is willing to spend a lot more money to prosecute the two men who swindled him out of $100,000 in a fake money making machine deal, he announced yesterday.

Fishbain offered to deposit a large enough sum to bring back from any part of the world the two men whose pictures he has identified as the swindlers. They are Micha Pach, 39 years old, who posed as a Dr. Morhoff in the fraud, and Morris Weisberg, who posed as a Mr. Morgenstein. Both have long police records as confidence men.

A widespread search for the two men has been under way since the swindling of Fishbain last November, but it did not become known until the arrest on Tuesday of Max Renner, 45 years old, an alleged associate of Pach and Weisberg. Renner was seized in Brooklyn.

Fishbain made a deposit at the detective bureau to pay for extradition of Renner to Chicago. During the day he amplified his earlier story of the swindle by explaining that he did not intend to invest any money in the money making machine.

COURT REFORM PROPOSAL 'EVIL,' ASSERTS LOWELL

Harvard President Emeritus Attacks Plan.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Scoring President Roosevelt's federal court reform proposal as "an evil practice," President Emeritus A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard university tonight recalled the declaration of independence indictment of King George III. as a ruler who "made judges dependent of his will alone."

Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell.

"Are we now to return to the claim of the Stuart kings that judges should be lions, but lions under the throne?" asked the 80 year old educator.

An international authority on government and law, he broke a four year radio silence to charge in a nation-wide broadcast that the President's Supreme court message and bill were unsound.

Talks Less Than Ten Minutes.

In an address that lasted less than ten minutes he asserted that the "two principal grounds' upon which the President's massage was based would not "hold water if impartially examined."

Describing the language of the message as "general," Dr. Lowell declared, "Despite that, it conceals from none the fact that it enables the present administration to appoint six new judges of the Supreme court who will be expected to produce a majority on constitutional questions favorable to the President."

President Roosevelt's bill to permit appointment of six new Supreme court justices should those over 70 decline to retire, Dr. Lowell said, "has a double aspect."

Not Emergency Measure.

"One,' he declared, was "its relation to present political conditions, and the other its permanent effect upon the institutions of the country, for it is not a purely emergency measure to meet a temporary difficulty, but is an enduring statute altering permanently our judicial institutions. As such it must be judged.

"The two principal grounds on which the bill is based will, neither of them, hold water if impartially examined. One is that the United States courts are at present overburdened; that their work is in arrears and that to perform it properly more judges are required.

"Now as a matter of fact, save in a few places where additional judges may very well be provided, the federal courts are not in arrears. They keep well up with their work and do not need an increase in membership.

"As for the Supreme court, that long has had the habit of clearing its whole docket every year."

Dr. Lowell said the President complained in his message that the Supreme court refuses to hear a number of requests for appeal.

"That," said Dr. Lowell, "is what it ought to do, for it should not take up its time in hearing appeals already decided by an Appellate court unless prima facie grounds can be shown for thinking there may have been a possible error."

He said the other grounds given for increasing the membership of the court, that judges of the age of 70 lose some of their judicial efficiency, is an "almost obvious absurdity."

Dr. Lowell said the President's proposal "diminishes the independence of the judiciary, for any such tampering with the court weakens the sense of responsibility and independence of the judges, who should administer justice and not favors."

He declared the high tribual, during the last ten years, "had justified the confidence placed in it.'

"Quoting a reference to George III. in the Declaration of Independence which read, "He has made judges dependent on his will alone . . ." he commented, at the conclusion of his address: "We now too return to the claim of the Stuart kings that judges should be lions, but lions under the throne."

Youngest U. S. Judge

ALFRED P. MURRAH.

[Acme Photo.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Alfred P. Murrah, age 33, of Oklahoma, is in the capital following his appointment by President Roosevelt to the federal bench. He will be the youngest judge on the bench and one of the youngest in history, his appointment being the first by the President since he proposed court reorganization. Murrah received the indorsement of both Oklahoma senators, Josh Lee and Elmer Thomas.

BAR HERE ORDERS POLL ON SCHEME TO REVISE COURT

Wisconsin Lawyers Also Seek Opinions on Plan.

Every member of the Chicago Bar association is to be polled in the next week for his opinion on President Roosevelt's proposal to tamper with the United States Supreme court. This was announced last night by Charles M. Thomson, president of the association.

The poll was unanimously approved, Mr. Thomson said, at a special meeting of the association's board of governors, held yesterday in its Burnham building headquarters.

Wisconsin Bar Acts.

At the same time members of the county bar associations of Wisconsin started a movement against hasty and ill considered reorganization of the court. This movement is not specifically directed against the President's proposal, according to Raymond Graves of Wisconsin Rapids, president of the Wisconsin State Bar association, but will be a campaign of education setting forth the functions of the court and the serious consequences that might result from any change in it. The county bar associations will hold meetings to sound out opinion.

The Chicago poll last night received the hearty indorsement of Frederick H. Stinchfield of Minneapolis, president of the American Bar association, a vigorous opponent of the New Deal scheme.

Mr. Stinchfield said every American lawyer ought to be asked to express his opinion on the proposal, and said that he would propose a nation-wide poll at next week's meeting of the board of governors of the national organization.

Foresees Result of Poll.

In announcing plans for the Chicago poll Mr. Thomson said: "We are confining our question to the President's proposal to increase the number of Supreme court justices and to set an age limit for them. And there is not the slightest doubt in my mind as to the result."

The inquiry here will be in the form of a letter, he said, and will be in the mails by tonight. Members of the bar association will be asked to have their answers back by noon of Feb. 18.

"We are allowing a little more time than usual for this poll," Mr. Thomson said, "because we feel the issue is of such paramount importance that we want all members to have an opporunity to voice their opinions."

POPE PIUS PLANS ACTIVE PART IN LENTEN SEASON

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI. planned tonight to take such part in the observance of Lent, which began today, as his health would permit.

Prelates were told by the pope that he wished his illness not to interfere with the customary observance of the holy season. He said he would assume as much as possible of his usual part.

Cardinal Carlo Salotti, visiting the pontiff for the first time since he was seriously stricken Dec. 5, said he found the pope somewhat emaciated as a result of his suffering, but in excellent spirits and optimistic.

QUICK! STOP THAT COLD
IN THE DRY OR FIRST STAGE!

A cold ordinarily goes through three stages:

The Dry Stage, the first 24 hours; the Watery Secretion Stage, from 1 to 3 days; and the Mucous Secretion Stage.

A cold is twice as easily stopped in the first as in the second or third stages. In fact, to let a cold run beyond the first stage is inviting trouble.

Expressly for Colds!

As your doctor will tell you, there is nothing better you can take for a cold than Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

It is expressly a cold tablet and not a "cure-all". It is internal treatment which a cold requires. It does four important things.

First, it opens the bowels. Second, it checks the infection in the system. Third, it relieves the headache and fever. Fourth, it tones the system and helps fortify against further attack.

That's the fourfold treatment you want and in Bromo Quinine you get it in the form of a single tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. The sugar-coated are exactly the same as the regular, except that the tablets are coated with sugar for palatability.

Don't Delay!

When a cold threatens, don't compromise, don't delay. Go right to your druggist for a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Start taking the tablets immediately, two every four hours. Used promptly, Bromo Quinine will usually break up a cold in 24 hours.

Ask your druggist firmly for Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine tablets and don't be talked into accepting a substitute.

The few pennies' cost may save you much worry and much expense.

In Other Words, a Cross of His Own Choice.

If the ropes Quin O'Brien says he had to gnaw after his wedding on Feb. 3 were thicker than he thinks they should have been, he may always reflect on this:

He had an opportunity to be married quietly but firmly in Waukegan on Jan. 18, unless the justice of the peace, who says he agreed to perform the ceremony, has a habit as strange as gnawing at ropes—talking through his hat. The justice, who insisted upon remaining anonymous, said last night that he got a message on Jan. 17 from some one in Chicago who was talking for Miss Marguerite Eustice, who is Mr. O'Brien's bride of a week.

Not Tonight? Tomorrow Then.

The friend wanted to know if Miss Eustice could get married that very night. But it was Sunday and the Lake county license bureau wasn't open. The friend then said Miss Eustice would be up the next day to make arrangements for a wedding very late that night or very early the next morning. The conversation went like this, according to the squire:

FRIEND—The bride says the squire must be firm if the bridegroom is hesitant.

SQUIRE—Um. Ah.

FRIEND—Can you be firm?

SQUIRE—Ah. Um. Is the bridegroom a lawyer?

FRIEND—No.

SQUIRE—Is he a man of prominence?

FRIEND—Well, that is, no. Not at all.

Squire Gets an Answer.

SQUIRE—Well, then, why will he be shy?

FRIEND—He's under his son's thumb. He has just bought a new car, but his son won't let him drive it. Understand?

The squire waited until 5 o'clock in the afternoon on the appointed day, but the bride did not come for the license. Knowing there couldn't be any wedding without it, the squire went home and forgot the matter until he read Mr. O'Brien's story that he had eventually been forced to accompany Miss Eustice to Morrison, Ill., and marry her.

Mrs. O'Brien couldn't be reached last night to verify the story. But earlier in the day she had disclosed herself as the composer of a theme song for a candidate who was running for governor.

It'll Be Rock-a-bye Now.

The blonde bride of 29 explained, however, that she expects to devote her musical talents to lullabies in the future, as she is already sewing baby clothes. She said that her lullabies would be further explained in the answer she expects to file today to Mr. O'Brien's suit for annulment of the marriage.

In her apartment at 3202 Sheridan road, Mrs. O'Brien said she is looking forward to St. Valentine's day, as last year it brought a reconciliation between her and the silver haired assistant corporation counsel of 66 who is now her husband. That was the time, she said, he sent a Valentine to her dog, Snuggles, with the message:

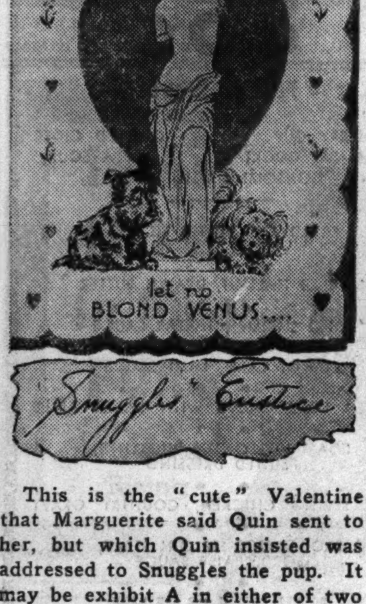
"Don't never let no one come between us."

Quin O'Brien's Mrs. Misses Quin

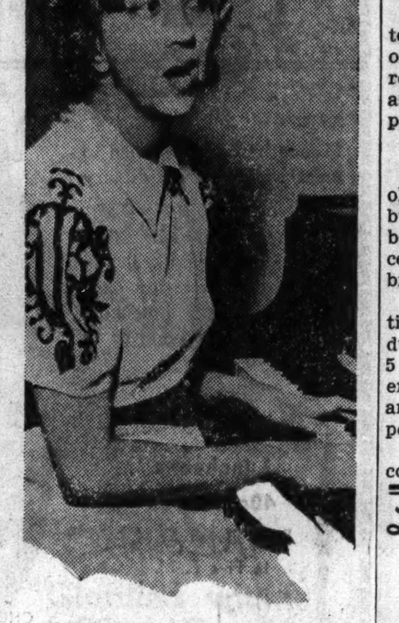
Mrs. Marguerite Eustice O'Brien, 29 year old loving bride of the unloving bridegroom, Quin O'Brien, 66 year old assistant corporation counsel, rose from her sickbed yesterday to pose and tell what she had sacrificed for love and marriage. Snuggles, her dog (he loves Quin and Quin loves him), has a place in the picture, too, for he's important in this drama of what Quin charges was a "kidnap marriage."

Marguerite selected a book of plays for this camera study. She said it was appropriate because Quin used to read them to her. She's particularly interested in drama because, she admitted, if she hadn't married Quin she might have gone on the stage. She appeared without a care as she celebrated the end of her first week of marriage, which the bridegroom scorns as one of those messy shotgun (or some kind of gun) affairs.

The bride still loves Quin, however, and she is ready to welcome him again. She dislikes the publicity, however, but she posed willingly for the photographers. Pouring tea is one of the things she does well.



This is the "cute" Valentine that Marguerite said Quin sent to her, but which Quin insisted was addressed to Snuggles the pup. It may be exhibit A in either of two court cases. Quin's suing for annulment and she's ready to sue for separate maintenance.



Going back to her career, Mrs. Quin admitted that she might have written musical scores for the stage, too, but now, expecting for August, she's satisfied to settle for lullabies.

Quin (at left) is among the missing but his son Brendon (right) is blamed by Mrs. O'Brien for causing her present trouble.

DOCTOR REFUSES TO AID IN CHASER QUIZ; ARRESTED

Dr. Andrew B. Rotche, 40 years old, 6246 West North avenue, was arrested on a charge of conspiracy to obtain money under false pretenses as he left the grand jury room in the Criminal court building yesterday. Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown said that Dr. Rotche had refused to testify before the grand jurors in an ambulance chasing investigation. The physician was held for arraignment in the Felony court later.

The doctor's testimony was sought after Michael Walsh, one of several fake claimants for damages in a street car accident at 18th and Clark streets on Nov. 21, declared that Attorney Drake Berg, who is under indictment in the case, had sent him to the physician.

It was learned yesterday that the state's attorney's office has renewed its investigation into ambulance chasing and false accident claims. It is reported that the investigators are delving into new activities of the ambulance ring.

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Statistics on the nation's motor vehicle trafic deaths, made public today by the national safety council, show New York City and Milwaukee were tied for first place in 1936 with a rate of 11.7 deaths per 100,000 population.

HOLD SUSPECT AS 'TIM' IN BOY KIDNAP SLAYING

Hunt Red Headed Woman in Mattson Case.

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Sudden activity on the part of federal agents following questioning of a new suspect in the Charles Mattson kidnap-slaying tonight indicated that the investigation may be pointing toward a solution of the baffling crime.

The prisoner, a former convict, was said to fit strikingly the description of the bearded kidnaper and to have registered at a Seattle hotel as "Tim Donovan," the same first name used in the crudely printed note which demanded $28,000 ransom for the life of the 10 year old victim.

At the same time it was disclosed that police are conducting an intense search for "a red haired woman," the reputed companion of the suspect. State Patrol Chief William Cole and a squad of officers sped to American lake, near Tacoma, home city of the Mattson boy, in an effort to apprehend the woman.

Hopes to Question Her.

The officers were silent as to the identity of the girl with the flaming tresses, but Chief Cole explained he hoped by questioning her to learn more about the ex-convict's activities, which now appear decidedly suspicious.

The prisoner, who was arrested yesterday, was booked as H. A. Post, 32, seaman, but also was known under the alias of James G. McDonald. He had been sought since Feb. 5 on a general order to pick him up.

Federal agents joined police in questioning Post and then started an exhaustive perusal of police bulletins. They declined comment.

Chief Cole, who participated in the ten hour grilling to which the prisoner was subjected, declared his arrest "looks hot to me." He said Post answered the kidnaper's description perfectly.

Description of Suspect.

The officer described the 32 year old suspect as 5 feet 10½ inches tall, but appearing several inches shorter because of his posture; of swarthy complexion, with high cheek bones, a broken nose, and dark brown hair.

The federal bureau of investigation's description of the Mattson abductor says he is about 30 years old, 5 feet 7 or 8 inches tall, did not stand erect, 145 to 165 pounds, swarthy, and appears to be of southern European extraction.

Chief Cole said Post was in Tacoma last Dec. 27, the day of the kidnaping, and had been at Bothell, between Seattle and Everett, several days later. The Mattson boy's nude and battered body was found near Everett on Jan. 11.

Report Contradictory Stories.

According to police, Post asserted he was in three different places when the abduction occurred, and told other contradictory stories of his activities.

The suspect admitted a minor robbery here on Dec. 20, after which, he said, he left Seattle for Tacoma and Portland, Ore. Since he served a five year term in San Quentin prison in California for grand theft Post has been arrested several times on minor charges.

A Seattle police official said the three youngsters who saw the kidnaper — Charles Mattson's brother and sister, William, 16, and Muriel, 14, and the latter's girl friend, Virginia Chatfield, 15 — would confront the prisoner in a police lineup. However, the families of the children said they knew of no such plans.

The 10 year old victim of the only major kidnaping in 1936 was playing with his Christmas toys in the home of his father, Dr. W. W. Mattson, prominent Tacoma physician, when a dark, unshaven man broke into the house and snatched him up. The boy's parents were away at the time.

In the succeeding days the Mattson family made numerous unsuccessful efforts to pay the $28,000 ransom demanded in a note the kidnaper left, but he scorned their offers.

CHICAGO FIRM SUES U. S. FOR A $400,000 CONTRACTING CLAIM

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Great Lakes Construction Company of Chicago sued the government today for $400,172 for "extra" work performed during construction of the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa.

Attorneys for the company charged government architects with "indecision" and with making "hundreds of changes" in original plans and specifications.

The plans for the penitentiary were so poorly prepared, they said, that "if certain buildings had been constructed according to their plans the foundations would be up in the air."

STRIKE SETTLED; SIGN AGREEMENT IN DETROIT TODAY

Peace Terms Are Not Made Known.

mise settlement that General Motors agree to recognize the union as the exclusive bargaining agency in twenty plants for six months.

This proposal, it was understood, was acceptable to the union, but was refused by General Motors. It could not be learned whether the company modified its stand in the final settlement.

Orders Troops Demobilized.

After announcing the agreement Gov. Murphy gave orders to demobilize the 3,300 National Guardsmen on duty in Flint as soon as the plants have been evacuated. Since the start of the strike disorders have occurred twice.

Lewis locked himself in his room at the Statler hotel after the final conference and refused to submit to questioning. He was stricken with a mild attack of influenza yesterday, and as a result the scene of the conference was transferred to his hotel from the chambers of the governor's brother, Judge George Murphy, where earlier sessions had been held.

It was announced the peace agreement would be signed in Judge Murphy's courtroom.

HISTORY OF AUTO TIEUP

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 11 [Thursday]. —(AP)— The automobile industry's "contest of the century" was a struggle of more than 40 days marked by more apprehension than violence, more threats than action, and a marathon of conferences.

In the lists as opposing gladiators were the automotive giant, the billion dollar General Motors corporation, and the United Automobile Workers of America, lusty infant of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Unique in that it was the first great strike in the industry as well as the first widespread and correlated use of the "sitdown" maneuver in this country, the dispute involved through a single corporation nearly half of the nation's automobile production.

The cost was far up in the millions. Nearly 135,000 employés of General Motors and subsidiaries missed pay checks. The daily loss in wages was estimated at $1,000,000.

Paralyzes 40 Plants.

Effects of the strike paralyzed at times 40 plants in 35 cities and 14 states from New Jersey to California. Flint, Mich., with 38,600 of its 165,000 residents thrown into idleness, became the strike capital. The daily loss in wages there was estimated at $300,000 and the city's economic life was seriously impaired.

The issues were obscured at times by flurries of statements from both sides.

Briefly, they were: The demand of the United Automobile Workers of America for recognition as the sole bargaining agency for General Motors employés; abolition of piece work in favor of straight hourly rates; a 30-hour week and 6-hour day, with time and a half for overtime and a "minimum rate of pay commensurate with an American standard of living;" seniority rights based on length of service; reinstatement of all employés who had been "unjustly discharged;" mutual agreement on "speed of production."

One issue appeared transcendant—the union's demand for recognition as the sole bargaining agency.

There stood as an obstacle in the path to negotiations, General Motors' rigid demand that plants be exacuated before it would arbitrate, while the union was steadfast in its insistence on recognition.

Wreck Lansing Truce.

Those were the rocks that wrecked the "Lansing Truce," an agreement to negotiate reached after a 17-hour conference with Gov. Frank Murphy at his state capital office.

Union officials charged the corporation with "breach of faith" because between the truce and the start of negotiations it agreed to confer with the Flint alliance, strike opposed organization. The union halted evacuation, and General Motors then declined to negotiate.

From Lansing the belligerents moved to the nation's capital, called by Secretary of Labor Perkins, but three days of bi-lateral talks failed to bring the principals together.

From Washington the conferees moved to Detroit, again summoned by Gov. Murphy, but this time "at the wish of the President of the United States."

President Roosevelt remained in the background, but he was in close touch with the situation. Gov. Murphy said, on one occasion, "the President's influence has been very helpful."

Violence was near a minimum. Only two serious outbursts occurred, both at Flint. In the first one 27 persons were hurt. A dozen persons were injured in the second flareup.

Union Organized in 1935.

The story of the strike goes back to August, 1935, when the United Automobile Workers' union was organized at an American Federation of Labor convention in Detroit. More than a year before President Roosevelt had averted serious trouble in the industry by direct intervention and out of that came the short-lived national automobile labor board.

Orangization of the U. A. W. A. as an autonomous group in April, 1936, set the stage for the costly struggle. The 1936 convention in South Bend, Ind., ousted Francis Dillon from the presidency and elected Homer Martin, a former [Baptist] preacher from Kansas City.

Martin at the same time announced a membership drive which he said had the support of the Committee for Industrial Organization, headed by John L. Lewis, who had split with the American Federation of Labor.

First "Sitdown" in Georgia.

The United Automobile Workers' first "sitdown strike" came a few months later at Atlanta, Ga.—far from the "motor capital of America." It began Nov. 18 in a Fisher body plant over a company rule forbidding the wearing of union insignia. A Chevrolet assembly line there also was closed.

From then on the strikes spread and idleness grew in the farflung plants controled by the world's largest producer of motor cars. Each side issued statements, but there was no common meeting of opponents until Jan. 14.

At the invitation of Gov. Murphy to meet "without condition or prejudice," Martin and Knudsen and their associates assembled at Lansing for a prolonged session. Just before dawn Jan. 15 the governor announced the "Lansing agreement."

The agreement provided a fifteen day period for negotiations beginning Jan. 18, the plants to be evacuated before the meeting hour. General Motors agreed not to remove equipment or attempt to operate. All but two plants had been evacuated when the union ordered its men to hold to their positions and charged the corporation with "breach of faith."

Lost Girl Found

Mrs. Betty Young and Emily Romero.

Emily Romero, 7 years old, who disappeared on Tuesday night while on her way to her home at 833 Sunnyside avenue, was found last evening, safe and sound, in the home of Mrs. Betty Lou Young, 16 years old, 4870 Winthrop avenue.

Mrs. Young told Town Hall police she found the child wandering disconsolately along the street and took her home to give her food and shelter During the day, she said, she took Emily to the home of the girl's grandmother, Mrs. Anna Brandon, 4742 Winthrop avenue, but found Mrs. Brandon was not at home. Later the grandmother saw Mrs. Young at Lawrence and Winthrop avenues wearing a cap and scarf which she recognized as belonging to the missing child. Mrs. Young took Mrs. Brandon to her flat, where she had left Emily while she went to a store.

Mrs. Young, a bride of six months, said she was the daughter of Carl H. Reese, a race track gambler who was slain near Ivanhoe, in Lake county, in 1932. His companion, Louis L. Howell, told police four gunmen in an automobile had committed the crime.

FLINT SEETHES; NEW CHEVROLET BATTLE AVERTED

City Keeps On Preparing for Warfare.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Flint, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A battle at Chevrolet plant No. 4 within the military zone was narrowly averted here today. A phalanx of 300 General Motors guards massed inside the National Guard lines to storm the plant, held by sit-down strikers since Feb. 2, but last minute orders from Detroit halted the clash.

The near crisis today was the result of growing feeling between the strikers and the Flint General Motors management. Several times in the last week the union has charged that heat has been turned off and that the company is attempting to "freeze" out the 250 to 300 men lodged there.

Yesterday afternoon General Motors turned off the electricity after learning that the strikers were improvising heat equipment from mercury vapor lamps and electric welding apparatus.

Strikers Open Windows.

This morning the strikers retaliated by opening windows and letting in the intense cold. About noon the call went out for the Chevrolet police. Union headquarters learned of the proposed raid on the plant and sent Roy Reuther, U. A. W. A. organizer, and Bob Travis, a union official, out to the plant.

Meanwhile Arnold Lenz, manager of General Motors Flint, Saginaw, and Bay City operations, had informed the guard commander.

General Motors Detroit offices were told of the attack plan and Lenz was ordered to halt the raid. Meanwhile Travis and Reuther persuaded the strikers to close the windows again.

The next visible move was the closing of the valve on the automatic fire sprinkler system. A mechanic busy in the street manhole said he was turning off drinking water in the plant also.

Bring in Bottled Water.

Soon afterward a truck bearing thirty gallons of spring water in bottles backed up to the plant and the strikers carried it inside. The next incident observed by newspapermen was the dispersal of the company guards.

Lenz said that drinking water was still obtainable in the plant and that only the sprinkler system was cut off. Union headquarters said the men inside are unable to obtain drinking water, and this was the reason for supplying it in bottles.

Chinese Celebrate

Sally Young, 6, in front of dragon used in celebration.

This is the Chinese New Year—in America. But in China, the calendar system that makes this the first day of the year 2,487 has been banned. Chicago's Chinese celebrated at midnight by shooting firecrackers, and saw nothing strange in the fact that New Year's came last year on Jan. 24. New Year's, they explained, must come with the new moon, and the date is therefore variable.

A. F. OF L. STARTS NEW UNIONS IN REBELS' FIELDS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)— The American Federation of Labor executive council today chartered two international unions to operate in territory claimed by the United Textile workers, a John L. Lewis ally.

The council also chartered a new central labor union at Butte, Mont., as a rival of the Silver Bow central body dominated by the Mine, Mill, and Smelter workers, another Lewis union.

The two textile unions chartered today were the Amalgamated Lace Operators and the International Union of Spinners.

TUB KILLER'S OWN VERSION OF CRIME TOLD BY WITNESS

Account of Slow Torture Related at N. Y. Trial.

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—A story of unbridled brutality—a description of the slow, torture killing of a pretty Queens housewife who begged in vain for mercy—was told today at the murder trial of Major Green, colored building porter.

A member of Green's own race, Policeman John E. Roberts, quoted the prisoner as telling how he returned twice to rain more hammer blows on his victim when he saw she was reviving from the fury of his first attack.

Green is charged with killing Mrs. Mary Robinson Case, 25 years old, in her bridal apartment at Jackson Heights last month and leaving her body in the bathtub for her husband to find.

The state completed its case late in the day and defense counsel set out to try to show it was not a premeditated killing.

Gets Prisoner's Version.

As policeman Roberts told it, Green was provoked to murderous frenzy by a dispute over whether he should use vinegar in the water for washing the windows of the Case apartment.

Roberts said he was disguised as a vagrant and placed in a cell with Green last week. On the theory that one confidence begets another, he said he concocted a story of having killed his wife.

Green responded by boasting that his name was "in the newspapers all over the world," Roberts said, because he had "killed a white woman."

Quoting the defendant, who displayed no emotion except to roll his eyes toward the witness now and then, the policeman told how Green went to the Case apartment on Jan. 11 to wash the windows.

Many Blows Related.

"Green said he had a large hammer under his coat," Roberts continued. "I hit her after the argument," Green says, 'and she said, "Please don't hit me again." There was a little struggle. Then she fell on her hands with her head touching the floor and rolled over on her side. Then she fell flat on her back with her arms upstretched.'

"Then Green told me, 'I drug her by the shoulders from where she fell to the bathroom and I struck her several times with the hammer.

"'I thought she was dead. I went out into the apartment to look around and I came back to the bathroom. She was standing up and I struck her over the head and threw her into the bathtub. I started out and looked back. She was sitting up and I struck her again and again."

17 MORE NEW YORK BUILDINGS TIED UP BY ELEVATOR STRIKE

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Apartment dwellers in 17 buildings in uptown Manhattan and Harlem walked as many as 15 flights today as elevator men, sounding a strike call by banging on the heating pipes, called out more than 125 operators, firemen, engineers, and doormen.

Twenty-three more buildings will be pulled "immediately," strike captains said after a meeting at headquarters of the Building Service Employés' union.

3 DIE, 200 JAILED AS VENEZUELA STUDENTS RIOT

CARACAS, Venezuela, Feb. 10.—(AP) —Police arrested between 200 and 300 students today to break up rioting between two factions at Caracas university in which a policeman and two students were killed.

The arrested students were loaded in trucks and taken to police barracks. One woman was among those injured.

Several persons were wounded by bullets and knives in the fighting between rightist and leftist students within the grounds of the university.

RECOVER FOURTH BODY FROM BAY IN PLANE CRASH

Fear 7 Passengers May Be Washed Out to Sea.

San Francisco, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Coast guardsmen using grappling hooks tonight recovered the broken body of one of the passengers killed last night when a United Air-line transport plunged into the waters of San Francisco bay, snuffing out eleven lives.

The bodies of the three crew members were taken from the wreckage earlier today. Seven passengers still were missing when the search was discontinued for the night.

The body found tonight was that of Mark Fontana, millionaire San Francisco food manufacturer. It lacked a coat and trousers. The shirt was unbuttoned and the shoes undone. A preliminary examination indicated death by drowning, which led to the belief he may have struggled to swim out of the crushed and submerged cabin.

In the plane when it was lifted from the water were the bodies of Pilot A. R. [Tommy] Thompson, Co-Pilot Joe De Cesaro and Stewardess Ruth Kimmel.

Impact of Terrific Force.

The 12 ton ship was brought to the surface about three miles off Mills field, municipal airport south of the city.

The top of the airliner's cabin had been sheared away and the passengers apparently strewn out in the water when the craft struck.

Twisted metal showed the plane struck with terrific force, likely on its nose and right wing. That wing was sheared off about three feet from the fuselage and the roof of the fuselage was torn out, supposedly when the passengers were hurled against it as the ship struck the water and flopped over.

Bodies Thrown Out.

It was believed the bodies of the eight passengers were shot out through the gaping roof and into the bay.

Searchers expressed their fear that some of the bodies might be caught in the mud of the bay bottom or might have been carried out to deep water by tides and currents.

Coroner William Crosby of San Mateo county pointed out that bodies sometimes never are recovered when the tide is running strong at the time they disappear.

"The tide is very strong at the edge of the channel," he said. "The bodies might be carried to the marshes at San Carlos or Redwood City, or possibly along the San Francisco or Alameda waterfronts."

Miss Kimmel's Body Unmarked.

The coroner said Miss Kimmel, whose body appeared unscratched as contrasted to those of the pilots, apparently met death by drowning. He ordered an examination to determine if her neck might have been broken or internal injuries received.

Passengers' safety belts dangled from the broken wreckage as the plane was lifted out of the water. It was not determined whether they had been left unfastened by the passengers or had been torn loose in the crash.

Air officials admittedly were at a loss for an explanation of the spectacular crash which occurred within sight of the transport's destination.

It was suggested that apparently the plane plunged into the water while banking for a return to the airport and that down drafts of air sweeping into this area from the mountains might have affected it.

Hint Pilot at Fault.

Belief that the pilot had throttled down his motor too soon, accidentally stalling the plane during the bank, was expressed by several investigators, among them C. C. Paden, lieutenant commander in the Coast Guard forces.

Airport officials said visibility was good and no other plane was in the air near by to interfere with landing.

Flying in from the south, the ship was instructed by Dispatcher Theodore Martin to use the north-south runway for landing. But a moment later the pilot asked if he could use the east-west runway, Martin said.

The dispatcher said he then heard a dull rumbling on the radio and the ship streaked across the field and out over the bay.

Amazed watchers followed its flying lights until it suddenly plunged into the water with a crash audible miles away.

Boats and planes rushed to the area, but they searched for five hours before the wreckage was found.

List of Passengers.

His daughter, Gertrude, 24, socially prominent bride-to-be, her marriage being planned as a high spot in the spring social season.

H. B. Friedlander, president of a Los Angeles casing company.

J. F. Gilmore, Los Angeles, vice president of an oil burner company, former executive of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce, and a brother of "Billy" Gilmore, widely known Pacific coast polo player.

M. Lorge, Los Angeles, an automobile salesman.

R. Margaroni, San Bruno, Cal., a café owner.

Chicago Couple Give Son's Body to Widow in West

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Dr. and Mrs. D. A. Hare of Chicago agreed today in Superior Judge W. Turney Fox's court to turn the body of their son, Arthur G. Hare, over to his widow, Mrs. Mary Hare, for burial. Mrs. Hare had obtained a court order preventing cremation until after an investigation as he was found dead on the street. Police investigation indicated his death was due to a fall.

U. S. AIR BUREAU SUBMITS 11 POINT SAFETY PROGRAM

Dodges Fixing Blame for Plane Disasters.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The bureau of air commerce today recommended eleven new safety measures to be taken by air lines in an effort to prevent future air crashes. The recommendations were based on findings made by the conference on air safety last week which was attended by pilots, air line representatives, and members of the bureau.

The recommendations, like the conference, carefully avoided any suggestion of government responsibility for air crashes. The conference was confined to safety measures by pilots and air lines, although as recently as last Jan. 13 Senator Royal S. Copeland [D., N. Y.], chairman of the senate commerce committee, placed the blame for the five major air crashes in late December and early January squarely on the shoulders of the commerce department.

Report Buries Criticisms.

The senator's criticisms were buried in the recommendations of the air commerce bureau.

Throughout the three day meeting on air safety no voice was raised against the air bureau. Pilots and air lines heads privately said they had no wish to endanger their licenses or air mail contracts by pointing an accusing finger at the government.

The bureau's recommendations follow:

1. Adoption of such auxiliary navigation aids as the radio compass and radio direction finder by all planes to supplement the present radio beam.
2. Installation of directional and homing devices which would enable any pilot to find his position from any federal radio station.
3. More exacting training of pilots.
4. Installation of the air log, which records almost every movement of a plane in the air, on all airliners.
5. Installation of anti-static, shielded radio antenna on all planes.
6. Federal approval of air line radio equipment and similar required approval on other important parts.
7. Installation of simultaneous beam systems on all federal airways which will enable flyers to receive weather reports and beam signals at the same time.
8. More detailed and accurate federal maps.
9. More blind flying training for pilots.
10. Expedition of air port approaching lighting by the government.
11. Creation of an expanded research and air development department in the bureau.

IOWAN OFFERS FINES TO HEAL BROKEN HEARTS

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Outlawing of breach of promise suits was proposed in a measure laid before the house here today.

Representative Charles L. Beckler [D., Waterloo] is the author of the bill to banish "heart balm" court actions.

"You can never convince me that money heals a broken heart," Beckler told the house. "The majority of such cases are filed for revenge, in the 'I'll fix him' spirit."

Beckler's bill would go further than merely barring breach of promise suits. It would impose a fine of from $100 to $1,000 for merely threatening to do so. The measure also outlaws suits for damages alleged to result from alienation of affections and for seduction, when the complainant is 21 years of age or more.

BRITAIN CENSORS AN ALLUSION TO FITNESS OF KING

Magazine Suppressed for Taking Dig at Baldwin.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The British weekly magazine News Review appeared today with a front page cover showing King George VI. of England in a top hat, and smiling, over the caption: "Supposing he said the prime minister was mentally deficient?"

After a few copies had been sold the magazine was withdrawn and news dealers were told that no more copies would be issued or would be obtainable. Later it was announced that the News Review would appear again tomorrow, but with a new cover and new lines substituted to go beneath King George's picture.

Recall Debate on Regency Bill.

The censorship follows last week's tempestuous debate in the house of commons on the regency bill, which provides for a regent to take over the royal duties upon the establishment of the sovereign's incapacity "on the evidence of physicians or otherwise."

W. Gallacher, a communist, raised the question, in referring to the "or otherwise" phrase, that if the evidence of the prime minister [Stanley Baldwin] about the supposed mental capacity of the sovereign was to be admitted, it might in all fairness be necessary to have regard also to the sovereign's opinion of the mental status of the prime minister.

The News Review's reference to this in its lines beneath the king's picture presumably aroused the wrath of the powerful Newspaper Proprietors' Association, Ltd., and again brought about a case of what is known here as self-imposed censorship.

Pension for Ex-King Opposed.

Edward, duke of Windsor, probably will not receive an allowance from state funds. The parliamentary Labor party at a meeting decided to oppose any proposal for giving a state pension to the abdicated king. The government already has indicated that an allowance for Edward would be included in the "civil list," which fixes the salaries of the king and other members of the royal family, only if the suggestion received support from all parties in the house of commons.

The Labor party caucus also agreed to instruct its representatives on the house of commons committee to advocate the surrender to the state of revenues from the duchies of Cornwall and Lancaster in return for a fixed yearly payment to the crown from parliament.

May Get an Allowance.

The indications therefore are that Edward will receive an allowance from his brother, King George, by a private arrangement with members of the royal family.

Commenting editorially on this suggestion, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard excoriated the attempt to refuse Edward a state allowance, describing it as a "shabby, hypocritical course which would arouse resentment at home and contempt abroad."

The duke of Windsor is reported to be discussing with his sister, the princess royal, countess of Harewood, at Enzesfeld castle, Austria, the disposal of his life interest in the Sandringham estate and Balmoral castle.

TRY THIS WAY TO QUICKLY RELIEVE ECZEMA ITCHING

If your skin is broken out with "fiery" or "weeping" eczema, you want to relieve the intolerable itching and burning as quickly as possible. Resinol Ointment does this and also combats the irritation caused by eczema—its oily base being ideal for penetrating the outer layers of the skin and securing deeper action.

Wash the affected parts with warm water and Resinol Soap. It is especially suited to tender skin—soaps containing too much alkali may irritate. After washing off scales and crusts, pat dry with a soft cloth. Do not rub.

Apply a thin layer of Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for several hours. Apply again liberally at bedtime leaving on all night. The longer Resinol is in contact with the skin, the more good it does.

Buy Resinol Soap and Ointment in any drug store. Sample free. Write Resinol, Dept. 16, Balto., Md.

BEGS WAY INTO JAIL TO FORGET LOVE FOR WIFE

Because he thinks he'll have a better chance to forget the woman he loves if he's locked up, Frank Rizzo of 1511 Belmont avenue begged Judge N. J. Bonelli of the Town Hall court yesterday to send him to jail for six months.

The woman Mr. Rizzo loves is his wife, Louise, 26 years old, who lives alone and likes it at 3031 Greenview avenue. That is, she has been living alone, her husband says, since she left him because he struck her after one too many cocktails. She finally had him arrested because he couldn't remember she didn't want him around any better than he could forget her.

Judge Bonelli refused to send Mr. Rizzo, who's 32 years old, to jail for six months. Instead, the judge sentenced him to a week, but promised to make it six months after that if Mr. Rizzo insists.

ALL KING'S MEN PUT CORONATION TOGETHER AGAIN

George Must Decide Who Will Carry Golden Spurs.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—(AP)—All the king's carpenters and all the king's peers have one idea today—the coronation.

Lord Chief Justice Hewart.

Workmen are busy day and night on alterations which will transform the interior of Westminster abbey into a proper setting—one of blue and gold—for the crowning of King George VI. and Queen Elizabeth on May 12.

Commissioners of the Court of Coronation Claims appointed by King George will hold their first meeting at the privy council offices in Downing street tomorrow.

There, in the full dignity of blue and gold court dress and under the presidency of Lord Chief Justice Hewart, the court will receive petitions from those claiming the hereditary right to perform services at the coronation and allot the fees due for such services.

Expect Fresh Crop of Claims.

The fact that Queen Elizabeth will now be crowned in May is expected to lead to a fresh crop of claims. But it has already been announced that to secure continuity of the arrangements, claims allowed by the court of former King Edward VIII. will remain effective under King George.

One knotty problem which the new monarch will have to decide is who is to carry the golden spurs. Edward did not make up his mind which of the three claimants should be allowed the honor before his abdication, and the court already had shelved the matter, after anxious consideration, by leaving it to "the king's pleasure."

Seats for 7,700 in Abbey.

Plans for the interior decoration of the abbey have been completed. There will be seats for 7,700 guests to view the coronation proper.

Materials to decorate and prepare the abbey include 1,900 square yards of carpet, more than 11,000 square yards of boarding and felt to cover the floors of the stands and corridors, 6,000 square yards of fabric for the ceilings and timbering, 1,000 square yards of blue and gold brocatel for the front of the stands and other structures, 2,500 yards of velour, and 18,000 yards of braid.

A blue chenille carpet, 173 by 17 feet, will be used to cover the processional way from the west door to the coronation theater. Floors of the coronation theater, the sanctuary and Edward the Confessor's chapel will be covered with a plain carpet of pale gold.

To provide the required seating, two tiers of seats will be erected in the nave on both sides of the processional way, along with three tiers in the north and south transepts.

Arrange Seats for Peers.

Peers will be seated in the south transept and peeresses in the north transept. They will have chairs covered with blue velour, with gold braid and with royal cyphers embroidered on the backs.

Other spectators will be seated on stools covered with blue velour and decorated with gold braid. Padded hand rails will form backs for the stools.

Design of the thrones is based, as at the last coronation, upon the historic early Stuart chair now at Knole Park near Seven Oaks, the property of Lord Sackville. The thrones will be covered with plain crimson fabric, enriched by tassels, fringes, and the embroidered royal coat of arms.

Masts, Banners, Flags, Ensigns.

How London herself will appear on May 12, in festive attire for coronation ceremonies, was indicated in the official announcement of preparations for street decorations.

The coronation procession, when it moves through the streets, will lend its own color to a lavish arrangement of masts, banners, flags, and ensigns.

There will be floral crowns, baskets of flowers, laurel garlands, and, in Whitehall, window boxes of flowers. Householders along the route will cooperate so that their personal decorations will harmonize with the general scheme as evolved by special committees of architects, the British color council, and the royal fine arts commission.

BRITISH PRESS DIFFERS IN TREATING NEWS OF EX-KING AND SISTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Feb. 10.—English papers have differed in their treatment of the news of the visit being paid by the princess royal, countess of Harewood, to her brother, former King Edward VIII. of England, in Austria.

The London Times, which recently said that "sometimes silence is golden," dismissed the news that the earl and countess of Harewood had arrived in Vienna Sunday with a paragraph of fifty words in their editions yesterday. The Daily Mail and Daily Mirror, however, gave a big play to the news.

All the papers, except the Times, gave prominent space to photographs of the duke of Windsor and the two Harewoods. The Daily Telegraph published a three-quarters of a column story of the latter's arrival with pictures. But Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express merely printed a photograph with lengthy explanatory matter. It had no story from a Vienna correspondent with a Vienna date line. The Morning Post, a Tory organ, gave bare details of the arrival of the Harewoods.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item last Saturday said that Mrs. Ann Johnson, who gave her address as 2445 Clybourn avenue, was dragged into a north side alley by a young assailant. Paul Mitchell, owner of the building at 2445 Clybourn, said yesterday that no Mrs. Ann Johnson lives there.

The caption for a picture of cotton bales in Memphis that was printed on Jan. 30 stated erroneously that the cotton was intended to protect the city against inundation by Mississippi river flood waters. The Associated Press, which furnished the picture and caption material, explained that its photographer confused the marketable cotton pictured with bales that a levee worker told him would be used. Advices from Memphis point out that the buoyancy of cotton makes it impractical for dike walls unless it is weighted down.

DOUBLE RULING ON WAGNER ACT HELD POSSIBLE

Rule in Interstate Trade May Be Upheld.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.–[Special.]—The possibility arose today that the Supreme court will uphold the constitutionality of the Wagner labor relations act as applied to enterprises which clearly are engaged in interstate commerce, such as railway and bus companies, while holding it inapplicable to manufacturing and other local industries.

This was the opinion of impartial Supreme court lawyers after Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes cut short the oral arguments in the Washington, Virginia and Maryland Coach company case by refusing to hear discussions of the evidence supporting the findings of the National Labor Relations board. The chief justice pointed out that, under the law, the board's findings of fact shall be conclusive if supported by evidence and that the circuit court of appeals had determined that there was evidence.

Railway Case Cited.

Lawyers interpreted this action to indicate that the chief justice, at least, entertains little doubt that congress can regulate the labor relations of railway and interstate bus companies. In the Texas and New Orleans railway case, the court upheld the validity of the 1926 railway labor act — prohibiting discrimination against employés because of union membership — even as applied to clerks, stenographers and janitors.

The government attorneys relied heavily upon this decision today in their arguments in support of the Wagner act, while counsel for the coach company and the Associated Press contended that the act must fall in its entirety because it does not distinguish between interstate and intra-state commerce.

That a decision limiting the application of the Wagner act to admittedly interstate business would be little consolation to the administration was indicated by J. Warren Madden, chairman of the National Labor Relations board, who appeared personally to defend his own actions in the Jones and Laughlin Steel corporation case. This corporation is a large manufacturing concern, with 22,000 employés at two plants in Pennsylvania, and the Supreme court held in the Guffey coal case a year ago that manufacturing is a local activity beyond the power of congress to regulate.

Packer Regulation Upheld.

The Supreme court, Madden said, upheld the regulation of packers and stock yards on the ground that they were "in the stream" of interstate commerce. He argued that the "flow" or "stream" concept should be applied to steel companies because their raw materials come from beyond state lines and their finished products are shipped in interstate commerce Congress, he said, should have the right to prevent labor strife in such businesses because it may "affect, burden or obstruct" interstate commerce.

"If the men should strike the company would go into court with a bill for injunction, saying that the strike constituted an enormous disruption of interstate commerce," Madden declared.

"'Orders for steel are coming in and they can't be filled,' the company lawyers would argue."

The reply of Earl F. Reed, counsel for the Jones & Laughlin corporation, was that the Supreme court held in the Coronado Coal company case that obstruction to coal mining is not an obstruction to interstate commerce.

Steel Case Up First.

The Jones & Laughlin case was the first to come before the court in a constitutional test of the Wagner act as applied to manufacturing, but two other manufacturing cases waited to be argued. These are the Freuhauf Trailer company and the Friedman-Harry Marks Clothing company cases.

The 5th Circuit Court of Appeals refused to enforce an order of the labor relations board requiring the Jones & Laughlin company to reinstate ten discharged employés and to cease discriminating against members of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers.

One important aspect of the Wagner act which may not be decided in any of the pending cases, unless the court decides that the provisions of the statute are inseparable, is the so-called collective bargaining section. Section 8 [5] makes it an unfair labor practice to refuse to bargain collectively with the representatives selected by a majority of employés in the voting unit designated by the board.

Union Affiliations Involved.

The pending cases are based on the provisions of the act making it an unfair labor practice to discriminate against employés because of their union affiliations and cease and desist orders of the board requiring the reinstatement of employés.

Charles Fahy, general counsel for the board, in effect asked the court not to consider the compulsory collective bargaining provision when he closed for the government in the Associated Press case today.

"This provision has not been invoked and a decision on its constitutionality is not necessary in the determination of this case," Fahy declared.

John W. Davis, counsel for the Associated Press, conceded that the compulsory collective bargaining provision was not at issue—"that hand not having been laid upon us yet"—but argued that the act was inseparable and hence unconstitutional in its entirety.

Misconstrued, Fahy Says.

Fahy also argued that Davis had "entirely misconstrued the so-called closed shop' provision of the act"—section 8 [3], which prohibits discrimination against employés by virtue of their membership in a union but does not preclude contracts requiring union membership as a condition of employment. While denying that this was a "closed shop" provision, Fahy admitted in effect that it was designed to outlaw the company union.

"This proviso does not encourage or foster the closed shop, which is a matter of agreement that may be valid or invalid, according to state law," he said.

"In fact, it contains certain limitations on the closed shop. The court is not preceluded from finding discrimination if the employer dominates the organization with which he makes an agreement. That may be the grossest form of discrimination."

Fahy charged that the "freedom of the press" issue raised in the case by Mr. Davis was a "sham."

Freedom of the Press.

"Freedom of the press," he said, "is indeed a great liberty and Mr. Watson [Morris Watson, a discharged editorial employé] and the newspaper guild will fight for that principle as long as the Associated Press will. And the government heartily challenges the challengers of the petitioner as hiding behind the freedom of the press as a guise and sham while it stifles the freedom of employés to establish self-organization."

Charles Wyzanski, special assistant attorney general, devoted much of his time to efforts to show that the Associated Press was engaged in interstate commerce. The employés, he said, "were much closer to interstate commerce than the stenographers, janitors, and clerks who were held, in the Texas and New Orleans railway case, to be within the scope of interstate commerce."

NRA Decision Cited.

Wyzanski and the other government lawyers argued that the Texas and New Orleans case and not the Schechter [NRA] case should govern the Wagner act. Opposing counsel have made much of the NRA decision because it was unanimous and because Mr. Justice Cardozo, one of the three most liberal members of the court, declared in a concurring opinion:

"Activities local in their immediacy do not become interstate and national because of distant repercussions."

While the court listened patiently to arguments in the Associated Press case on the question of engaging in interstate commerce, it terminated the arguments in the coach company case when Robert E. Lynch, counsel for the petitioner, admitted that the company engaged in interstate commerce. Lynch sought to go into the facts relating to the discharge of 18 union men, denying that they were discharged because of their union activities.

Justice Hughes Comments.

"That's a question of fact and the act says the decision as to the facts shall be left to the board," said Chief Justice Hughes.

"We contend that there is some question of fact that should be determined by the court," Lynch asserted.

"Do you mean that there was no evidence?" asked the chief justice.

When Lynch said there was none, Hughes cut him off, saying:

"But the Circuit Court of Appeals said there was."

TWIN BROTHERS TO MARRY TWIN SISTERS

"Seeing Double"

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.–[Special.]—Officials at the District court thought they were seeing double today, but they weren't. It was just twin brothers and twin sisters applying for marriage licenses. Neno and Phillip Bellante are the brothers and their brides-to-be are Frances and Fanny Bridget.

Wife's Skirts Shield Petting Parson; Jail His Next Haven

The Rev. Finis Jennings Dake, pastor of the Christian Assembly church of Zion, was sheltered yesterday behind the skirts of his wife, Dorothy, as he prepared to leave his congregation next Monday for a six months stay in the Milwaukee house of correction. He was sentenced by Federal Judge F. A. Geiger in Milwaukee Tuesday for violating the Mann act. The petting parson pleaded guilty and asked mercy.

"I'm his guardian now, and there will be no more statements, pictures or interviews," asserted Mrs. Dake adamantly. "This is a closed case now."

Enter Overseer Voliva!

But it wasn't a closed case to the Rev. Wilbur Glenn Voliva, overseer of the Christian Catholic church of Zion. As overseer of the church, Voliva for years has been head man of the city and he resents the intrusion of rival churchmen.

The overseer was amused and indignant by turns. What amused him most and caused him to laugh heartily for more than a minute, was Dake's assertion to his congregation at a "vindication service" Tuesday night that he was disgusted with the devil and, if he could, he would grab the devil's tail and wrap it around a tree.

"It would be more fitting," Voliva told an interviewer, "if the devil would wrap Dake around a tree."

Voliva's Views Very Definite.

To Overseer Voliva, Dake's church is the "monkey house," and his congregation are "nitwits." No one but nitwits, said the overseer, would accept Dake's story that he had taken the 16 years old Kenosha, Wis., high school girl to three hotels and to East St. Louis merely to pray for her.

The plump Mrs. Dake, who will take over her husband's pastorate during his incarceration, said Mr. Dake would conduct services tonight, Sunday morning and Sunday evening. Then Mrs. Dake will assume charge.

In a private meeting of the congregation, after all outsiders had been asked to leave, the church members Tuesday night individually and collectively reaffirmed their loyalty to the convicted pastor. There were many "amens" and "hallelujahs."

NEW STAF BEGINS JUVENILE HOME CLEANUP TODAY

Assured of Help from Public Officials.

The six members of the new intake staf of the county's Juvenile Detention home will report there this morning to begin relieving overcrowded conditions in the institution.

In this work they will have the coöperation of the city board of health, the police, the state's attorney's office, and the state department of public welfare, according to County Commissioner Elizabeth A. Conkey.

Quarantine Routine Arranged.

"After he assured me of his coöperation, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, head of the city health board, referred me to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, head of the board's contagious disease division," Mrs. Conkey said yesterday. "Dr. Rawlings agreed that the board would not examine children until after the intake staf has decided whether they should be admitted to the home. This means that we will be spared quarantines for whole sections of the institution because of some sick child who should not be there in the first place."

Police Commissioner James P. Allman assured Mrs. Conkey on Tuesday that the attention of police would be called to an order issued a year ago, directing that no first offenders or lost children should be taken to the home.

The state's attorney's office will coöperate in cases of children who must be held as material witnesses or who are to be charged with a serious offense, she said. The state department of public welfare will endeavor to remove feeble minded or delinquent children to the proper institutions just as soon as their cases are decided by the Juvenile court, instead of holding them at the juvenile home, as is the present practice.

Five on Duty During Day.

With this coöperation it is believed that the new intake staf, headed by Arthur Audy, will be able to reduce congestion in the home. Five members of the staf will be on duty during the day, Audy said, and one will be at the home all night. All have been instructed to admit only such children as properly belong in the home.

Work of carpenters and painters in preparation of the new receiving unit at the home caused delay in putting the new intake system into operation.

MOTHER 'SURPRISED,' BUT CALLS MARRIAGE OF DAUGHTER, 13, O. K.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Mrs. Lillian Hands told Police Magistrate J. Frank Fox today she was "satisfied," albeit surprised, with the marriage of her 13 year old daughter, Eleanor, to Joseph I. Falice, 23 year old quarry worker.

But, because Falice gave his bride's age as 18 in obtaining the marriage license, Magistrate Fox held him in $1,000 bail on charges of perjury.

The girl left home on her way to school Monday morning, but never arrived at her seventh grade classroom. She turned up last night with a marriage certificate. Mrs. Hands took her to a police station and Eleanor spent the night in a detention room.

Police arrested Falice today. Bride, bridegroom and mother conferred with Police Capt. John L. Carroll and Mrs. Hands emerged from his office with the statement she was "satisfied, but surprised." Magistrate Fox, however, refused to dismiss the case.

Mrs. Hands said she never had seen Falice before. Eleanor will be 14 in April.

MERCY APPEALS OF 2 FACING CHAIR SET FOR MONDAY

The state board of pardons and paroles in Springfield yesterday set for Monday hearings of the petitions for commutation of the death sentences of Mrs. Mildred Bolton and Joseph Rappaport, who are in the Cook county jail awaiting execution.

Rappaport is scheduled to die on Feb. 19 for the murder of Max Dent, a government informer. His application for clemency, received by the board yesterday, sets forth that new evidence shows his conviction was not waranted.

Mrs. Bolton is under sentence to die on Feb. 26 for shooting to death her estranged husband, Joseph W. Bolton Jr., in his loop insurance office. The petition in her behalf cites the opinion of three alienists that she is mentally disordered.

Husband's Talk Like 'Beat of Tom-Toms'; Wife Sues

"Like the beat, beat-beat of the tom-tom," her husband's talk bounced against her tired brain night and day, declared Mrs. Margaret Schmalz, 27 years old, 3504 Franklin boulevard, in a suit for divorce filed yesterday in the Superior court against Earl Schmalz. The pounding of his words against her eardrums caused the words to lose their meaning, the bill said.

BURNED IN OIL BLAST.

When coal oil he was using to start a fire exploded yesterday in a filling station at 5258 South Kedzie avenue, Archie Mitchell, 36 years old, colored, was severely burned. Mitchell, who lives at 4309 Calumet avenue, was taken to the County hos-

BUSINESS AS USUAL

By CALEB

I HAVE just been looking at what might appear to be a summary of a world tour business. What it actually is, is our Daily Absence Report.

Fifty-seven of our people are away or are just leaving on buying trips. Sixteen of the fifty-seven listed on this particular day's report are foreign trips. Still others are presently absent on trips which started some days ago.

An hour ago I was down through the store. Of course, despite these absences, business is going on as usual. Interested customers are in front of counters and display tables. While they shop, more merchandise is presently being bought for them in remote cities and countries all over the face of the earth.

Here is a smart, sparkling, and shiny item on the second floor, sitting as complacently as though the complex machinery of creative merchandising, foreign buying, and importing had not been required to bring it here. Elsewhere through the store are items similarly here by virtue of world-wide activities. For our buyers are ubiquitous—and like the British Empire the sun never sets on them.

As a result, when the world nas new things to offer—you get them. What is new may have existed first in Zuiam, Maastricht, Stourbridge, Kiev, Bombay, Timbuctoo, or Pottschappel. It occasions no loss in sleep to you, no dashing over the ocean—nothing but coming here! Those buyers listed on the single day's report mentioned above will buy in at least these countries: England, Switzerland, France, Denmark, Russia, Germany, Czechoslovakia, Italy, India, China, Japan, Ireland, Hungary, Austria, Sweden, Belgium, and Holland. By the time they return, others will be visiting these and still other countries.

It is partly for this reason that many people like to occasionally see all our store. It is small wonder we can make the composite of our departments interesting and intriguing. The thousands of things we show all bring here a little of the atmosphere and locale of their origins. From section to section you can sense how great and varied and wondrous is the world.

REBELS MENACE BARCELONA; ALL TROOPS CALLED

Harbor Under Fire from Fascist Warship.

BARCELONA, Spain, Feb. 11—[Thursday.]—(AP)—The Catalan council of ministers early today decreed a new mobilization to meet the threat of a Fascist insurgent offensive.

The council called out immediately the classes of 1934 and 1935. It directed the incorporation of all militia in the regular army and placed all armed forces in the region under a single command connected with the central general staf of the republic.

[Catalonia is an autonomous state within the Spanish republic.]

The cabinet's action was taken after an insurgent warship bombarded this port for more than an hour early yesterday. More than 40 shots were exchanged as shore batteries traded shells with the vessel which kept far out at sea. The few insurgent shells that registered direct hits on the port caused only slight damage.

The second cabinet decree called for the augmentation of fortifications and the employment of all men available for the work.

A third measure provided for the immediate constitution of a superior defense council. Previously there was no such body in Catalonia.

Bombers Raid Alcala.

MADRID, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Fascist insurgent flyers tonight killed an undetermined number of civilians in a bombing raid on Alcala de Henares, 20 miles northeast of Madrid. Official reports said several bombs fell on a red cross hospital, killing and wounding many occupants. The bodies of a woman and five children were found among the debris, the official reports said. Several houses were reported badly destroyed or badly damaged.

Thousands of leaflets, urging surrender of Madrid, were dropped by other Fascist flyers in a night flight over the capital. No bombs were dropped on the capital.

[Word of the Fascists' flight over Madrid was telephoned to London after telephone communication between the two capitals was restored shortly before midnight—6 p. m. Chicago time—after it had been disrupted from early in the day by the Fascist attack on the Madrid-Valencia road.]

Bomb Fascist Lines.

Military headquarters reported the Fascists fighting for possession of the Valencia highway near Vaciamadrid, south of the capital, were being punished severely by government war planes, adding, "The insurgents have not succeeded in physically cutting the road."

[A New York Times correspondent drove over the road yesterday. From a point 11 miles from Madrid for nearly a mile up to the Jarama river bridge, he reported, the road was under heavy machine gun and artillery fire of rebels holding positions on a bluff. Dispatch riders and cars were traveling the section at high speed. From the bridge six miles to Arganda and from Arganda to Valencia the road was clear. At Arganda trucks and cars from Valencia were taking a detour to Madrid.]

Loyalist Attacks Repulsed.

WITH FASCISTS OUTSIDE MADRID, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Desperate government soldiers, striving to maintain Madrid's supply route from Valencia, were repulsed today by Fascists defending the positions they won yesterday along the highway, the insurgent command announced.

Soldiers Told of Malaga Fall.

VALENCIA, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Spain's Popular Front government spread the word today of the fall of Malaga in an effort to stimulate its soldiers to strong new efforts to crush the Fascist insurgents.

Risking the possibility of diminished morale, the Valencia administration notified its fighting chiefs to inform their men of the Fascist success, hoping to impress them with the necessity of winning the struggle as soon as possible.

Foreign Minister Julio Alvarez del Vayo announced he would demand that the league of nations "place the responsibility for foreign intervention in behalf of the rebels in their attack on Malaga."

TRUCKER DIES AFTER CRASH.

Coldwater, Mich., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A. Gittes, 24, Detroit, trucker for the Dealers Transport company of Detroit and Chicago, died of skull fracture in a hospital here today. He was struck by a car driven by Dr. T. L. Bott, veterinarian, here earlier in the day.

Tell Difficulties

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 10.—(AP)—An Evanston Ill., man and wife and two companions recounted their three-day fight against the storm lashed Gulf stream which tossed their crippled cabin cruiser on waves three times as high as the boat.

The freighter San Antonio sighted them, attracted by the last of their improvised flares. It brought them to Philadelphia last night.

HITLER AGENT IN SPAIN PREDICTS REBEL TRIUMPH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—Gen. Wilhelm Faupel, Nazi chargé d'affaires, in the part of Spain controled by Gen. Francisco Franco, arrived here today and reported to Reichsfuehrer Hitler on the Spanish rebel victory at Malaga.

Gen. Faupel forecast victory for the Fascist forces within five weeks at the most.

Italians Hail Victory.

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

ROME, Feb. 10.—The first admission the Italians played a considerable rôle in the conquest of Malaga was made by the press today which printed detailed reports from foreign newspapers attributing to Italian troops chief credit for the unexpectedly rapid Fascist advance on Malaga.

LANDON VISITS HERE ON WAY EAST FOR TALK

Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas, Republican candidate for President last November, passed through Chicago yesterday on his way to New York where he is to speak tomorrow at a Lincoln day celebration of the National Republican club. He said he is reserving comment on President Roosevelt's proposal to add six justices to the Supreme court until his New York speech.

He was the guest at a luncheon in the Chicago club given by John P. Landreth, president of the Kansas Club of Chicago. Mrs. Landon attended a Women's Athletic club luncheon.

SPANISH REBELS HUNT 20,000 FOES HIDDEN IN HILLS

Begin Cleanup of Malaga War Damage.

MALAGA, Spain, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Malaga's Fascist insurgent captors combed the Mediterranean seaboard east of this port and the mountains to the north in an effort tonight to clean out the last vestiges of loyalist opposition.

Under ready guns of Fascist troops, commanders reported, "large numbers" of loyalist snipers threw down their weapons in surrender as the "mopping up" was pushed 16 miles toward Motril, 68 miles east of Malaga.

Fascist strategists sought to maneuver retreating lofalist troops into a new battle, possibly along a new front extending north from Motril, on the sea, to the Sierra Nevada mountain range south of Granada.

Foes Flushed Out of Hills.

Fascist cavalrymen rode into the hills along the coast, driving guerilla opposition from cover. It was estimated 20,000 loyalist irregulars were still at large.

Malaga's military occupants, meanwhile, started rehibilitation of their battered prize. Truckloads of bread and and other food supplied were rushed in to feed a populace grown hungry during the last weeks of the loyalist occupation. Public services were resumed.

Police patrols, including some from Seville, were organized and continued hunting out loyalists luckless enough not to have escaped.

German Buildings Ruined.

Many buildings bore the marks of the siege and the chaos that preceded capitulation. Some were burned, others blasted by bomb and shell. Most of the damage was done in the early days of the war—when Fascists revolted and were put down—Malagans said, and some destruction was the result of Fascist bombardment by planes and warships.

Just before the Fascist occupation last week-end, there was a large amount of pillaging and burning. One large building, the palacio Larios, was in ruins. The buildings of German shipping companies were destroyed by fire and dynamite.

Three councils of war were set up to try arrested loyalists suspected of participating in the killing of 5,000 inhabitants during the last days of the siege. The number held was small, however, as most of the 10,000 acknowledged government supporters who surrendered were given safe conduct passes after brief questioning.

Here's the Modern Way
To Help END a Cold

The 3 Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest, and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with a warmed cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat, and chest. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—eases the cough—helps break congestion.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets

This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

IRIUM AMAZES DENTAL WORLD AS REMEDY FOR DINGY TEETH!

Pepsodent requires NO SOAP . . . NO CHALK . . . NO GRIT . . . NO PUMICE.
—Safe!

BECAUSE OF IRIUM . . .
Pepsodent gently floats film away—instead of scraping it off.
—Thorough!

BECAUSE OF IRIUM . . .
—Refreshing!

• IRIUM! The discovery that rings today throughout the dental world!

Never before has science uncovered so amazing a remedy for dull, dingy teeth. And Pepsodent alone of tooth powders contains it.

IRIUM is a totally new kind of foaming ingredient which softens the glue-like film on teeth and floats it away like magic!

So effective is IRIUM, that a single brushing with Pepsodent Powder leaves enamel cleaner, and more radiant than you have ever before experienced.

Unlike soap in many dentifrices, IRIUM does not combine with saliva in your mouth to form new deposits of film and tartar.

That's why teeth look whiter, feel clean so much longer after using Pepsodent Powder containing IRIUM.

Teeth sparkle as they never did with old-fashioned, laborious methods.

Yet Pepsodent Powder is DOUBLY SAFE, because it contains NO GRIT, NO PUMICE. DOUBLY PLEASANT because it contains NO CHALK, NO SOAP. So refreshing is Pepsodent containing IRIUM that a wholesome tingle rejuvenates your mouth, your sense of taste with every brushing.

Try Pepsodent Powder containing IRIUM. See how it shows up any other tooth powder you've ever used—BAR NONE!

Proof is that people have already bought nearly 10,000,000 cans! So try it!

IT'S IRISH AMERICAN—A NEW PRODUCT FROM AN OLD, OLD HOUSE —OFFERING AN ABSOLUTELY NEW GOOD TASTE!

THE Colonel really can't tell his friends much more than that. Neither can we. For IRISH AMERICAN has a velvety smoothness, a robust goodness and, above all else, an aroma and flavor which mark it as absolutely unique.

It is unlike any other whiskey in the world. It is not made like any other whiskey in the world. It does not taste like any other whiskey in the world. It is the only whiskey of its kind ever made for private use or public sale.

The robust character of imported pot still whiskey—the mild, mellow smoothness and lightness of fine Kentucky whiskey—these have been so artfully united that IRISH AMERICAN actually has created a superb new whiskey flavor. This new flavor is delighting many men who, up to now, have been paying fancy prices for whiskies which only approach IRISH AMERICAN in taste.

What's it like? Let your own palate answer that question for you.

ANOTHER RICH UNCLE BLOWS UP.

The Home Owners' Loan corporation was created to be a rich and generous uncle who, learning of distress in the family, would come in to relieve it. This benevolent corporation was to stand between the distressed home owner and his pressing creditor who, claiming his rights, would put the people on the street. The rich and benevolent uncle did his part. He paid out a total of 3 billion 92 million dollars and saved the homes of over one million families. Thus the kindly deed was done and the deadly sting was taken out of mortgages. But Uncle also took a mortgage.

The rich and benevolent corporation seemed to stand between the distressed home owner and the creditor, but when the glamor of the good deed had ceased to blind the eye and when the transaction could be seen more clearly the kindly uncle was found not between the creditor and debtor but in the creditor's shoes, and he had developed the creditor's instinct, which is to obtain payment as stipulated and to take possession of the property if the debtor does not make good on his obligations.

The federal home mortgage corporation is now in the second stage of its operations. Its loan office is closed and its collection office is busy. It is now the forecloser and the families put out on the street know that the government is putting them there.

Only about 12 million dollars of the 3 billion and odd millions has been repaid. Already nearly 25 million pieces of property have been taken over through foreclosure or by voluntary deed, and it is estimated that within a year one out of every seven borrowers will have lost the property the government undertook to save.

The mortgage corporation, of course, made loans for the most part to owners of no other recourse. The property involved was the property in the greatest distress because the owner couldn't find relief elsewhere. Naturally, the corporation would get any number of uncollectible debts and would inevitably have to be the cruel creditor in the end. For many of the unfortunates the intervention in their behalf was only a painful delay of the misfortune into which they were headed. It was an expensive experiment for the government. It put Uncle Sam in the mortgage and real estate business; it will give him title to a great deal of property he never should have had; and it will cost him a large loss in bills he can't or won't collect. It also may make him a depressing factor in the real estate market.

DOUBLE FEATURES.

A glance at the motion picture ads shows that four out of five neighborhood movie houses in Chicago have broken out in a rash of double features.

This double feature business may be a bargain in the eyes of the exhibitors. To many or most of us it's just a pain in the neck. By some fatal timing we always have to sit through three-quarters of the picture that bores us to see the one for which we paid our money. Furthermore, there's no Mickey Mouse.

Double features substituting quantity for quality seem in the present instance to be the exhibitors' answer to the ban on bank nights and similar prize drawings which forced the movie houses to get out of the lottery business and stick to the amusement field.

If so, the exhibitors are picking on the wrong people. Make Mayor Kelly sit through double features if you like. Make the Better Business bureau attend them and Commissioner Allman and Barney Hodes and all the assistant corporation counsels. But don't pick on the rest of us.

WHAT IS A BRITISH FASCIST?

Joachim von Ribbentrop, German ambassador to Great Britain, has been making himself much at home in London. He even gives King George the Nazi salute whenever he sees him. Diplomatic intimations to him that one does not shoot a cuff at the king have been unavailing. Von Ribbentrop may feel at home in London and he may wonder why there is so much bother about Sir Oswald Mosley.

Sir Oswald himself, Fascist leader of the now un-uniformed British Black Shirts, often must be at a loss to understand his fellow countrymen. When he would demonstrate the virtues of the Fascist state disorderly persons tried to break up his meetings and laughing people made fun of him, and the government cracked down on him. He was told to regard himself as the chief British public nuisance and his ideas as preposterously offensive to the British character. He was a wholly unflattering picture of a free Briton who never would be a slave.

A law was passed dealing with Sir Oswald, forbidding the use of uniforms by political action associations. That reduced his Black Shirts to the wearing of black ties, permitting no other distinctive symbol of their pride and hopes. Then Sir Oswald observes such an item as this:

Hal Bryan, a comedian, and Manager Thomas Piggett of the King's theater, Hammersmith, being brought into court, are convicted and fined, one $50 and the other $75, for a line interpolated in a script after it had been licensed for production. The comedian, made up as Hitler, rushed in upon a scene, gave the salute, and exclaimed, "Vott iss dis all aboudt?" It was alleged against him not only that the censor had not seen that line but that his appearance as Hitler was distinctly non-Aryan.

To Nazi Fascism the offense would be regarded as unbelievable and unforgivable. The difference between London and Berlin would relate only to the penalty given the culprits. Berlin would never see them again. But Sir Oswald might say the difference is in degree and not in essence. A government which censors newspapers, censors movies, censors the theater, bans magazines and books, and has created a tradition of suppression which kept the country in ignorance of the approach of its most astonishing event, is Fascist in its heart. And yet, Sir Oswald might say, they push me about and won't even let me wear a black shirt!

THE SELECTION OF GENERALS.

Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood in an article in the Coast Artillery Journal states his conviction that the present method of selecting the high command of the army is unsound. At present the generals are chosen from a list of eligible colonels. The general staf is recruited wholly from among officers who have graduated from the staf college at Fort Leavenworth.

Gen. Hagood lists a dozen distinguished generals, proved in war, who could never have aspired to command under the present system. It is not necessary to review his entire list. Three names stand out: Grant, Sheridan and Sherman. Each of them in varying degree possessed military genius. Each of them was a born leader. If the present system of a self-perpetuating burocracy had been functioning in 1861 not one of these great captains, in all probability, would have risen to command an army.

It is not easy to say how the army command should be selected. Schooling alone will not produce great generals, as the experience of the European war clearly proves. Readers of the Liddell Hart articles in THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE do not have to be told of the many bloody mistakes made by the generals on both sides, every one of whom had the benefit of the best training available.

This does not mean that staf schools and schools of command should be abandoned. It does mean that the opportunity to rise in rank should not be severely restricted, as it is at present, to graduates of these schools. Millions of men were killed in the last war because of the follies of the educated doctrinaires. What is needed is a system which will facilitate the promotion to command of men who have proved their competence for it, regardless of schooling, seniority, and burocratic prejudice.

HOT SPRINGS GETS A SURPRISE.

Hot Springs, Ark., has come down with a sudden attack of virtue and made the amazing discovery that it has a number of establishments where it is possible to make wagers on dice and roulette wheels.

The discovery, at least, may have amazed the two gentlemen of the cloth who were installed as chairman and secretary of an investigating committee by the legislature, following a political row between the governor and the mayor of Hot Springs. It will not amaze any of the Chicagoans who for years on end have gone to Hot Springs to relieve their rheumatism and their pocketbooks, and it is doubtful if any of the more earthy citizens of the city itself gasped at the news.

Hot Springs exhibits a special phase of the American gambling business. It is a resort town like its midwestern neighbor, French Lick, and Miami, Palm Beach, and Reno. The classic economic arguments against gambling don't run in such precincts. The money which goes over the gambling tables comes from elsewhere, and the gambling houses are often a genuine economic asset to the community.

This is often recognized, almost on an official scale. It is not uncommon for the gamblers to respect local prejudices by barring the natives from their tables. Brown's, at French Lick, refuses admittance to inhabitants of the county, and Col. Bradley at Palm Beach extends his ban to permanent residents of the whole state of Florida.

In addition to the private pockets of officials, the gamblers not uncommonly contribute to the public purse, either through charitable donations or by payment of excessive taxes on their property.

Even so, they are not always welcome citizens. Reno legalized gambling because, in the words of one of its citizens, it was tired of having its public officials owned by the gamblers. And the gambling gentry are given on occasion to shooting each other, which gives any community, and particularly a playground community, a bad name.

Legalization of gambling, suggested as a remedy, has its drawbacks. It is all very well for the illegal gambler to bar local citizens, but when his hall of chance becomes legal they are likely to consider it an infringement of their constitutional rights if they are not permitted to take an occasional flier with their own funds, not to mention those of their employers and the local banks.

There seems to be no clear cut solution for the problem, either for Hot Springs or Chicago. One thing may be hazarded, however. The roulette wheels will be turning again soon in Hot Springs, and probably before the end of its present tourist season.

Editorial of the Day

"SHAMBOOZLING."

[Boston Herald.]

In his account of the recent unpleasantnesses at Mechanics building, our pugilistic historiographer, W. A. Hamilton, wrote that one of the boys gave another a "fine shamboozling." The dictionaries do not record the word, and Mr. Mencken does not list it, but it is one which would have thrilled Philip Hale, and he would have taken it over for regular use.

Mr. Hamilton's verbal love child was probably conceived at the ringside while the boxers were trying to purge one another. It seems a reinforced version of "shampoo," which is a vigorous massaging of the head, but might by prosaic license be extended to include impacts on all the corpus above the belt. It looks good, it sounds better, it is highly onomatopoeic, and is probably one of those footpads of speech which are constantly crashing the gates, first of the slang dictionaries and then of the majestic unabridgeds.

Swanee Pete, having gadded up into the mountains of Tennessee, declares that the old mountain men are getting up in arms against the marriage of infant brides. "I been up to Ducktown twicet," Esero Fern told him. "Me and the others hereabouts ain't made no specialty of morals, but unless she is extry heavy built a gal under 12 cain't scasely lift a scuffle hoe, let alone push a bucksaw through a shell hickory log. It ain't fair to us men to be a clutterin' up our cabins with sechlike."

TEARS.

Soft rain! You mist in silver spray
From heavens warm with summer sun—
You are the lush and easy tears
Of joyous love but just begun.

Raw rain! You hurtle fierce and sharp
To sting the flesh without surcease—
You are the bitter painful tears
Of anguished love that knows no peace.

But rain, when steady, sad, and slow,
You trickle down my windowpane,
Then are you just the quiet tears
Of hopeless love let fall in vain.

PREPOSITIONAL PROGRESS.

Marc Anthony's Stooge, ending a sentence with only four prepositions, is still piking. How's this from the lad whose mother commanded him from the porch to come on up, in out of the rain? "Aw," said he, "there ain't no rain to come on up in out of."

Strange Rural Interlude.

(Macoupin County Enquirer, via G. F. J.)

SOON THEY'LL ADD A WING.

I visited the new Supreme court building in Washington last summer. A watchful and dignified guard being at the time in imminent juxtaposition, I tried out a wise crack on him. "This is a pretty big building for only nine justices, isn't it?" said I. Very loftily he replied: "It takes a big building." And I am sure that President Roosevelt had not then confided to him that plan to increase the judicial population.

LITTLE CAPITALIST.

There's a vagrant notion that the age of the little business man has disappeared forever. Not so. It is still easy to be a capitalist, to own your own business. Vide the 5 cent taxi business in Evanston. We quote the observations of one of these capitalists. . . . "I bought this old wagon for $35 four months ago and had it painted for $4. Then I had to buy a city license for $10 and a business license for $2.50. I can book about $6 a day and the gas won't run over $1.50. Of course the car'll wear out some time, but I'll just get a better one for about $60. And about a dozen of us fellows are figuring on getting together and having a stand and a phone so we can cut in on the call business." . . . Our guess is that some of those fellows will one day be taxi magnates complaining about the unfair competition of fly-by-nights.

THE LADY ON THE BUS was complaining loudly about the way men in automobiles were always trying to pick her up on the street. Not until I glanced her way did I understand how badly we need a drivers' license law to eliminate those with defective sight.

WHO SHOT ELMER?

I claim the reward for finding Elmer. Halting the other evening in our neighborhood A. & P. I heard the manager call out: "Elmer, what did you do with my pencil?" From the back room, where he had been hiding, appeared a shock headed youth who retorted: "I left it right there on the counter." Then he disappeared.

'Twasn't Elmer unless there was a bullet hole in him.

WE ARE NEVER surprised to read of some good citizen being taken in on the old money machine swindle. SHOULD SYPHILITICS MARRY?

CAN any one who has contracted syphilis marry with safety? Yes, if the disease has been treated adequately and if no manifestations are detectable.

At the outset we must recognize that the disease affects people differently. Some will become Wassermann negative after six months of treatment. Others will show a positive blood test after years of medication. We may look upon the spirochete—the cause of syphilis—as possessing varying affinities for individuals. The reason may be found, perhaps, in the general health of the victim. His degree of resistance may permit or oppose the rapid dissemination of the parasites within the body.

It is obvious therefore that no fixed rules can be laid down, such as "marriage is permissible one year after contracting the disease, provided proper drugs have been given." Rather should we say that the infectiousness of the disease for others disappears within a short time after treatment is instituted, particularly if it is thorough and vigorous and is administered by skilled hands. This does not guarantee, however, that the patient is entirely free from disease. In many instances—probably the majority—it signifies that with proper management within six months to a year the syphilitic will be unable to pass the disease on to another.

We do not know all the modes and methods under which the malady is spread. The case is cited of a 65 year old male who contracted syphilis 35 years ago. He still shows a positive Wassermann, although treatment has been more or less continuous. Nevertheless, there are no signs of the disease anywhere in his body. The man has been married for over 30 years and neither his wife nor his children has exhibited the slightest trace of the infection.

It is well known that most of the serious after-effects appear from 12 to 18 years subsequent to the initial infection. This is the time when the sufferer reaps the harvest of inadequate or incorrect treatment; but even in this period the chance that he can convey the disease is remote. This statement, of course, rests on the assumption that good management for a year or more was carried out.

A safe rule relative to marriage probably would be a negative blood test after 18 months of proper therapy. It may be assumed that at the end of this period the blood reaction will be negative—as it usually is. Some authorities hold that marriage is permissible only after a lapse of three years. But all are in fair agreement that if attack upon the infection has been continuous for from two to three years a positive blood reaction is not a bar to marriage. Nevertheless, the patient should be reëxamined at least every six months and remain under the watchful eye of a competent physician so that should the slightest clinical sign of the disease manifest itself proper procedures may be instituted without delay.

A prospective mother may be infected and her child be born prematurely and diseased. Were the situation recognized early in pregnancy treatment could be started, not only insuring life to her offspring, but safety to herself. Conservative figures indicate that there are nearly 200,000 potential mothers in this country with active syphilis. Such a situation could not exist did not ignorance, neglect, or indifference or all three dominate the picture.

When we realize that half the infections from this dread disease occur between the ages of 20 and 30—the period of life in which most people are entering into the state of matrimony—some thought must be given to insuring freedom from disease of both parties. Should this mean parental insistence upon blood tests? Would it make any difference with either party if the other showed a positive reaction? Love is a powerful force, but wisdom sometimes steps in and averts a catastrophe. Postponement of the wedding date from one and a half to two years is far less of a hardship than a lifetime spent in fighting ill health on the part of each.

ADDISON'S DISEASE.

Mrs. B. writes: What are the symptoms of Addison's or bronze disease?

REPLY.

There is a feeling of extreme languor and muscular fatigue. Many will complain of nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, palpitation, and excessive drowsiness. Pains in the loins are not uncommon. Restlessness, apprehension, and psychoses have been observed. A marked loss of weight may occur. There is low blood pressure and a feeble pulse. The surface skin is pale at first but later may show brownish areas. The most typical pigmentation appears over the buttocks, elbows, face, neck, and hands. These color changes may be noted on the mucous membranes of the lips, the tongue, and the gums. The three chief symptoms are: Pigmentation, general weakness, and disturbances of digestion.

The cause lies in too little secretion from the adrenal glands due to disease of these structures.

CALLUS ON FOOT.

Mrs. L. D. writes: What causes a callus on the ball of the foot? How can it be prevented?

REPLY.

A callus usually occurs as a result of long continued pressure and friction. The trouble lies in weakened foot muscles and ligaments. Sometimes poorly fitting shoes are responsible. Temporary relief may be obtained by soaking the parts in hot, soapy water for an hour night and morning. This will loosen the dead skin and permit removal of the callus. Do not use a knife or scissors.

The next step is to prevent recurrence. Usually, readjustment of weight pressure is all that is necessary. This may mean that the arches require attention.

IF PREPARED PROPERLY.

E. S. writes: My physician recommends canned vegetables for our six month old baby. Is this safe?

REPLY.

COLD IN HEAD.

J. S. writes: What is the best method of treating a cold in the head?

REPLY.

Rest is important. Go to bed and remain there for at least two or three days. Isolation is desirable as it protects others and minimizes the opportunity of acquiring secondary infections. The body, especially the feet, should be kept warm and dry. Take fluids in liberal amounts. Any simple, light diet is suitable after the acute symptoms have subsided.

20 Years Ago Today

FEBRUARY 11, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Germany initiated overtures to the United States to avert war when Dr. Paul Ritter, Swiss minister now in charge of German affairs in this country, communicated to the state department an informal message from the German government stating a willingness to consider suggestions to promote the safety of Americans and American ships in the new submarine zones.

WASHINGTON.—The federal trade commission announced that at the direction of President Wilson it would begin immediately an investigation of the high cost of foods in the United States, with special reference to alleged violations of the anti-trust act.

WASHINGTON.—A measure providing universal military training and creating a reserve army of more than 4,000,000 was reported to the senate by the committee on military affairs. The bill provides that all able bodied males, as they reach the age of 19, shall undergo a period of six months' training.

PARIS.—Surprise attacks were made on enemy posts west of Aubérive and in the sectors of Bezange and Parroy. There was violent artillery fighting on the front between Vasherauville and Caurieres wood [Verdun front].

COPENHAGEN.—The exodus of Americans from Germany began yesterday when a newspaper correspondent crossed the Danish frontier as the first American permitted to leave Berlin several hours before the train with the official party of Ambassador Gerard was scheduled to leave the German capital.

CHICAGO.—"Absolute and unqualified loyalty—active loyalty," come what may, was pledged to the government of the United States by the German Club of Chicago, an organization with 2,500 members.

LONDON.—Nine ships were sunk by German submarines. Aboard one of them, the Japanese Prince [British], were twenty-five American muleteers, whose fate is unknown.

NEW YORK.—Thomas A. Edison last night attended a testimonial banquet in celebration of his 70th birthday. A letter from President Wilson was read, giving rise to an impressive demonstration of patriotism.

CHICAGO.—Edward A. Cudahy Jr. has been selected by the United States district attorney as the first target for the government's contemplated onslaught on alleged income tax dodging millionaires and corporations. A summons was served on him to appear in court in answer to a government suit charging that he had made "false and erroneous returns and an understatement of income."

SHARE IN ESTATE.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last November my aunt died in Wisconsin and left no will. My brothers and I are the only living [1] lineal descendants, and according to law we are to share in her estate.

2. My mother filed a claim for one-third of her estate due to the fact that she was a sister-in-law of hers through marriage, but my father predeceased his sister, which does not entitle her to share in her estate.

3. Is there any danger of the court awarding my mother one-third of the estate?

4. If so, which steps would I have to take to stop it?

5. Can the administrator of the estate give her money and, if so, should she be compelled to return it?

F. T.

1. You would not be descendants of your aunt. We assume that she is in fact your aunt.

2. In general relatives-in-law do not inherit.

3. We see no basis for her to claim on the bare facts stated.

4. If new facts arise you should meet them as they arise.

5. He would do so at his own risk. The fact that these questions are being raised implies that additional facts may be involved. If a substantial amount is involved you should go over all of the facts in a personal interview with an attorney.

FROM AN OLD FASHIONED CITIZEN.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—I am only that hapless animal, a car owner who for no apparent reason bought his license sticker before Jan. 1. But if I might express what I think about L. H. R.'s bad luck in getting a ticket "for trying to obey the law" while parking in costly Wacker drive without a city license, it is three cheers.

No doubt it's old fashioned in these days when officials from the President down to the policeman on the beat are expected to "use a little judgment" in where to crack down and where to give a friendly wink. But it does seem to me that a little thought might be given, even to us saps who just dig down and pay our license fees and have to read for months afterward about all the "consideration" being demanded—and given, too, at the expense of us taxpayers!—to others who couldn't afford to pay theirs just yet on account of needing the money to throw an important party, or something.

After all, the city hall is still accessible by trolley, at 7 cents cost, to car owners who have not yet bought their license stickers. Why in the world should some feel entitled to get indignant and cry "racket" at the city's policemen, over just being expected to pay their taxes when due, like other people?

HARRIS K. RANDALL.

COMPARISONS.

Park Ridge, Ill., Feb. 7.—The article in the Sunday Graphic section on colds, by Johan A. Menaugh, is rather invidious to me in the part where he compares the cost of colds to the cost of battleships.

Instead of saying that colds cost a billion dollars a year, which would be thirty-seven battleships, why not say that a billion dollars would build a vast health research laboratory at a hundred million dollars, which sum could probably eradicate many diseases, and ten hospitals at 10 million dollars, and 16 universities at 50 million dollars?

Perhaps my figures on the cost of hospitals and universities are out of line, but think how much more good a billion dollars would be spent on humane projects than on destructive ones.

Menaugh's comparison seems to indicate the trend of thought in using war machines as a basis for comparing things.

TED DAY.

ETHICS, I.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—Your correspondent, Clericus, in perfectly swell and calm English, says that alcoholic drinking is neither bad nor good—that it is a matter of health, not morals.

He is being merely rhetorical, however. Visiting houses of prostitution is not immoral, either. But what is done within them is immoral. And, though drinking may not be immoral in itself, what it does to the drinker results in immorality.

R. H. T.

HAL FOUST FANS.

Galveston, Tex., Feb. 5.—We follow with interest one of your bumpy reporters, Hal Foust, now following a truck driver's dream around the country. We have also all his clippings of his trip to Mexico City and want to tell you how much we enjoy his articles. I say we, my other party being an 83 year old guest here who resides in Chicago at the Plaza hotel and spends her winters here in Galveston. She receives THE TRIBUNE every day.

DOWNING O. SMITH.

FOR CURBING THE COURT.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—President Roosevelt should be commended.

He has the courage, so rare even in Presidents, to refrain from going along with the system.

If A, B and C represented three separate branches of a club, each of which was not entitled to encroach upon the rights of either of the others, but nevertheless C should assume the power to determine his own rights and also the rights of A and B, and upon their protest should tell them that neither of them had any voice of authority in the matter and that if they should not comply with his orders he would cite them for contempt of court, unquestionably the club would not long tolerate such conduct on the part of C.

Ever since former Chief Justice Marshall and his associates assumed the power to determine what their own rights and also the rights of the executive and legislative branches of our government were, the United States Supreme court has continued to exercise such assumed power, and by reason of so doing has not had time to properly perform its duties otherwise. Therefore the court has had printed rules stating: "A review on writ of certiorari is not a matter of right, but of sound judicial discretion, and will be granted only where there are special and important reasons therefor."

For years the court has granted only about one out of fifty of the applications made to it for such writs.

Justices of the Supreme court of the United States over 70 years of age are not physically able to properly perform the duties imposed upon them.

HARRY W. STANDIDGE.

THE LONG VIEW.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—I wish to bring out a point which I believe is of vital interest in President Roosevelt's effort to pack the Supreme court.

While a majority of the people have been with him in the past, if he is allowed to pack the court now with men who favor his New Deal, their majority in the court will remain long after the President's term expires and his policies, possibly, are discredited.

FLORENCE RISSE.

SUGGESTION.

Chicago, Feb. 7.—I am offering as a suggestion that you print the names of the Illinois congressmen, and propose that citizens send telegrams or letters to them demanding that they vote against legislation to reorganize the Supreme court.

MARGARET B. WILEY.

THAT REMAINS TO BE SEEN.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Is it possible that there are enough denatured Americans in congress to give the incumbent of the White House power to pack the Supreme court with enough yes men to make him a dictator in fact if not in name?

C. A. G.

TROUSSEAU.

Evanston, Ill., Feb. 8.—Concerning the pitiful little 9 year old bride in Sneedville, Tenn., I wonder if it occurs to those who talk so much to do anything for the child? I am sending her some clothes, also a drawing book and colored crayons, with two picture books and a Mother Goose book.

"THIS DAY OF GIFTS is half way through
The month of February."
"I'll give them to my Valentine, Whom I expect to marry!"

"APPROACH THE DOOR to romance, lad,
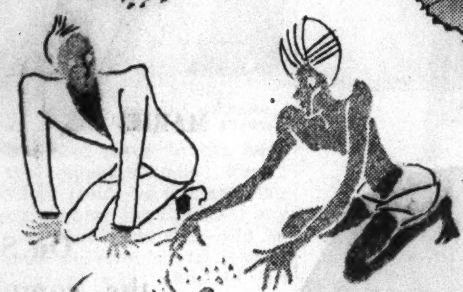
With gifts that will unlock it."
"I'm meeting her at eight tonight.
The ring is in my pocket."



"THE SAND FORETELLS
your heart's desire
Is well within your reach."
"How apropos! I met her
Just last summer on the beach!"

We have been such a very important part of the match-making business for so many years that we have developed a sixth sense about Valentine gifts. It is our observation that they must have more individuality, more imagination, more "je ne sais quoi!" than gifts for other days . . . These have been selected with just those things in mind. We confidently prophesy that any one of them—or any of many others just as acceptable—will mark you as being richly endowed with taste and discrimination.

"SHE LOVES ME, YES! She loves me, no!
Who started all this guessing?"
"With gifts from Field's, I'm KNOWING
That my sweetheart will be YESSING."

"YOU'RE VULNERABLE to hearts, young man,
Your palm's an open book!"
"Your Love is fair and sweet, young man,
But tell me: can she cook?"

"BE SURE TO BUY a gift at Field's—
It needn't be a sable."
"Then maybe I'LL be Tops, in lieu Of Taylor, Tone or Gable!"

"THE CARDS FORESEE
a handsome man
Who's tall and dark and steady."
"That isn't news to me because I've picked him out already!"

CONGRESS GETS JOB OF BLOCKING FUTURE DROUTHS

Roosevelt Outlines 'New Economy' for Plains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Congress tonight faced the task of transmuting President Roosevelt's plea for "a new economy" in the great plains area into legislation which will protect the belt of states east of the Rocky Mountains from disastrous future drouths.

Senator A. W. Barkley.

The task was laid before congress in a special message presenting a long range rehabilitation program prepared by the great plains drouth committee. The report and message offered no specific projects as a solution for the problem, but urged development of a general plan of federal, state and local coöperation to forestall future ravages in the ten states of the area parched by the drouths of 1934 and 1936.

Economy Must Be Readjusted.

"A new economy must be developed which is based on the conservation and effective utilization of all the water available, especially that which falls as rain and snow; an economy which represents generally a more rational adjustment of the organization of agriculture and cropping plans and methods to natural conditions," Mr. Roosevelt said in his message.

The whole subject of drouth on the great plains, the President said, dovetails into the studies made by the national resources committee in the larger aspect of public works planning. These studies were translated by the President into a five billion dollar six year program to offset future depressions in a special message submitted to congress a week ago.

Part of Works' Program.

Drouth relief would become a part of the program under which the President said about 500 million dollars a year would be expended on public works. Expenditures would be determined, in part, by federal officials at regional headquarters in various sections of the country who would survey the needs of their areas.

Senators Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] and Robert J. Buckley [D., O.] introduced a bill in the senate today to create seven federal "authorities" which, with the Tennessee Valley authority, would cover the entire United States.

Describing the proposal as a flood control measure, the sponsors said powers of the new authorities would be similar to those of TVA.

More Than a Relief Problem.

In his message Mr. Rosevelt said the drouth problem was not merely one of relief "of a courageous and energetic people who have been stricken by several years of drouth during a period of economic depression." He defined the problem as one of "arresting the decline of an agricultural economy not adapted to the climatic conditions" because of lack of understanding at the time of settlement of the area, and also the readjustment of that economy in the light of present information.

"Whatever program is adopted must be coöperative and will require complementary lines of action by the federal government, state governments and all the citizens of the region individually," the message concluded. "Each has material interests at stake and no longer can afford to defer constructive action; each has moral responsibility for unwitting contributions to the causes of the present situation; and especially each has responsibility for undertaking lines of action essential to the effectiveness of action by the others.

"The problem is one that can be solved, but the solution will take time. Therefore a policy should be determined, a long range program formulated and execution begun without undue delay."

Federal Program Outlined.

The report of the great plains committee, which held there is no simple solution for the problem, presented a three part program of federal, state and local action. The program of action suggested for the federal government follows:

1. A ten year program of additional investigations and surveys.
2. Continued acquisition of land in range areas with rehabilitation as the objective.
3. Measures to increase size of farms too small for efficient operation.
4. Development of water resources.
5. Resettlement within and without the region.
6. Compensation to local governments where federal land acquisition results in shrinkage of the local tax basis.
7. Control and eradication of insect pests.
8. Exploration of possibilities for developing other resources, such as vast lignite deposits to provide alternative occupation for some of the people in the area.

State Plan Similar.

Similar action was suggested for states with the addition of suggestions for legislation to permit formation of county soil conservation districts, encouragement of coöperative grazing associations, revision of the taxing system to take account of land income and assistance to farmers in meeting water problems.

For local coöperation the committee suggested crop rotation, creation of feed and seed reserves against dry years, conservation of moisture, supplemental irrigation, fuller utilization of springs and wells, planting of trees and shrubs as windbreaks and flexible cropping plans to permit adaptation of each season's crop to the amount of moisture in the land.

To Relieve Bad Cough, Mix This Recipe, at Home

Big Saving. No Cooking. So Easy.

You'll never know how quickly and easily you can overcome coughs due to colds, until you try this famous recipe. It gives you four times as much cough medicine for your money, and you'll find it the finest thing you ever tried, for real relief.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's no trouble at all. Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Add your syrup and you have a full pint of medicine that will amaze you by its quick action. It never spoils, lasts a family a long time, and tastes fine — children love it.

This simple mixture takes right hold of a severe cough. For real results, you've never seen its equal. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, famous for prompt action in coughs and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Planning Divorce

Mrs. Catherine Dale Owen.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Catherine Dale Owen, former stage and picture actress, is planning to file suit within a few weeks for a divorce from Milton F. Davis Jr. of New York City, it was learned today. Mrs. Davis is staying in seclusion at a mountain ranch.

Acclaimed as one of the ten most beautiful women in the world, Catherine Dale Owen achieved success on the stage and in the films between 1925 and 1930.

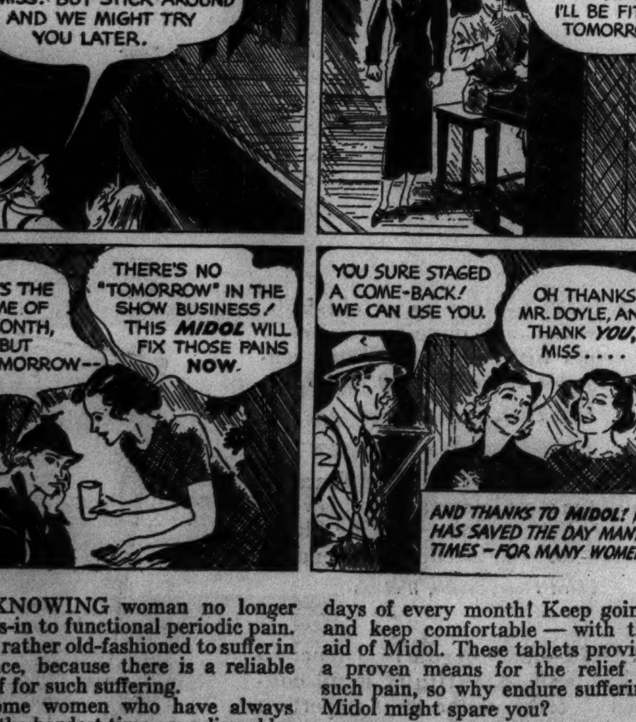
LOSES SIT STRIKE AND HIS WIFE, BUT WINS EASY CHAIR

Harry Stark, 5408 West 22d place, Cicero, yesterday abandoned his sit-down strike against his wife. But by terms of an agreement Stark was awarded his favorite easy rocker and bedroom suite with which to continue his relaxing.

Judge John C. Lewis of the Superior court awarded Mrs. Alice Stark, 26 years old, 1837 South 56th avenue, Cicero, an uncontested divorce on the ground of cruelty. She also was given the other furniture in their home, the silverware, half of a small bank account, and an engagement ring. Stark through his attorney, S. Edward Bloom, agreed to drop his cross bill, which sought alimony.

Attorney Victor Frolich, counsel for Mrs. Stark, accused the husband of sitting down at home until his wife supported him, going even so far as to picket their home to prevent removal of furniture pending action on the divorce bill.



TRY-OUT
CUT! BADLY OFF KEY, MISS. BUT STICK AROUND AND WE MIGHT TRY YOU LATER.
SORRY, MR. DOYLE; I'M JUST TOO MISERABLE TO SING. BUT I JUST KNOW I'LL BE FIT TOMORROW.
IT'S THE TIME OF MONTH, BUT TOMORROW--
THERE'S NO "TOMORROW" IN THE SHOW BUSINESS! THIS MIDOL WILL FIX THOSE PAINS NOW.
YOU SURE STAGED A COME-BACK! WE CAN USE YOU.
OH THANKS! MR. DOYLE, AND THANK YOU, MISS....
AND THANKS TO MIDOL! IT HAS SAVED THE DAY MANY TIMES—FOR MANY WOMEN.

A KNOWING woman no longer gives-in to functional periodic pain. It is rather old-fashioned to suffer in silence, because there is a reliable relief for such suffering.

Some women who have always had the hardest time are relieved by Midol.

Many who use Midol do not feel one twinge of pain, or even a moment's discomfort during the entire period.

Don't let the calendar regulate your activities! Don't "favor yourself" or "save yourself" on certain days of every month! Keep going, and keep comfortable — with the aid of Midol. These tablets provide a proven means for the relief of such pain, so why endure suffering Midol might spare you?

Midol brings quick relief which usually lasts for hours. Its principal ingredient has often been prescribed by specialists.

You can get Midol in a trim aluminum case at any drug store. Two tablets should see you through your worst day.

HUNT FOR BODIES OF 8 MORE LOST IN FLOOD REGION

Mississippi Still Menaces Downstream Areas.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The bodies of at least eight persons missing in flood stricken areas were sought tonight while danger from the Mississippi's record waters continued in the lower stretches of the big stream.

Another barge accident was blamed for the disappearance of two men near Tunica, Miss. The men, Thomas Henson of Raleigh, Tenn., and Daniel Mann of Brownsville, Tenn., who were working for the Red Cross, could not be found after a collision of a small boat with a barge on the Mississippi.

The bodies of four levee workers were still hunted in the big spillway near New Madrid, Mo., where a barge sank Jan. 30 with more than 100 men aboard. The recovery of two bodies yesterday brought the known death toll of that disaster to 26.

Fear Waves Swamped Boat.

At Harrisburg, Ill., the bodies of two Saline county deputy sherifs were sought after the body of Bob Hughes, Mitchellsville, Ill., farmer, who had been with them, was found floating in an inundated bottomland area two miles from Harrisburg.

The officers, Ezra Tolbert and Gilbert Healy of Harrisburg, had accompanied Hughes in an outboard motorboat on a trip with food for flood isolated Mitchellsville. It was supposed their boat was swamped by waves churned up on the backwaters by a strong wind.

Most points in the nation's flood zone were rapidly recovering from the water's damage and were planning to prevent a recurrence of the destruction.

Lift Edict at Cairo.

Residents of Cairo, Ill., streamed back into their saved city following revocation of the edict forbidding the return of about 10,000 persons evacuated when flood waters threatened to inundate the town. However, only self-supporting persons were permitted to return, and at their own risk.

Martial law was suspended in eight of the thirteen Ohio river counties in Indiana and about 500 of the 1,300 Indiana National Guardsmen were released from flood duty. Military rule was expected to be lifted from the remaining counties by tomorrow or Friday.

At Cincinnati the sixth and final huge electric generator among those put out of service by high water was back in operation today, enabling the city to aid flood stricken Louisville.

Red Cross headquarters in Washington announced that contributions to its flood relief fund now total $19,383,000.

Vote to Indict Receiver in $4,065 Embezzlement

Paul A. Weisse, 49 years old, 7912 South Bishop street, a real estate dealer, was reported named by the grand jury yesterday in a true bill charging the embezzlement of $4,065. Weisse had been receiver for an apartment building at 3032-58 West 55th street. He was appointed by Circuit Judge William V. Brothers in 1932, but was replaced early this year. On Jan. 15 he admitted his shortage to Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg.

$1—E. K.; Aspberg Anderson.
50 cents—"From a Friend."

In addition 10 checks payable to the Red Cross flood relief fund were received by the cashier of THE TRIBUNE. They will be forwarded to the Red Cross. They were:

$100—Wilson Steel and Wire company.
$54.40—Patients of the Edward sanitorium of Naperville.
$40.20—Employés of the Ace Laundry company; the Ace Laundry company [two separate gifts, each of that amount].
$30—Rich & France, Inc.
$10—Junior auxiliary to the B. M. Z. Woman's club; Bahia Fibre Broom Manufacturing company.
$3—Mutual Broom works.
$2—M. Jablan of Condersport, Pa.

These checks totaled $434.27.

BUSINESS MEN SEEK $118,000 IN BOY SCOUT DRIVE

Forty Chicago business men made plans yesterday for their campaign to raise $118,000 to carry on the program of the Chicago council, Boy Scouts of America. The total needed here is $163,000, of which $45,000 already has been guaranteed from the Community fund.

R. Douglas Stuart, president of the Scout council, informed the business men who attended a luncheon at the University club that Chicago now has 20,000 scouts, a gain of 2,000 over last year. These scouts comprise 637 troops, 141 cub packs, and 60 Sea Scout ships.

Approximately 20 per cent of the scouts and units are in areas classified by a University of Chicago study as having high rates of juvenile delinquency, Mr. Stuart said.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

DOES BLADDER IRRITATION WAKE YOU UP?

It's not normal. It's nature's warning, "Danger Ahead." Make this 25c test. Use buchu leaves, juniper oil, and 6 other drugs made into little green tablets, to flush out excess acids and impurities. Excess acids can cause irritation resulting in getting up nights, scanty flow, frequent desire, burning, backache, and leg pains. Just say Bukets to your druggist. In four days if not pleased your 25c will be refunded. Walgreen Drug Stores.

TRIBUNE SURVEY TRUCK HAS FIRST BRUSH WITH LAW

Arrested in Missouri for "Technical Violation."

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Joplin, Mo., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—THE TRIBUNE trafic survey truck crew was arrested today shortly after leaving St. Louis. We escaped a trial and a fine and costs of $32.50 only through the good will of the authorities, they said.

We are guilty, we were told, of a technical violation of the Missouri public service act, part of the growing system of rules and regulations that is complicating truck trafic in America. The police conceded that the charge might be difficult to prove if ably defended, and they added that they were in sympathy with the series of articles being published on this cross country tour.

The arrest was the first time the truck was stopped by police in 1,407 miles of highway travel from New York in 12 states and the District of Columbia. Fortunately we were not questioned east of the Mississippi river.

Officer Stops Truck.

Thirty-four miles west of St. Louis on United States highway 66 an official car passed us and parked a quarter of a mile distant. A uniformed driver with a star, Sam Brown belt, and holstered pistol got out and waved for us to stop. We learned later that he was Edward A. Gray, weight officer for the state highway department, one of a force of thirty assigned to police trucking.

After ten or fifteen minutes of questioning the driver, Vincent Glynn of New York, the officer was not satisfied that Glynn owned the truck and the load of sand bag ballast and a bit of second hand furniture. "The judge will want to hear your story," Gray said. "Follow my car."

Justice of the Peace J. W. Jahraus of the village of Pacific welcomed us into the front room of his cottage. He was not impressed by bills of sale as evidence of ownership.

"It's an easy and common subterfuge," he said. "It's used by all of the cheaters trying to avoid getting a public service commission permit to haul for hire."

"How Would He Get Permit?"

"If Mr. Glynn did not own his load," I asked, "how would he get a permit to cross Missouri?"

"He would have to be represented by an attorney who would make an application before the commission," the justice of the peace replied. "All licensed common carriers and contract carriers on his route would be notified. They would oppose issuance of the permit. It's to their interest that the owner of the load be forced to employ a public carrier to move his freight across Missouri. A good lawyer might get the permit in thirty days."

"And for him to travel without a permit and not owning his load?" I asked.

"He is subject to a fine of from $5 to $500," Mr. Jahraus said. "The usual penalty is $32.50, including the court costs."

I was granted the privilege of making a confidential statement not to be used against us in a trial. Then I told of the purpose of the trip—THE TRIBUNE's survey of highway trafic, regulations, safety and taxation as seen from the cab of a truck. Chief William Capps of the weight officers was called into the conference.

Calls Violation Technical.

"Your own statement could convict you," Chief Capps said, "but I appreciate that in a trial we would have difficulty getting this information into evidence if you stood on your constitutional rights and refused to give testimony that might incriminate you. The case could develop into a long and expensive trial that would serve no purpose. Your violation is a technical one. Your trip across the state is not taking business from trucks licensed by our public service commission.

"I can release you, but I can't give you a clean bill of health. I can't give you a passport across the state. You are liable to arrest and conviction as long as you are in Missouri."

Well, we'll be out of Missouri and in Kansas tomorrow.

Michigan Student Fined for Speeding in Outer Drive

Robert Kann, 18 years old, of Pittsburgh, a student at the University of Michigan, was fined $7 by Judge John Gutknecht in the Trafic court yesterday on a charge of driving his automobile 52 miles an hour in the outer drive near Center street on Monday. Dario L. Toffenetti, 48 years old, 535 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth, owner of the Triangle restaurants, was fined $14 for speeding at 55 miles an hour in Ridge avenue near Columbia on Saturday.

SALESMAN HELD AFTER CAR KILLS BERWYN WOMAN

Melvin Allan, 29 years old, 4454 Wilcox street, an automobile salesman, was held to the grand jury yesterday by the coroner's jury that investigated the death of Miss Adeline Stech, 23 years old, 3610 Highland avenue, Berwyn. Miss Stech was struck and killed by Allan's automobile as she was walking near her home on Tuesday.

Witnesses testified that Allan's car was traveling at least fifty miles an hour when it struck the woman, hurling her body 200 feet. Allan admitted taking a few drinks shortly before the accident.

Miss Blanche Brummerstedt, 26 years old, 11213 Hermosa avenue, a clerk, died in Holy Cross hospital last night of injuries suffered last Sunday night when she was struck by an automobile at 63d street and Damen avenue. The driver was Michael Branock, 28 years old, 7121 South Washtenaw avenue, a city fireman.

John McGillvery, 71 years old, 6218 Greenwood avenue, died in County hospital yesterday of injuries incurred on Sept. 6 while he was crossing 62d street near his home. He was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Allaway, 35 years old, 6220 Woodlawn avenue.

From Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday 118 persons had been killed in trafic accidents in Cook county, the coroner's office reported. The toll for Chicago alone in that period was 94 deaths and 2,221 injuries.

JAPAN REDUCES BUDGET; ARMY, NAVY TAKE CUTS

High Cost of Living Stirs Cabinet to Action.

TOKIO, Feb. 11 [Thursday.]—(AP)—Alarmed by soaring commodity prices and the high cost of living, Premier Senjuro Hayashi's cabinet today decided on a budget reduction of approximately 8½ per cent.

The cut brought the total estimates down from slightly more than 3,000,000,000 yen [$855,000,000] to approximately 2,770,000,000 yen [$789,450,000].

Finance Minister Toyotaro Yuki effected the reduction by a combination of outright cuts in certain national expenditures and postponements of others.

Army and Navy Accept Cut.

Even the army and navy, it was understood, were persuaded by the finance minister to accept a moderate reduction after Lieut. Gen. Gen Sugiyama, new war minister, raised strong opposition last night to the move to cut the army's huge budget.

The new finance minister argued that the fighting services might never succeed in carrying out their huge national defense program if commodity prices continued to soar.

It was understood the army and navy then agreed to accept a combined cut of approximately 40,000,000 yen [$11,400,000] in the form of postponed expenditures.

May Reduce Bond Issue.

It was considered likely the finance minister would succeed also in reducing the bond issue to cover national deficits from 1,000,000,000 yen [$285,000,000] to 800,000,000 [$228,000,000].

The cabinet agreed to cut proposed grants to local governments for adjustment of finances by approximately 150,000,000 yen [$42,750,000] and to slash 110,000,00 yen [$31,350,000] from general expenditures.

This savings of 260,000,000 yen [$74,100,000] may be increased to 270,000,000 [$76,950,000] after Finance Minister Yuki negotiates with the different ministries, it was stated.

Chinese Rule Periled.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Feb. 11 [Thursday].—China today was confronted with a government crisis on Japanese and communist issues, it was reported in Japanese circles. Japanese newspaper charged that the arrival of Dictator Chiang Kai-shek in Shanghai after a six weeks' vacation for recuperation from his kidnaping by Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang at Sianfu, Shensi province, was responsible for what they called a split within the Kuomintang's [government party] central executive committee.

One newspaper went so far as to say that Chiang probably will resign the presidency of the executive yuan in the row between powerful groups supporting and resisting Japanese influence.

Lists Pro-Japanese Group.

The newspaper Mainichi claimed that a pro-Japanese group led by Wang Ching-wei, former premier who returned last month after a year's sojourn in Germany, includes Gen. Ho Ying-chin, minister of war; Wu Ting-chang, minister of industry, and Chang Kai-ngau, minister of railways. This group favors, the paper alleges, cooperation with Japan.

The anti-Japanese group, headed by the Christian general, Feng Yu-hsiang; Sun Fo, son of the late Dr. Sun Yat-sen, and others, plans to submit anti-Japanese resolutions demanding the resignations of several high party officials who are too closely affiliated with Japanese activities, it is charged. Feng, it is said, advocates closer relations among China, Russia, Great Britain, the United States, and France, against the Japanese, Nazi, Italian Fascist bloc whose pressure in Nanking is feared likely to precipitate a civil war of the Spanish type.

ALFRED C. SMITH, AURORA BANKER, DIES SUDDENLY

Alfred C. Smith, receiver for the First National bank of Aurora, died suddenly of a heart attack while shopping in Aurora yesterday. He was 53 years old.

Mr. Smith was born in Hampshire, Kane county, and was graduated from Northwestern university. He had served as cashier for the First National bank of Marengo and as vice president of the American National bank of Woodstock. After the bank moratorium in 1933 President Roosevelt appointed him to the federal debt commission, from which he later resigned to become receiver for closed banks in Aurora, Elgin, Marengo, Hampshire and Sycamore.

Mr. Smith is survived by his widow, Melissa, four brothers and two sisters. He resided at 432 Iowa avenue, Aurora.

Mrs. Belle M. Fernald Funeral in Joliet Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Belle Matteson Fernald, 88 years old, who died in her Appleton, Wis., home on Monday, will be held in Joliet today. Mrs. Fernald was the daughter of Joel A. Matteson of Joliet, who was governor of Illinois from 1853 to 1857. She was the widow of Charles Fernald, whom she married after the death of her first husband, Adolphus Hugh Powell. She is survived by two children, Richard S. Powell and Mrs. Mary Matteson Lyster, both of Appleton.

Mrs. Blackstone's Sister Is Dead in Norwich, Conn.

Funeral services for Miss Ella M. Norton, sister of the late Mrs. Isabella F. Blackstone of Chicago, will be held in Norwich, Conn., tomorrow afternoon. Miss Norton died in her home in Norwich Tuesday. She was the last surviving close relative of Mrs. Blackstone, who died in 1928, and an heir to her $1,105,000 estate. Mrs. Blackstone was the widow of Timothy B. Blackstone, pioneer Chicago business man.

Japanese Empire 2,596 Years Old

Japanese yesterday began celebrating the 2,596th year of the founding of the Japanese empire by Emperor Jimmu Tenno. Here members of the Japanese Young Men's association are assembled before the gates of the imperial palace celebrating the event at a previous ceremony. Similar scenes were re-enacted yesterday.

ADMITS SLAYING AUTO SALESMAN; BEGS FOR MERCY

State Fights Plea; Demands Death.

In a desperate effort to evade the death penalty, Joseph Swanda, 30 years old, lanky Nebraskan farm hand, pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge that he murdered Sidney Adelman, Berwyn automobile salesman, and fled in a car that Adelman was demonstrating to him. The murder occurred in 1933.

Sidney Adelman. Judge Schwaba. Jos. Swanda.

That the effort may be unavailing was indicated when Judge Peter H. Schwaba in the Criminal court deferred sentence until Feb. 27, after a plea by Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan that Swanda be sentenced to death because of the cold-bloodedness of his crime. Mercy was asked by Swanda's attorney, Louis Gould, who declared that "the death penalty is not a deterrent to crime."

Fights "Mercy Route."

"The death penalty is a deterrent only when the courts impose it," Coghlan declared. "It is time for the Cook county courts to explode the theory that a killer can escape the chair by merely throwing himself on the mercy of the court.

"This was an especially wanton killing that has been paralleled only once before in the county's history. [Apparently he referred to the case of Harry Church, who was hanged for the murder of two automobile salesmen while they were demonstrating a car to him.] The state will not budge an inch from its demand for this defendant's death."

Body Found in Lonely Spot.

Adelman was slain by Swanda on Aug. 22, 1933. His body was found later in a lonely spot in North Riverside. Swanda fled on foot from Cicero policemen who sought to question him, dropping a suitcase containing identifying documents. These associated him with the crime when the bloodstained car was later found near by. He was arrested last Nov. 21 in Omaha, Neb., where he operated a small garage under the name of Joseph Sedlack.

From the stand yesterday Swanda admitted that he came to Chicago with a pistol and a set of Nebraska license plates "to get a car," but denied that he had intended to kill Adelman.

"Adelman struggled when I pointed the pistol at him," Swanda said. "In the struggle I pulled the trigger twice by accident."

Mrs. Mary Whiteside, 83, Dies in California Home

Mrs. Mary Frances Whiteside, 83 years old, a former Chicagoan, died in her home in Glendale, Cal., on Tuesday, friends here learned yesterday. She was the widow of H. R. Whiteside, for 40 years a member of the Chicago Board of Trade, who died in 1934. Mrs. Whiteside is survived by three sons, John M. Whiteside of Glendale, H. H. Whiteside of Oak Park, and P. J. Whiteside of Westchester, Ill., and a daughter, Mrs. Herbert A. Schryver of Chicago. Burial will be in Rockford, Ill., next spring.

Funeral services for Samuel J. Rahn, 60 years old, for the last 12 years manager of the Elgin Lumber company, will be held at 2 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel at 226 East Chicago street, Elgin. Burial will be in Bluff City cemetery. Mr. Rahn died suddenly on Tuesday in his home at 320 Lincoln avenue, Elgin.

Nation Celebrates

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Japan began today its celebration of the 2596th anniversary of the founding of the empire of Emperor Jimmu Tenno.

Japanese mythology records that the royal family of Japan descended from a dynasty of gods through the sun goddess, or Amaterasu O-mikami. Almost as legendary as the "age of gods" is the period beginning with the accession of Jimmu Tenno, first emperor, whose span is set at 660 to 585 B. C. Jimmu was the fifth in descent from the sun goddess, according to legend.

Jimmu Tenno was leader of the Japanese invasion of part of the islands which now make up the Japanese nation. Under him the invaders conquered the Ainos and other races they found on the islands of Kiushiu, Shikoku, and part of the main island, Hondu. Under subsequent rulers the native peoples were pushed farther and farther to the north until the area now known as Japan was entirely occupied.

Hirohito, the present monarch, is the 124th emperor, reckoned from Jimmu Tenno. He bears the title tenno [heavenly king] and is also known to his subjects as the tenshi [son of heaven].

BISHOP MOUZON DIES SUDDENLY AFTER CRUSADE

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Bishop Edwin Dubose Mouzon, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, died unexpectedly of a heart ailment at his home late today.

The 68-year-old churchman was a leading spirit in the movement toward unification of the three major branches of Methodism, and in his latter years saw rapid strides made in that direction.

Bishop Mouzon in 1928 strongly opposed the candidacy of Alfred E. Smith in the presidential campaign.

Bishop Mouzon was a vigorous opponent of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and of the modification of any of the prohibition laws.

COL. SIQUELAND FUNERAL HELD; BURIAL IN EAST

Funeral services for Col. Tryggve A. Siqueland, an executive of the First National bank and ranking reserve officer of the Sixth Corps area here, were held yesterday. A religious service in the United Evangelical Lutheran church of Oak Park was followed by a military funeral in Mount Olive cemetery. At the cemetery the commitment service was read by Col. Siqueland's brother, the Rev. Harold Siqueland of Glasgow, Mont.

The widow, Lovey, and two daughters, Alyce and Margo, will take Col. Siqueland's body by train today to Washington, D. C., for burial in Arlington National cemetery.

TRIBUNE'S WAR COLUMN REVIVES MEMORIES HERE

Survivor of Torpedo Attack Tells Story.

Recollections of war experiences crowded in on Leslie C. Atkins, 1210 Jarvis avenue, manager of the Chicago office of the Anchor Line, as he read THE TRIBUNE'S "Twenty Years Ago."

Atkins served in the British merchant marine throughout the war. He was aboard the Cassandra when she carried Canada's Princess Pat regiment to Europe in the late summer of 1914. Early in 1917 he had his first experience with a German submarine. That was when his ship, the S.S. California, was torpedoed off the Irish coast, as recalled in last Sunday's TRIBUNE.

"I had only one other experience with a submarine in spite of frequent passages through the danger zone," Atkins said. "That was when I trained the S.S. Alicia's seven inch gun on a U-boat that sent a Leland liner to the bottom less than half a mile away.

Three Companions Killed.

Atkins was just 20 years old, he said, when the California was torpedoed on Feb. 7, 1917. He was one of the four men in the purser's office at the time, and the only one of them to survive.

"It was exactly 9:17 in the morning when the Germans got us. Nine minutes later the California had disappeared. I found out later that there were two subs. The first one missed, but the second got us with a perfect hit.

"It wasn't necessary to sound any alarm. We were going along at a good 18 knots in a calm sea. Suddenly there was a terrific explosion. The ship seemed to leap into the air. Water carafes and everything loose in the cabin hit the ceiling.

Saves Ship's Papers.

Atkins grabbed the passenger list, the ship's articles, and his own discharge book and then hurried on deck. In the companionway he grabbed a life belt.

"I hurried to the starboard rail," he said, "and threw the papers to the one lifeboat that had been lowered on that side. The ship developed a terrific list. I saw there was no room for me in any of the boats, so I took a chance and jumped overboard.

"I was finally picked up by one of our boats. The subs remained with us for two hours until we sighted the smoke of the Delphinium, a British mine-layer. She landed us at Queenstown at 9 o'clock that night."

MRS. F. A. CARRIGAN WOMEN'S CLUB LEADER, DEAD

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. F. Alberta Carrigan, 68 years old, 2822 North First street, for many years active in women's club, schools, politics, social centers and Catholic church affairs, died at her home today. She was Democratic national committee woman from 1928 to 1932 and was a former president of the Milwaukee Women's club and of the Marquette Women's league. For 15 years Mrs. Carrigan taught parliamentary law in public school extension work and was parliamentarian at times for the Milwaukee County Federation of Women's Clubs, the Archdiocesan League of Catholic Home and School associations and the state chapter of American War Mothers. She taught in the Milwaukee grade schools for 10 years.

Former Laborer Dies; Head of Allegheny Steel Plant

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Harry E. Sheldon, who rose from a laborer to a place of prominence in the steel industry, died today. He was 75 years old. He and his father-in-law, the late Capt. Alfred Hicks, founded the Allegheny Steel company in 1900. Sheldon was president of that company at his death. He contributed to stainless steel making.

C. H. BOSWORTH DIES; ONCE HEAD OF RESERVE BANK

Charles Henry Bosworth, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago in 1914 and 1915, died in Evanston hospital yesterday after an emergency operation. He was 79 years old.

Mr. Bosworth was a first cousin of Charles G. Dawes and was born in the same city, Marietta, O. He was graduated from the Cincinnati Law school and practiced law in Cincinnati until 1882. He then entered the railroad field and held many positions, the last being the presidency of the Illinois Southern railroad in 1902. For several years he was president of the Peoples Trust and Savings bank of Chicago.

Mr. Bosworth was a member of the Union League club, the University club, the Evanston club, and the Glenview Golf club.

Surviving are his widow, the former Della Hammond, and two daughters, Mrs. Trevor Stamp and Mrs. Gordon Padley, both of London. Mrs. Stamp is the daughter-in-law of Sir Josiah Stamp, noted English economist. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in the home, with burial in Memorial Park cemetery.

John J. Reilly, Veteran Federal Employe, Dead

John J. Reilly, 1520 East 65th place, for thirty years an examiner of merchandise in the United States appraisers stores, 610 South Canal street, died yesterday in the St. Bernard hospital. He was 64 years old, having retired from the federal service several years ago. Six of his sons—Daniel, Lyle, William, George, Peter, and Richard—will serve as pallbearers for the funeral at 9:30 a. m. Saturday in St. Cyril's church. Also surviving are Mr. Reilly's widow, Martha, and another son, John, a Chicago policeman.

Fred Boyer, Window Shade Maker 56 Years, Is Dead

Fred Boyer, 4958 North Hoyne avenue, a manufacturer of window shades at 108 North Clinton street for the last fifty-six years, died yesterday in the Lutheran Memorial hospital. He was 77 years old. His wife, Frieda, died in 1925. They had no children. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday at the First English Evangelical church, 3062 Palmer square.

ASH WEDNESDAY DEVOTIONS MARK OPENING OF LENT

Bishop Stewart Heard at Noon Services.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Lent with its forty days of fasting for the members of many Christian denominations began yesterday. All during the forenoon and last night throngs of the devout made their way to Catholic, Episcopal, and other churches to make their Ash Wednesday communions or to attend evening devotions. Ashes were imposed on the foreheads of worshipers at Holy Name cathedral and other Catholic churches.

The 41st season of noon day Lenten services conducted by the Episcopal Church club opened yesterday in the Harris theater with Bishop George Craig Stewart the preacher. The largest first day attendance in many years was reported. Bishop Stewart outlined the religious significance of the railroad crossing warning, "Stop, look, listen." These words, he said, may be used as a Lenten theme.

Both Warning and Appeal.

"Stop, look, listen," said Bishop Stewart. "Warn against softness, smugness, self-indulgence, and self-satisfaction. Lent is an appeal for disciplined discipleship. It does not call merely to acts of self-denial, but to attitudes of self-fulfilment through self-knowledge, self-control, and self-surrender.

"Lent says that we are called to nobler life; to face Christ, face the needs of our neighbors and ourselves. For 40 days Lent pulls in our belts, bids us knit ourselves into unity and exercise our spiritual muscles."

Colorado Bishop Next Week.

Bishop Stewart will be the speaker in the Harris theater today and tomorrow. Bishop Irving Peake Johnson of Colorado will be the noonday speaker next week. Nearly 200 pastors from the Chicago area of the Methodist Episcopal church spent Ash Wednesday in a devotional retreat at the Garrett Biblical institute in Evanston.

ALDERMEN HEAR CITIZENS DEMAND BETTER TRANSIT

Street Cars Criticized; Feeder Buses Urged.

Demands for improved street car service and extensions of street car, bus, and elevated line facilities were made by representatives of civic and business organizations at a public hearing in the city hall yesterday.

The speakers appeared before the special transit subcommittee of the city council at the second of a series of hearings called to assist the committee in preparing a new franchise for the Chicago Surface lines. Ald. B. A. Cronson [4th] heads the committee.

Northwest Side Protests.

Heads of northwest side organizations were insistent that something be done to improve service and facilities in that territory.

Arthur E. Rex, 6228 Avondale avenue, chairman of the transportation committee of the Norwood Park Citizens' association, declared there is no means of fast transportation to the northwest side.

"It is a shame to force people to ride on Milwaukee avenue street cars," he said. "The people are put to a greater strain in those packed cars than they are in a half day's work."

Feeder Bus System Sought.

William C. Calvert, 1401 Rosemont avenue, secretary of the North Central association, urged a system of feeder buses in conjunction with surface and elevated lines as a means of improving facilities in that district.

Spokesmen for the northwest side criticized fares charged by the Chicago and North Western railway for the trip from Norwood park to the downtown section. On suggestion of Ald. James B. Bowler [25th], city transit engineers are to study present rates charged by the suburban line with a view to petitioning the state commerce commission for a reduction. It was stated that residents of the northwest side have to pay fares at the rate of 1.4 cents a mile compared with .7 of a cent a mile to Barrington.

Asks "Switchback" Inquiry.

Ald. Bowler, acting on complaints that surface lines cars were "switching back" without going to the end of their runs in accordance with schedules, asked city engineers to investigate and urged that the lines be forced to observe the city code forbidding switchbacks.

Most of the speakers at the hearing favored use of tracks of the suburban railroads serving Chicago for operation of rapid transit lines for city residents.

BANK IS ORDERED TO FILE DEFENSE IN SWEITZER SUIT

Judge Walter J. La Buy of the Circuit court issued a summons yesterday ordering the First National bank to present a defense to the counter-claim filed by the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company which provided surety for Robert M. Sweitzer while he was county clerk from 1910 to 1934.

The surety and Sweitzer are defendants in a suit in which the county seeks to collect $533,817, representing a shortage discovered in Sweitzer's account. Included in this sum is $54,458 interest on the statutory fee fund, one of the funds involved in the shortage, which Sweitzer had on deposit in the bank.

In an answer the county's suit, the bonding company on Monday set up the counter claim. It charged that unknown to the surety the bank and Sweitzer had made a private arrangement for payment of interest on the deposit to Sweitzer in the form of commissions. Sweitzer was allowed twenty days in which to file an answer to the counter claim.

KLEPTOMANIAC KILLS SELF.

Edwardsville, Ill., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Several hours before Albert Akring, 39 years old, called a kleptomaniac, was due to become the principal at a medical inquiry to determine his mental condition he ended his life by hanging in a cell in the city hall police station.

MEASURING CHICAGO'S NOISES

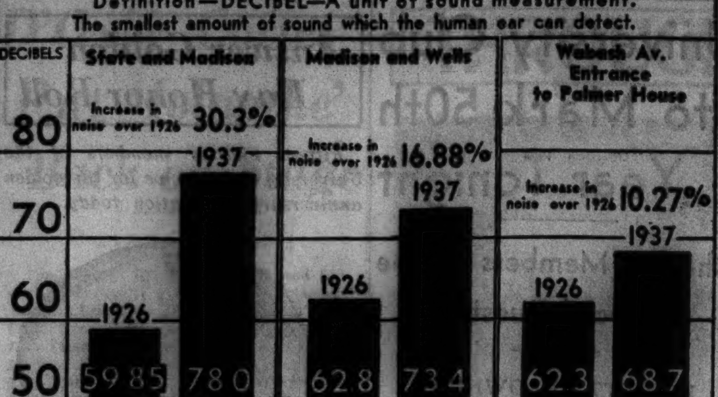

Chart illustrating the increase in noise at three points in the loop, giving the figures for 1926 and 1937 and the increase in percentage. The figures were computed by acoustical engineers of the Johns-Manville corporation who yesterday recorded the street noises at several key corners in the loop and compared them with previous recordings.

CHICAGO'S NOISE IS PAINFUL—EVEN TO A ROBOT EAR!

Find Big Gain in Din Over 10 Years.

Chicago's loop has so gained in loudness during the last ten years that the din now is measurably above the stage of comfort for citizens. This is the finding of a survey which has been conducted at five places in the loop with the aid of an acoustimeter. The acoustimeter is an instrument designed to measure sound in its relation to the human ear.

The survey was a private one conducted by the acoustical division of the Johns-Manville corporation. E. H. Scott, radio engineer, supervised, since the tests are made much in the manner of a radio broadcast.

Results of the survey were recorded preliminary to a more extensive inspection of Chicago's thunder, and will be submitted to the city council for comparison with the results of a similar survey conducted in 1926 by the C. F. Burgess laboratory.

Autos Quieter; Horns Louder.

From the two studies the engineers drew several conclusions: That while automobile engines are quieter than 10 years ago the horns are louder; that the elevated trains are noisier; that streamline street cars are approximately 75 per cent less noisy in apparent loudness than the older models, and that while State and Madison may be the world's busiest corner, it isn't the loudest.

Noise measurement is recorded in decibels. One decibel is known as the "threshold of audibility" and represents the smallest amount of sound the normal ear can recognize as sound. The top is about 120 decibels. Then noise is extremely unpleasant, and apt to be painful and to cause deafness.

Garbage Trailers Loudest.

Garbage trailers, for instance, rumbling over rough pavement beneath Wacker drive jump the acoustimeter needle to between 117 and 118 decibels. For comparison, 40 decibels mark the conversational range.

Two recordings were made by the engineers for each corner; an average minimum when the street was quiet and an average maximum when street cars and elevated trains or heavy trucks were passing. In 1926 only one recording was made. How the five surveyed street corners stand in relation to ear comfort is shown by the following table:

	Average maximum.	Average minimum.	1926.
Madison and Wells	73.4	59	62.8
State and Madison	78	57	59.85
Wabash entrance to Palmer House	68.7	56	62.3
Michigan avenue in front Wrigley building	66	55	54.2

Individual automobile horns would make the decibel reading jump from 7 to 28 points, the engineers found on Michigan avenue. At State and Madison the old style street cars caused a reading of 78 and of 88 at Madison and Wells, while the new cars at the latter point were recorded at 69.

COUNTY PAYS 27 VISITING JUDGES $37,632 FOR AID

Fees Are for Services in Last 13 Months.

Twenty-seven judges called from downstate counties to take over court dockets in the Circuit and Superior courts of Cook county during 1936 and up to Feb. 1 of this year received a total of $37,632.71 in fees and expenses, it was disclosed yesterday. Visiting judges are paid $20 a day and railway fare from their homes.

In most cases these judges were summoned to the county building to take the places of the regular Cook county judges who were ill or on vacation. Acting Chief Justice Walter J. La Buy in Circuit court declared the visiting judges had aided greatly in clearing congested dockets.

Seven Are Sitting Now.

A survey of the county building yesterday showed seven outside judges sitting in Superior court and seven others in Circuit court.

Downstate judges who served either in the Circuit or Superior court, their home town, and the amounts they received during the last thirteen months follow:

William G. Thomas, secretary of the Superior court, explained visiting judges are selected on their ability and the nearness of the home towns to Chicago.

MELROSE PARK JUDGE IS LOCKED OUT; CRIES PLOT

Head of Village Wants No Rival, He Says.

Louis Senese Jr., police magistrate of Melrose Park for the last twelve years, charged yesterday in a suit filed in the Superior court that Michael Sorvillo, president of the village board, and other village officials have barred him from his office. Their object, he said, was to force him to withdraw as a candidate for village president in opposition to Sorvillo at the election next April 20.

The bill asserted that after Senese withdrew last Monday as a candidate for reëlection as magistrate on the ticket of the Civic Welfare party, headed by Sorvillo, and became a candidate for village president on the People's party ticket he found his office in the village hall locked. Complaints to Sorvillo and Police Chief Arthur Leeseberg were of no avail, the bill charged.

Charges Plot to Annoy Him.

Senese further alleged in his bill that Sorvillo and other village officials agreed at a meeting on Feb. 2 to "harass and annoy" him in order to discourage him from running for office. Similar tactics, he charged, have been used to frighten other people from running for office in the village in the past.

The suit asked an injunction forcing the village officials to return Senese's courtroom and court records to him. The bill was filed by Attorney Guy C. Guerine, former village attorney.

Audit Needed, Is Reply.

Sorvillo, in a statement issued last night, said he and the trustees of the village agreed that there should be a complete audit of the magistrate's books before the campaign started. He said he ordered the doors of Senese's office locked so that the magistrate could not get at them before the audit.

"The village will welcome any court action that Magistrate Senese intends to bring," Sorvillo said.

G. O. P. Ward Contest Held a Tie; Winner Up to Party

After completion of a recount County Judge Jarecki ruled yesterday that the contest for Republican committeeman of the 15th ward last April 14 ended in a tie between Michael A. Ruddy and Richard De Koker, with 2,145 votes each. Official returns had named Ruddy the winner by three votes. Judge Jarecki refused a suggestion that the two men flip a coin for the position, saying it was a matter for the party to decide.

BLAMES DOCTOR IN POISON CASE; SERVANT HELD

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A prominent Westchester physician, and not Chang Soo Lee, Korean house servant, was responsible for the poisoning of Mr. and Mrs. George Reeves, the defense charged today in its opening statement to the jury trying Chang in White Plains on a charge of attempted murder.

The defense attorney, Charles D. Lewis, told the jury that "Chang has refused to confess for the simple reason that he is not guilty."

"I will show you who is responsible for the poisoning," he added, and named the physician who attended the Reeves couple and treated them for several months.

"I do not say he did it purposely," the lawyer continued. "All I say is he did not know what he was doing. He injected into these people, by a hypodermic needle, a solution containing between 30 and 40 per cent arsenic. Here's the prescription."

Irritation soothed, healing promoted by using effective, mildly medicated
CUTICURA SOAP and OINTMENT

IF COLD is in YOUR CHEST do this now!

Before you go to bed rub Penetro on your chest and throat, then apply hot cloth. Relief quickly follows because Penetro is stronger, contains 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve.

And because Penetro has a base of mutton suet, it conserves and concentrates body heat to enable this stronger medication to help nature break up congestion. The aromatic vapors of Penetro also help to relieve stuffiness and soothe the inflamed area. Ask your druggist for Penetro, 25c, 35c, 60c and $1 jars.

IF COLD IS IN YOUR HEAD

Try the famous "2-drop treatment" of Penetro Nose Drops. Just 2 drops in each nostril and you feel relief. Quickly, the ephedrine that Penetro Nose Drops contain, together with other perfectly balanced medication, spreads throughout the nasal passages to soothe the inflamed area and to reduce the redness and swelling of the mucous membranes. Ask your druggist for Penetro Nose Drops, 25c, 50c and $1 bottles. Try a bottle today.

PENETRO and PENETRO NOSE DROPS are products of Plough, Inc., makers of St. Joseph Aspirin.

Seagram's FINE WHISKIES SINCE 1857

Keep fit now, and
You'll feel better in your Middle Years

Conserve energy. Avoid late hours, rich food, overstrain ... If you drink, choose the form of whiskey that is best for you. Use it sensibly.

A recent study of the after-effects of whiskey on average men indicates that fine blended whiskey, such as Seagram's Crowns, is the form of whiskey that is best for you.

It was found that moderate use of Crown Blended Whiskies by a group of normal men had no appreciable effect upon sleep, appetite, or mental and muscular efficiency next day.

This is the verdict of a great psychologist after studying the reactions of these men over a period of 41 days ... 984 hours of work.

The 5740 records now in our files suggest that men who like whiskey in moderation—at bars and in their own homes—will find rich-tasting Crowns kind to them, best-suited to modern daily life. Try Crowns yourself, and see.

NO LACK OF VIGOR OR ENERGY AFTER CROWNS—Records for days following moderate drinking of Crown Whiskies the preceding evening, showed energy and vigor not noticeably affected in the case of Mr. A. A. "PARALLELED REGULAR SLEEP" AFTER CROWNS—After normal drinking of Crown Whiskies the preceding evening, the men in the Research Group slept without unusual disturbance or restlessness. Sleep paralleled regular sleep, as proved by somnokinetograph—a machine attached to the bed for measuring sleep movements.

BORROWED books seldom leave a trail behind, but a book borrowed twelve years ago in Paris was located—in Winnetka. It was at a post performance party for Alyse Sandor, Chicago girl who made her Chicago debut in a recital of Hungarian songs and dances at the Auditorium hotel. Among the guests was George Slocombe, English novelist and biographer, who is in the United States lecturing. Another guest was Mrs. Dorothy Gottlieb of Winnetka. Conversation developed that Mr. Slocombe had known Mrs. Gottlieb's brother, Frederick Kuh, in Europe.

"Are you Fred Kuh's sister?" the Englishman asked. "Then you must have my first edition of 'Ulysses,' he added, after her affirmation. "I lent it to him in Paris in 1924, and he told me later his sister in Chicago had it."

The upshot of the matter was that Mr. Slocombe made her a present of the book on the spot.

PLANS for the celebration of Knox college centenary celebration, Feb. 14 and 15, have given rise to an anecdote of the early days of the college. It was founded the same year Victoria came to the throne, but it is not recorded that George Washington Gale and Sylvanus Ferris, Knox founders, paid much attention to that event. However, some nine years later Nathan Olmstead Ferris, son of old Sylvanus, sailed for England with twenty barrels of popcorn. He hired a hall and popped it for the London public, which probably was more astonished than it has been since Raleigh smoked his first pipe. Then, by invitation, he popped it for the queen and her prince-consort. Ferris, if the story may be believed, gave the queen a barrel of corn to pop in the palace, but Prince Albert wanted more than that. He wanted to know how to raise this magic corn in England.

Symphony Manager Calls Dickstein Bill Menace to Programs

It will be impossible for the Chicago Symphony orchestra to present soloists of the highest artistic caliber if a bill sponsored by Representative Samuel Dickstein [D., N. Y.] becomes law, said H. E. Vogeli, business manager of the orchestra, yesterday. He urged the city's music lovers to voice their opposition to the measure at a hearing to be held in Washington next Wednesday.

The proposed law provides that no foreign musicians, singers, actors, or dancers shall be admitted to the United States so long as there are American artists to take their place, nor shall such artists be admitted unless an American artist is admitted to the country of their origin.

"The Chicago Symphony orchestra has taken the lead in encouraging American talent for the last 35 years," said Vogeli. "At present we simply do not have enough first rate American artists to fill our programs, and only a handful with sufficient talent to command European contracts."

Eggs Acquire Gala Dress on Meatless Days

Are Nutritious Factors in Lenten Menus.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Eggs are economical and plentiful, rich in vitamins and in organic iron. They help to build bodily resistance to disease and they supply a valuable protein necessary to health. These are only a few reasons for emphasis on eggs. And since they often may pinch-hit for meat and may be prepared in a hundred and one intriguingly appetizing ways, there is added reason for keeping the refrigerator egg stocked during the meatless days of Lent.

Scalloped potatoes and eggs with cheese will fill a meatless menu gap admirably. This dish is easily prepared and is good eating, too.

Scalloped Potatoes and Eggs with Cheese.

[Serves six.]
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced
3 medium potatoes, sliced
1 cup grated cheese
4 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
Sprinkling of pepper
Buttered crums

Slice the potatoes and cook slightly in boiling salted water. Drain and place in alternate layers with the sliced eggs in a buttered baking dish. Top and bottom layers should be potatoes. Pour over the potatoes and eggs a cheese sauce made by adding the grated cheese to a white sauce combined from the other ingredients. Top with buttered crums and bake in a hot oven [400 degrees] until brown. This will require about half an hour.

Japanese platter is a full meal egg dish which substitutes for both meat and potatoes, and takes care of the vegetable situation pretty well, in addition.

Japanese Platter.

[Serves six generously.]
1 cup uncooked rice
6 tablespoons melted butter
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup cooked or canned peas
½ cup diced cheese
6 eggs

Cook the rice until tender in boiling salted water. As rice triples its volume in cooking, this will make about three cups of cooked rice. Drain the rice and mix it with the butter, salt, peas, and cheese. Spread on a buttered ovenproof platter. Make six wells in the surface of the rice combination, and drop a raw egg into each. Bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees] until the eggs are firm. This will require 15 minutes or less. Garnish the platter with parsley and sliced stuffed olives.

Eggs may be similarly baked in mashed potato or spinach nests. The addition of a little sieved pimiento to the mashed potatoes, and of a white sauce to the spinach in which the eggs are cooked, makes the dish more interesting.

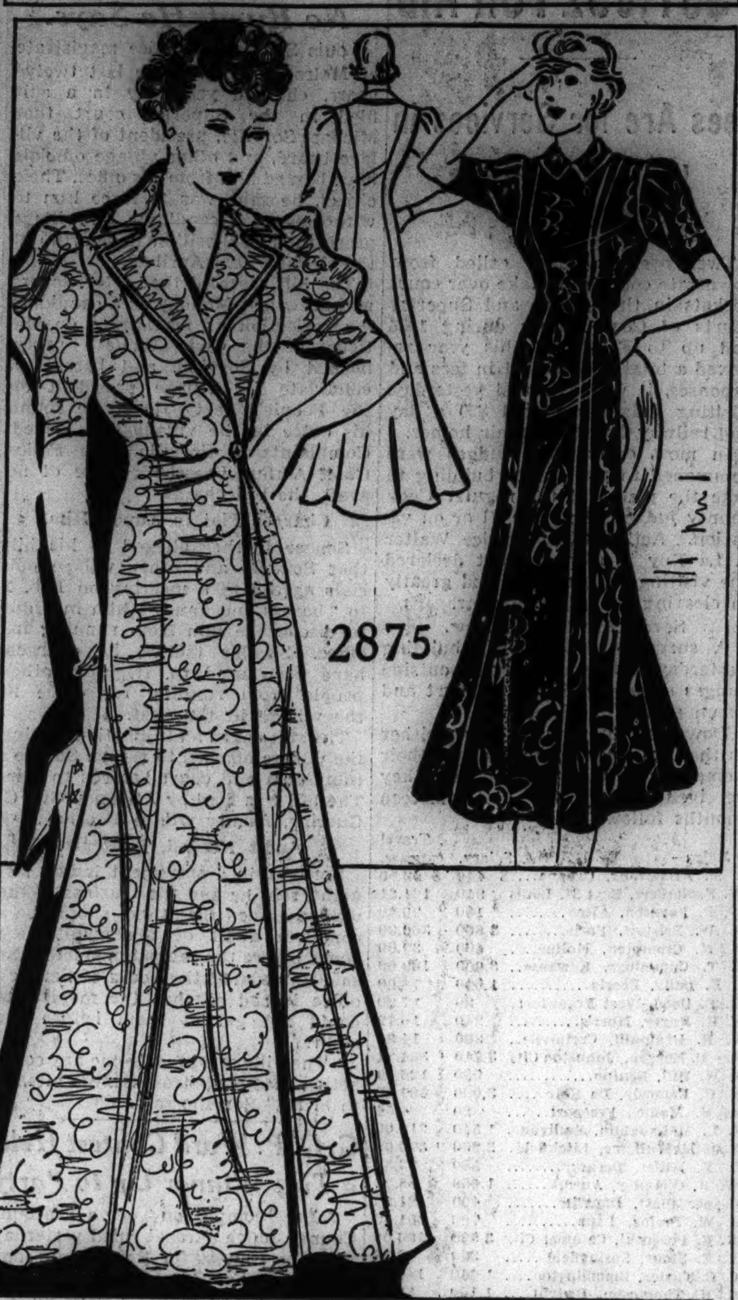
Eggs baked in individual ovenproof glass cups immersed in water are attractive and appetizing. Usually baked eggs are sprinkled with seasonings and topped with cream. Grated cheese and sifted bread crumbs may be added, if the eggs are to be served as a luncheon main dish.

Scrambled Eggs with Tomatoes.

[Serves four.]
4 medium tomatoes, sliced thickly
Flour, salt, pepper
Butter for browning tomatoes
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup milk
6 eggs
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Parsley

Season the tomato slices and dredge them in flour. Brown in butter on both sides and remove to a hot platter, placing them around the edge as a border. Scramble the eggs in the same pan in which the slices were browned. First add the flour to the butter in the pan and smooth it to a sauce with the milk. Add the eggs, which have been seasoned and slightly beaten and scramble over a medium fire. Heap the scrambled eggs in the middle of the platter and sprinkle chopped parsley over them.

Pattern for Three Garments



WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOUSE COAT.

You can't complain that this pattern isn't useful! Would you believe it? It may be used for a house coat, evening wrap, or beach coat. The ultimate function of the garment depends upon the fabric selected. The pattern is designed to flatter all types of figures, too, since it makes willowy silhouettes appear even more willowy, and lends an illusion of tall slenderness to figures which have a tendency to be plump. The lines are princess, and do just worlds for the silhouette and chic. The waistline is slim and fitted. The hips have just the right styling, and the skirt swooshes elegantly. The neckline may be low, rever fashion [and the revers are delightfully wide], or it may be high with a small collar as illustrated in the sketch at the upper right. The sleeves may be long or short [short for the house coat and long for the beach and formal garments]. They puff in peaks at the top and gradually acquire a distinctive fit below the elbow, or just above it, if the sleeves are the short variety.

A dressmaking chart which accompanies the pattern makes sewing this garment a snap.

Style No. 2875 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 6⅝ yards of 39 inch material.

ENGAGEMENTS

From Porto Rico comes the announcement of the engagement of Senorita Carmen Eudoxia Hernandez, daughter of Senor and Senora Justo Hernandez of Aquadilla, Porto Rico, to Ralph D. Mancinelli, son of Mrs. Eugene A. Mancinelli of Wilmette. Senorita Hernandez is a graduate of the University of Porto Rico and has just completed a postgraduate course at the National College of Education in Evanston. She is now on her way home to Porto Rico, where her fiancé will join her for a short visit next month. He is a graduate of Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fidler, 2719 Blaine place, announce the engagement of their niece, Miss Martha Weil, to Paul Herbert Cristol, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cristol, 3054 Wilson avenue.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Betty Louise Kerns, daughter of A. H. Kerns, 1540 East 67th place, to Earl B. Conant, 15521 Myrtle avenue, Harvey, son of Earl D. Conant. Mr. Conant was graduated from St. John's Military academy and attended Northwestern university. The wedding will take place early next fall.

University Club to Mark 50th Year Tonight

Charter Members to Be Special Guests.

BY BETTY BROWNING.

At the University club this evening 600 members will gather at a dinner commemorating the founding of the club 50 years ago today. For the golden jubilee Cathedral hall's Gothic walls will be lined with giant gold and white banners bearing the club seal, and against this background 40 members with the aid of lantern slides will reënact the club's history while Secretary Charles O. Rundall rereads the minutes since the first entry Feb. 8, 1887.

Several of the fifteen surviving charter members who will be present, as well as other older members, will have the experience of seeing themselves depicted in the earlier of the eight historical episodes to be recreated. Charter members will be introduced each with an appropriate accompanying song by the chorus—Charles I. Sturgis, William B. McCluer, Judge Martin M. Gridley, Carter H. Harrison, George S. Payson, William B. McIlvaine, Charles Norman Fay, Charles Ripley Webster, Nathan Grier Moore, Irving K. Pond, Judge Russell Whitman, Robert W. Hamill, Henry A. Knott, John V. Farwell, and Heyliger A. de Windt.

Mr. de Windt, as the sole surviving incorporator of the club and its first secretary, will make the only speech of the evening, although there will be a brief introduction by President Homer H. Cooper, who has written and directed the anniversary program.

Climaxing the evening will be Gardner Brown's presentation of a gold seal inscribed "In Honor of the Charter Members—1887-1937" on behalf of the 500 members under 35 years of age. This seal is to be placed on a wall in Cathedral hall. Mr. Brown is the grandson of one charter member and the greatnephew of two others.

The first episode on the program, in which Mr. de Windt, George F. Harding, Charles E. Pope, William Eliot Furness, H. M. Hubbard, F. I. Carpenter, and W. M. Le Moyne figure, concerns a committee meeting at the Union League club on Feb. 8, 1887, when steps to form the club were taken.

Three days later, on Feb. 11, Allison V. Armour, W. M. Le Moyne, Granville W. Browning, and Mr. de Windt took out a charter to form a club for "the promotion of literature and art, by establishing a library, reading room, and gallery of art, and by such other means as shall be expedient and proper for such purposes."

Slides will show Chicago landmarks of that period, including the Grand Pacific hotel where the organizing meeting, also dramatized in an episode, was held Feb. 15, 1887. Within a month 315 members were elected to membership. Amusing reference is made to the rats and "the odor of mild decay" recalled by Judge Whitman as drawbacks of the club's first quarters on the third and fourth floors of a building on Dearborn street where the Boston store now stands.

Rats followed the club when it took over the Hansen building at what is now 30 North Dearborn street in 1890, and Lulu, a gigantic Norwegian rat, will figure in a slide as well as in an episode dramatizing this period.

The financing of the club's move to its present clubhouse at Michigan avenue and Monroe street is dramatized in a conversation between John P. Wilson and William C. Boyden, in which the former's grandson, John P. Wilson III., and the latter's son, William C. Boyden Jr., take part.

Martin Roche's conference with the club committee on his plans for the present Gothic structure are the subject of another episode, in which Arthur T. Aldis, Frederic C. Bartlett, George S. Isham, Thomas D. Jones, George Higginson, and Hugh J. McBirney figure as committee members. A scene in which Mr. Bartlett's designs for the stained glass windows in Cathedral hall were chosen follows.

The cartoon drawn by John T. McCutcheon showing the members celebrating their move to the present building in 1909 will be thrown on the screen. One of the final episodes is a dugout scene at the close of the world war, in which 1,016 members were actively engaged.

Answer Golden Day Honor Roll

[Koehne Photo.]

Heyliger A. de Windt, retired shoe manufacturer, last surviving incorporator and first secretary, will make the only speech at the anniversary dinner tonight.

[Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

Charles Norman Fay, early Chicago utilities executive and author, a charter member, has memories of the days when the club quarters on Dearborn street had to contend with rats and "the odor of mild decay."

[North Shore Photo.]

Judge Martin M. Gridley has seen the club grow from a meeting room at the old Grand Pacific hotel to its present Gothic structure at Michigan avenue and Monroe street.

Hotel Women to Mark Anniversary at Dinner

The Chicago Hotel Women's association, believed to be the first organization of women hotel employés ever formed, will hold a dinner Feb. 23 at the Congress hotel, celebrating their 16th anniversary. Mrs. Georgia A. Hunt, executive housekeeper of International house, is president of the group.

When Arching Brows Please Think of Face

Other Features Important to Line Selected.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

When you meet a woman with beautifully arched eyebrows, then, if ever, you realize what an asset they are. Then, too, you begin to wonder why girls still are found trying to make their eyebrows into molds that have nothing to do with the rest of the face. We had just finished raving about a magnificent pair of eyebrows the other day on a striking brunette, when one of those brittle blondes came along, proving our point that nature can't always be improved upon.

If you'll study eyebrows, as we like to do just for a pastime, you'll be startled at the manner in which they check up with character. There invariably is a cheapness about the girl throughout her dress, her speech, her manner, who still goes in for the queer skinny line, shooting off unexpectedly as nature never defined. Her hair is too tinted, her clothes a bit too loud, anyway not with that fine taste that demands that dress speaks no louder than the wearer.

Common mannerisms invariably are present. Or, such is the result of my observation. Even among the so-called movie beauties whom I have interviewed I have noted this same phenomenon of eyebrow taste and other taste coinciding. But don't take our word for it. Study it yourself. I have a theory about the eyebrow line drawn too thin and too long which invariably accompanies the hair that is over-bleached. It's similar, in a way, to overuse of a perfume, except with the scent it is the nose that is dulled. In the hair and eyebrow overdoing, it is the eye that has lost its sense of discretion.

But, as you may argue, all eyebrows can't remain as nature planted them. To which we heartily agree. If there is an aid known to give them added value, by all means use it, but with conservatism in mind, not going to extremes. Conservatism rather than a daring extreme should be exerted in every instance of improvement on nature. Women certainly observe conservatism in their use of cheek rouge now. The same goes for eyebrow improvement.

If eyebrows, for instance, are too close together, giving the eyes that closely set look, by all means widen that gap with plucking or other means of their disposal. We've just seen a remarkable improvement made in a young girl by widening this space over the nose bridge.

Knight's Star.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Knight's Star" is an old pieced block, representing in quilt form the star of an order of chivalry. The finished quilt is as handsome as the title indicates. A combination of printed and plain materials is used to bring out the richness of this particular star pattern. The quilting of the star in outline does much to add to the charm and beauty of the block. A feather swirl quilted in the square, formed by joining the four blocks, is the only quilting design to be used.

Tavern Party Sunday to Be for President

Boyden Retires After 3 Years in Office.

BY JUDITH CASS.

NEXT Sunday morning's breakfast at the Tavern will be a special one, for it will be given to compliment the popular retiring president, William C. Boyden. For three years Mr. Boyden has been the club's chief officer, but now he is turning over the presidency to Alfred MacArthur, who was elected at the annual meeting last Monday night.

Alfred Shaw is first vice president; John Wentworth, second vice president; William P. Welsh, third vice president; Charles Collins, secretary; Frank P. Breckinridge, treasurer, and John S. Cromelin, assistant treasurer.

Graham Aldis, Mr. Boyden, Noel L. Flint, Charles Daniel Frey, John A. Holabird, Harold M. Keele, Philip B. Maher, Joseph T. Ryerson, and John R. Winterbotham are the new governors. Knight C. Cowles is chairman of the house committee, Walter S. Frazier of the publicity committee, and Andrew N. Rebori and Edgar Miller are co-chairmen of the entertainment committee.

Preston Boyden will head the library committee this year; Robert C. Orr, the finance committee; Wirt Morton, the membership committee, and John W. Root, the art committee. At the Sunday breakfast members and their guests will toast the retiring president in champagne punch, which will be served from a huge bowl in the lounge.

English Visitor Will Arrive Tomorrow.

Mrs. Amory Perkins of Boston and Miss Doreen O'Brien are arriving from New York tomorrow for a week's whirl in Chicago as the guests, respectively, of Mrs. Donald M. Ryerson and Mrs. Howard Linn. It is Miss O'Brien's first visit to America. She stopped at Nassau on her way from London, where her father, Sir Thomas O'Brien, now makes his home instead of in his native Ireland.

Mrs. Linn hunted in England with Miss O'Brien last year, and Mrs. Perkins and Miss O'Brien hunted together in Ireland three years ago, so it will be quite a reunion for them and Mrs. Ryerson, who also follows the hounds. Mrs. Ryerson will give a dinner for the visitors tomorrow night, and on Saturday they will go to Lake Forest.

William E. Clow Jr. will be their dinner host Saturday night, and on Sunday the horsewomen will change sports for a day to play tennis on the indoor courts of Mrs. Linn's brother and sister-in-law, the William McCormick Blairs, following luncheon there. Mr. and Mrs. Linn will give a dinner for Mrs. Perkins and Miss O'Brien next Wednesday night.

Rodormer Wedding Plans Complete.

Miss Ruth Rodormer has returned, after visiting the family of her fiancé, Douglas Burr Robinson, in Minneapolis last week. Plans for her wedding have been completed. The ceremony will be performed the evening of April 10 at St. Mary's Episcopal church in Park Ridge, with a reception following at the Park Ridge Country club.

Miss Rodormer's sister, Mrs. Charles F. Elmes, will be her matron of honor, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. Winston Rodormer, will be a bridesmaid. Miss Gretchen Hauschild of Minneapolis, who was at Ogontz with Miss Rodormer, will be another bridesmaid, and Miss Kathleen Sturgis of Mansfield, O., also a former schoolmate, Mrs. Harry L. Robinson of Minneapolis, Mr. Robinson's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Frederick Stafford, the former Marjorie Robinson, will complete the list of Miss Rodormer's attendants.

Mr. Robinson will have his brother, Harry L. Robinson, as best man. E. Winston Rodormer and Charles F. Elmes will be the only Chicago ushers. Miss Rodormer and her fiancé have taken a house near Lake Minnetonka outside of Minneapolis. They will go to the West Indies on their wedding trip.

Woman's Athletic Club to See Danish Films.

At 11 o'clock this morning at the Woman's Athletic club K. V. Hansen will show colored movies of Denmark. Mr. Hansen is connected with the Berlingske Tidende in Denmark, one of the oldest newspapers in Europe.

Among those who have made reservations for luncheon following Mr. Hansen's talk are Mrs. Frederick M. Schmidt, Miss Eloise ReQua, Mrs. Edwin W. Sims, Mrs. Harry L. Street, Mrs. James E. Bennett, Mrs. Carl A. Birdsall, and Mrs. Frank Murray.

D'Oyly Cartes Put 'Iolanthe' Back on Stage

"IOLANTHE."

Comic opera by W. S. Gilbert and Sir Arthur Sullivan; given in the Erlanger theater Feb. 10, 1937, by the D'Oyly Carte Opera company of London.

Lord Chancellor	Martyn Green
Earl of Mountararat	Darrell Fancourt
Earl Tolloller	Derek Oldham
Private Willis	Sydney Granville
Stephon	Leslie Rands
Queen of the Fairies	Evelyn Gardiner
Iolanthe	Elisabeth Nickell-Lean
Celia	Ann Drummond-Grant
Leila	Ivy Sanders
Fleta	Kathleen Naylor
Phyllis	Brenda Bennett

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

"Iolanthe," in which W. S. Gilbert's light satire dealt with fluttering fairies, haughty peers, and the British parliamentary system, was presented last night in the Erlanger theater by the admirable D'Oyly Cartes as the second in their repertory of seven operas.

In modern Gilbert and Sullivan revivals this charming fantasy is a fairly rare item; it has not been weatherbeaten in service like the "big three" of "The Mikado," "The Pirates of Penzance," and "H. M. S. Pinafore"; and therefore it has an air of freshness and novelty. Gilbert and Sullivan fanatics of the higher degrees often cite it as their favorite section of the ritual.

The D'Oyly Carte production of this lyric whimsy is a fine example of mellow stagecraft. The Arcadian landscape of the first act is a lovely English pastoral, and the yard at Westminster of the second act, giving a night view of the parliament buildings, is an impressive London nocturne. This organization stages its classics with pictorial richness, and dresses their characters with fine taste in the art of costume. These performances are as impressive in their visual appeal as they are in the department of lyric acting.

"Iolanthe" gives Brenda Bennett her Chicago debut in the title rôle. She is the youngest of the principal singers, and is Canada's gift to the D'Oyly Carte company. She has personal charm; she is as pretty as her predecessor in the rôle, Muriel Dickson, and she is vocally adequate to the graceful numbers which are assigned to the Arcadian shepherdess and ward in chancery.

Leslie Rands, an elegant figure in the Georgian court costume that is the tradition for the sprightly hero and half-breed fairy, Strephon, gives his customary finished performance. Martyn Green, whose versatility in character is impressive, dodders about wittily as the Lord Chancellor. Evelyn Gardiner, another addition to the company since last year, is much more effective as the robust fairy queen than she is Katisha in "The Mikado."

Derek Oldham and Darrell Fancourt have the important rôles of Lords Tolloler and Montararat; they are both admirable singers and adept Gilbertian actors. The latter's singing of "Glorious Days," as stirring a patriotic ballad as ever was composed, although its wards are of the debunking order, is one of the high points of the performances. Private Willis of the Grenadier Guards, a notable figure in the Gilbertian gallery, is stanchly interpreted by Sydney Granville.

"The Gondoliers" will be added to the repertory tonight, and will be repeated tomorrow night.

The federal [WPA] theater project announces that it will open its production of Martin Flavin's play, "The Old, Good Old Sumertime," in the Blackstone theater on Friday night, Feb. 19.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Portrait of a lady shampooing her way out of dandruff difficulties. It's an easy and speedy matter with a shampoo that is dandruff remover and a cleansing agent as well.

We tried out a marvelous shampoo not long ago. It's a good friend to woman, especially if said woman has hair that's never quite clean looking, with flecks of dandruff destroying its luster and her general grooming. It's not new; been on the market for a long time, but after seeing what it does for the crowning glory we think it needs to be called to your attention.

This is a shampoo specially compounded for use on dandruff infested scalps; its purpose is to dissolve the dandruff and to cleanse at the same time. It's really remarkable, we think. One application is all you need for each shampoo.

It's unlike other liquid shampoos in this: The hair is not wet when it's applied. The bottle has a shaker top and the idea is to shake out enough, directly to the scalp, to moisten the hair thoroughly. Then, still without using water, you rub the scalp with all the vigor your elbows and wrists can muster until the foam disappears and the hair feels quite sticky to the touch.

Then dash on water—just a little at a time—and work up a lather. It will foam up beautifully. Keep on adding the water and brush off the lather as it comes. When the lather is removed set about your rinsing—not before. The best method, we thought, was to use water by the cupful for the lathering process and when this was finished to use a spray.

When the hair is rinsed thoroughly it's shining clean, the scalp is stimulated and exercised and your dandruff chasing shampoo is a success. Your scalp will be free of dandruff completely.

We hope we haven't made the process seem complicated; it isn't. You can use this at home easily and quickly.

ELEANOR NANGLE.

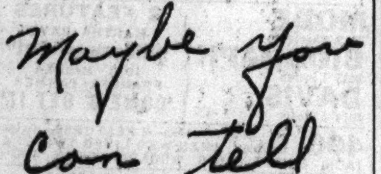
Man at Fault, Not the Girl, Writing Shows

By Muriel Stafford.

[Copyright: 1937: By Muriel Stafford.]

He's in love. I want to help him, but I hope I won't offend him in the process as his handwriting reveals much sensitiveness. This is some of a long letter he wrote:

"We were engaged up until a month ago and were getting along fine. Every once in a while, though, she would act as if she didn't care for me or anybody else. She would get over that in a day or two, but it happened every week. Inclosed is a sample of her handwriting. Maybe you can tell us how to understand each other better, as I need your help very much."



Maybe you
Can tell

Most of the reason is yours, Mr. R. Your fiancée's handwriting shows a pleasant disposition and much kindness. Your handwriting reveals an extreme nervousness that might cause you to "pick on her." The nervousness is obvious in the uneven base line plus your peculiar way of double-crossing the letter "y." This is not a good sign and not often found. Such writers are inclined to be odd and often difficult to understand.

There is something else. You are always sure you are right and you try to dominate when you are not the type of person who should use heavy handed methods.

How can I tell all this? One letter alone could have told me. That letter M of yours. The way you make it tells more about you than you could believe possible. The second loop of the capital M is lower than the first, but look at the arrogant way the third loop suddenly sticks up!

You have strong opinions, most certainly. The pressure of your writing is light, indicating you are not blessed with a natural talent for making others do and think as you wish simply because you wish it. Thus your difficulty in making the young woman believe that anything is true simply because you say so.

My chief advice to you is to let the lady think her own thoughts and make her understand that you love her as she is. She probably calls you obstinate. Try to realize that you are. Be less insulted by the thought. You certainly can't cure a fault by denying it.

Your Handwriting Analyzed

Any Tribune reader can obtain a personal graphology chart showing his or her assets, handicaps, talents, and emotions by following these rules:

1. Send a sample of handwriting to Muriel Stafford, Chicago Tribune, postoffice box 1720.
2. Inclose 16 cents [carefully wrapped] for each sample of handwriting you wish analyzed.
3. Inclose a self-addressed, STAMPED envelope, folded once.

WHOPPERS!

The Tribune will pay $2 each for every "Whopper" published. Merely write the biggest lie you ever heard on a post card or on one side of a sheet of paper and mail it to "Whoppers," The Tribune, Tribune Square, Chicago. Manuscripts cannot be returned.

Three Smart Puppies.

I had three puppies once that loved to sleep in a bunch on top of my bed. I scolded them and spanked them, trying to get them out of the habit. It took some time, but finally I came home one night and thought they had learned their lesson.

They were sitting demurely in front of the fireplace looking, however, very self-concerned. Then I noticed the usual depression in the bed. On feeling it with my hand I found it was warm, showing that they had just jumped off. I spanked them again.

The next night, thinking to catch them, I tiptoed to the room and quickly threw the door open. Sure enough they were still on the bed, but they were standing around the depression blowing on it trying to cool it before I got home.—G. B., Oak Park.

Florence Kass Well Liked in Her Debut Here

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Florence Kass, young Chicago mezzo-soprano who has sung informally a few times during the last year or two, made her official debut in Kimball hall last night. Assisting her was George Sopkin, cellist.

Miss Kass sang a well planned program which carefully avoided hackneyed music. Grieg was represented by two unfamiliar songs, Sibelius by one. Like these, the other composers on the list were mostly figures of yesterday or today.

The singer has done encouraging things with a voice that is not at all large of volume. She manages a nice variety of coloring and knows how to personalize her singing—how to make even the simplest little lyric a medium for the expression of intense, and apparently sincere, emotion.

She seems to be on the right track, and is doubtless working now to perfect her diction, improve the flow of her legato, and by these means to make of music an even more direct and pliable expressive medium.

George Sopkin, a member of the cello section of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, played a sonata by a half forgotten early Italian named Sammartini. His slow movement was songful, the first and third divisions of the piece rhythmically clean and forceful. The cellist has a good technique which does not obtrude itself.

Hattie Krause accompanied Miss Kass. Helen Rauh shared the sonata with Mr. Sopkin.

Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will serve as musical director of the Northwestern university festival to be held in Patten gymnasium, Evanston, May 11, 13, and 15. The programs will be orchestral and choral and will enlist the services of internationally famous soloists.

Shops Present Wide Choice in Valentine Gifts

Embroider Love Message on New Lingerie.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Heaven help the poor swain who forgets to send valentine offerings. With the town practically plastered with flaming hearts, only an absent minded nit-wit of either sex could overlook the day. In addition to flowers or sweets everything that the susceptible female wears or uses for decoration is out in new array, and if the loot doesn't come in heart festooned packages or boxes the sentimental designers slap the hearts on the stuff itself.

Some sentimental new lingerie—grand ideas for valentines and better yet for the prospective bride—gifts that can be sent by doting relatives with a yen for sending luxuries such as lingerie finds for the trousseau. You'll gaze speechless before some new tricky, sleek satin sleeping or lounging pajamas—priced at only four dollars. They have red stitching, red satin edges, a row of heart shaped red buttons down the front of the top, and a chest pocket embroidered with an arrow pierced heart and a spray of forget-me-nots. The satin is soft and luxurious looking. The sleeves are short and the entire duet is one of the superfinds of the season.

A nightgown quite as ravishingly decorated, with an ardent red heart on the chest, is yours for five dollars. The satin is of excellent quality, the heart is solid red satin. And there are French panties to match, also embellished with a small red heart edged with shell scallops and priced [you'll gasp] at three dollars.

For more money and well worth it, come the bridal white satin nightgowns, with a tie around sash, a good full skirtline, and a molded bodice top with the lines as good as those of an evening gown. These are glorified with an appliquéd red satin heart with "I love you" in white embroidered on the heart. The matching white satin panties also have the same heart and message on the side. What next!

SYNOPSIS.

Adrian Somervell and Diana Lake become engaged when the young scientist learns he is heir to the fortune of his late stepmother, Rose Somervell, ex-star of the theater, who was Diana's godmother. Until shortly before her death Adrian and she had been estranged. Adrian had lunched with her shortly before her death. Also there were Nicholas Blundell, wealthy bachelor solicitor, who lived in the London flat below Rose; Felix Arenson, an old friend, and Blundell's neurotic secretary, Elsie Dilworth. Elsie was madly in love with Adrian, who'd repulsed her. Blundell is Diana's godfather. She'd always disliked him. An autopsy reveals that Rose was poisoned. Then Diana's mother is murdered. Robbery is thought to be the motive. Adrian is arrested, suspected of Rose's murder. Blundell persuades Diana to move to Rose's flat. Elsie Dilworth, who has left Blundell's employ, returns to search the premises. Diana sees and trails her to a rooming house. Adrian is indicted. Remnants of the poison which killed Rose are found in his pocket. Diana meets Michael Hull, Adrian's lawyer, obtained for him by his friend, Dr. Ladbroke. Hull hires a private agent, Mortimer Bream, to whom Diana tells her suspicions of Elsie Dilworth. Bream calls at Elsie's rooming house and learns she has disappeared. Watching the lodgings he sees an East Indian trying to break into the girl's room.

INSTALMENT XXVIII.

FRESH CLUES.

At home, in his rooms in Great Smith street, Westminster, Bream morosely imbibed hot whisky and tried to think how—barring unseen flower-pots—he could have conducted matters to better advantage. It would not have served his purpose to advise the police beforehand that a burglary might be attempted on a certain house. Why, a policeman patroling the alley, Haji would have kept away. As it was, it had at least been proved that Haji did want to get into the room.

"Which is all to the good . . . or is it?" The horizon clouded again. "I'm hanged if I know. Suppose this blighter turns out to be not Dilworth's pal but Somervell's?"

The same dread troubled him next morning when, as he dressed, the telephone rang and a man's voice, with a trace of foreign accent, imparted information.

"What's that?" he barked. "How the hell do you know?"

"From his landlady. You see, I got his address last evening."

For a full minute Bream stood silent, torn with indecision. Then he clamped down the receiver, snatched his bowler hat, and plunged into the street.

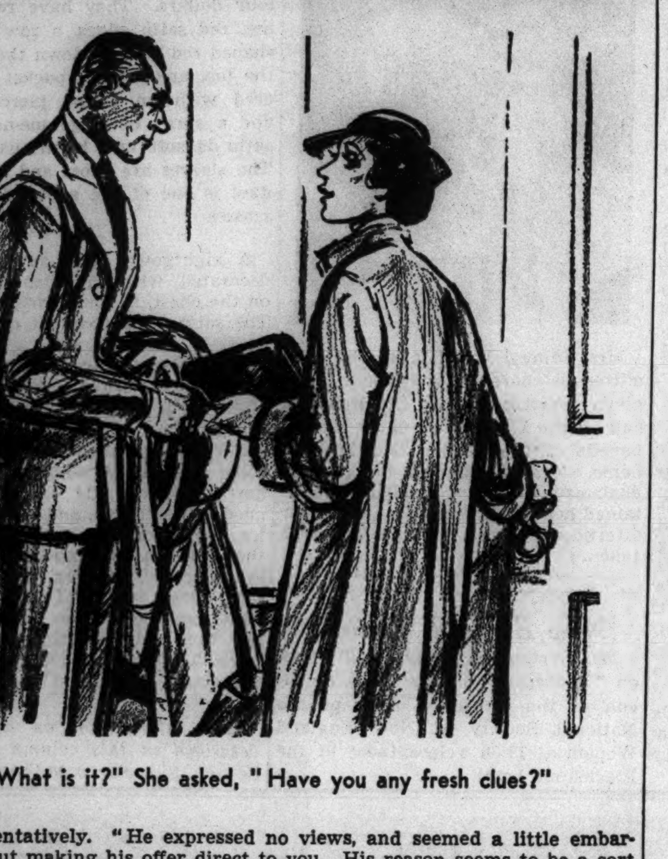
At her next meeting with the barrister Diana broached the subject of funds. She was told not to worry about expense.

"The fact is," said Hull, "only yesterday Mr. Blundell very generously volunteered to guarantee all fees. It's that I want to speak to you about."

Uncle Nick? Impossible! Diana stared.

"Why should he do this?" she asked blankly. "He can't believe in Adrian, whatever he may say—or not say, for that's more like it."

"I dined with him informally last evening," replied Hull, swinging his eyeglass tentatively. "He expressed no views, and seemed a little embarrassed about making his offer direct to you. His reason seems to be a sort of payment of old debts. It appears Dr. Somervell's father, Mr. Joseph Somervell, was exceedingly helpful to him in earlier days. He has never forgotten it, and he could not feel happy now if he did not do something for the son. Mr. Blundell realizes, as any one must, the urgent importance of retaining a particularly able counsel. What we want is a man with a power of appeal well above the ordinary—Sir Kingsley Baxter, in fact. I need hardly tell you what an immense asset Sir Kingsley would be."



"What is it?" She asked, "Have you any fresh clues?"

Diana knew the reputation of Sir Kingsley Baxter. He occupied an almost unique position. Twenty times she had heard people say that if ever they committed a murder their first act would be to send for Baxter.

"Only," continued Hull, eyeing her, "a hitch has occurred. Dr. Somervell refuses point-blank to accept any outside aid."

"O! He can't refuse. That is, we mustn't let him."

Adrian believed Uncle Nick was making this offer for her sake. It was of a piece with his recent behavior. She was filled with despair. A chance like this to be let go when life itself might depend on it? It was unthinkable. She looked at the barrister with defiant resolution.

"I'll accept for him," she declared. "He needn't know what's being done, need he?"

"All I need tell Dr. Somervell is that we have arranged matters satisfactorily. I'll engage Sir Kingsley at once."

His tone implied that in Baxter lay their one hope. Diana sat silent, cogitating. She had already told Mr. Hull her fixed intention of paying the cost of the private agent herself out of the rent money she was receiving and the sale of her mother's few bits of jewelry, and stipulated that Adrian was to be kept ignorant. She asked if Mr. Blundell had said anything at all about Elsie Dilworth in connection with the murder.

"He did not. He showed me, however, Miss Dilworth's note announcing her resignation. It merely said that her nerves necessitated a long absence from office work, and that she never expected to find another post so much to her liking. The letter was dated the twenty-eighth of October."

Diana looked sharply across at the speaker. "Why, wasn't that the very same day she called at the home office?" she demanded.

Hull, after referring to his notes, confirmed her belief, but declined to see any special significance in the coincidence of dates. Diana decided to speak of it to Bream, whom she had not seen again, and about whose activities she was in the dark; and then, on her way home, she fell to pondering her godfather's latest move.

Outside her own door Inspector Headcorn was waiting.

"What is it?" she asked. "Have you got any fresh clues?"

The Scotland Yard man followed her into the drawing room.

"I flew to Amsterdam," he announced slowly. "I've seen enough to convince me that pawnbroker's a fence, for all it's a hard matter to establish. Well, then! How did a fellow like that allow himself to get landed with jewels placarded all over the place as stolen property? He might have been paid for that very purpose—paid enough to make it worth his while, by some one who is dead set on ramming that burglary idea down our throats. The broker's an old fox if ever I saw one."

Diana began to tremble. Here, voiced by the most practical and unimaginative man she had ever encountered, was her own rejected belief!

"You mean my mother's handbag was taken solely as a blind?"

"It's possible. Had you thought of it?"

"Till the jewels were found, I had."

She inquired if the pawnbroker had given a description of the person who deposited the jewels with him. Headcorn shrugged.

"The old man and his assistant tell different stories, both trying to save their skins. Both swear it was a man, but we can't lay hold of any reliable facts about him." The inspector continued: "Your notion was based on a belief that this secretary overheard your mother, while in this flat, make some alarming statement?"

"That was my chief reason. You see, my mother hadn't an enemy in the world. I don't know all she said that afternoon, but it's certain she spoke to Mr. Blundell—perhaps to the servant as well—about her telephone conversation with Mrs. Somervell. Elsie Dilworth must have been here during that time, for if she had tried to leave the flat my mother would have heard her. If she's innocent, why is she hiding herself? And why did she steal those letters out of my bag?"

"Letters!" The inspector pricked up his ears. "What was in them?"

"Nothing that could possibly matter. She couldn't have come here for them, naturally, but she did take them. Let me remind you again that she knew the workings of our front door in Seymour Square. She knew more or less the time mother got home from the theater, and the fact that Mr. Blundell was giving her the emerald ring and sunburst to take away with her. Don't you see how it all fits together? My mother's murder was a sequel to Mrs. Somervell's."

"Wait here," Headcorn ordered. "I'm going to make a test. When I call out, speak a few sentences in your ordinary tone of voice."

Opening out of the kitchen passage were two cupboards and a lavatory. In each of these Headcorn stationed himself to listen, and on his return reported that in all three places he could hear perfectly what was said, provided the doors were left ajar.

Should Errant Mate's Victim Be Informed?

Outsider's Position Is a Debatable One.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

A problem upon which we could court you readers' helpful advice, and possible first hand experience is this:

You have a brother or a sister and the mate thereof is known to you, and possibly to a number of other people, to be carrying on an affair. What is your right step? To go directly and inform the victim of the mate's infidelity, or not?

Frequently this problem arises in our experience. We happen to have two of them on the docket right now. One reports her knowledge of the goings-on of her brother's wife and the man for whom she is at present working. All of the office is aware of the affair. The brother is blissfully ignorant, the "last to learn always," as his sister put it.

The other is a similar problem with the sexes reversed. It is reported by a young woman who has seen her brother-in-law escorting around town a woman not his wife. Only by her presence of mind did the girl save herself the embarrassment of bumping smack into the pair the other night at a dance.

We wonder if it wouldn't have been better to have confronted the pair than to try to ignore them.

But the question always is the same: "Should I go directly to my brother or sister and report the findings?"

It has happened that a daughter has encountered a wayward father in a predicament that might take a lot of explaining to his wife, the girl's mother. Should the girl tell her mother, is the question.

L. K. suggests that not telling is the better part of wisdom. "I believe that, in time, the victim will find out. Such was my brother's experience. I knew of his wife's guilt and worried my head off, but he found out from the woman herself and, at least, my brother wasn't humiliated with a sister tipping him off. He doesn't know yet that I knew, although the affair did result in a divorce."

Tavern Party Sunday to Be for President

Boyden Retires After 3 Years in Office.

usual has been planned for the weekly causerie of the Alliance Française this afternoon. Mrs. Milan H. Hulbert will show her motion pictures of the Syrian desert during a travel talk.

Mrs. Hulbert, a former president of the alliance, has been decorated three times by the French government. She was accompanied by her four daughters on the trip through the desert, and she herself took the pictures.

Hutchinses to Entertain for Mrs. Coolidge.

Tonight at their home President and Mrs. Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago are giving a dinner party for Mrs. Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge. After dinner the party will attend the Chicago Symphony orchestra concert.

Through Mrs. Coolidge's generosity students, faculty, and friends of the university have heard the Pro Arte String quartet of Brussels in performance of the complete cycle of Beethoven quartets, a musical program unique in Chicago.

Delta Kappa Epsilon, one of the oldest national fraternities and the oldest one at the University of Chicago, is holding its annual dance tonight at the Blackstone hotel. The fraternity was organized in 1844 and a chapter was established at Chicago in 1893.

The Easter Monday fashion show, card party and tea sponsored annually by the Evanston women's board of Northwestern University settlement always means the appearance of a score of the best looking young north shore maids and matrons as models. The forthcoming party on March 29 at the Country club of Evanston will be no exception, for 22 young women, many with experience in past fashion shows, will be mannequins.

Mrs. Kenneth F. Burgess and Mrs. Chester D. Tripp are chairman and vice chairman respectively of the fashion show committee.

Arizona Attracts Many Chicagoans.

Arizona's sunny climate has drawn many Chicagoans there to bask 'round swimming pools at the more luxurious resorts, or to ride and lead a quasi-simple life at the glorified dude ranches. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stanton are spending the month at the Jokake inn, which is a few miles out on the desert from Phoenix. Their daughter, Mrs. Charles Logan, who lives with her husband and two sons on a ranch in the mountains fifty miles from Tucson, will spend a few days with them this month.

Mrs. Chester F. Sargent and her daughter, Miss Barbara Ann Sargent, are leaving Feb. 25 to spend six weeks at the inn. Miss Peggy Sargent will join them for her Easter vacation from Smith.

Mrs. Bruce MacLeish and Mrs. John N. Ott will leave for the inn on the 18th. Mrs. MacLeish and Mrs. Ralph Brown now are attending a graduate council at Wellesley college. Mrs. Brown is president and Mrs. MacLeish is first vice president of the Chicago Wellesley club.

Louis A. Ferguson Jr. is leaving Feb. 20 to join his wife and son at the Arizona resort, taking their [illegible] with him. The Champ [illegible] are there now, and so is Mrs. [illegible] Armour and her son, Stanton. [illegible] Armour returned last week from [illegible] and Mrs. Armour is coming [illegible] on Saturday or Sunday.

[illegible] and Mrs. Mason Phelps and [illegible] Phelps are staying at the [illegible] inn until the middle of March. Mrs. Fremont Hitchcock of Highland Park and her son and daughter, Peter and Margaret, are spending the winter there. Margaret is attending the Jokake School for Girls and Peter is at the Judson School for Boys. Mrs. Charles R. Strong is another Chicagoan who will spend three weeks at the inn soon.

Miss Mary Wood to Go to Florida.

Miss Mary Wood returned Tuesday from Denver and is leaving Monday for Vero Beach, Fla., to join her parents, Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, who have a house there for the season. Miss Wood is staying with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin E. Tullis, in Highland Park, until she leaves. Mr. and Mrs. Tullis will go to Florida Feb. 25. Mr. and Mrs. James R. Addington [Sarah Wood] are in Florida now.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntington B. Henry, Miss Annie May Henry, and Miss Anne Jay Bryant left yesterday to spend ten days in Sun Valley, Idaho. The Robert J. Thornes and Miss Narcissa Thorne will leave for the new skiing resort next week.

Mrs. John Kellogg to Meet Newlyweds.

Mrs. John Kellogg has gone to New York, where she will meet her daughter and son-in-law, the John J. Goodwillies, when they land tomorrow after a honeymoon cruise to the West Indies. Mrs. Kellogg and her younger daughter, Miss Jean Kellogg, have not completed plans for a trip, but they are going away for the rest of the winter while the former Betty Kellogg and her husband occupy Mrs. Kellogg's Lake Shore drive apartment.

Mrs. Harry Wells of Hubbard Woods and her sister, Miss Edith Kohlsaat of Lake Geneva are sailing this week for a two months' European trip.

Mrs. Charles T. Boynton and her daughter, Mrs. John H. Harmon, have left for the Ojai valley in California, where they will spend a month before going on to Pasadena. Mrs. Everett Lee Millard, Mrs. Boynton's other daughter, will join them in Pasadena early in March.

Miss Elizabeth Millard has returned to New York after spending a month in Arizona.

Ape Man Act Puts Auer in Comedy Roles

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 10.—[Special.] It was while being a gorilla-man and hanging from a chandelier that he was introduced to Director Gregory La Cava. La Cava was entranced by the Auer interpretation and offered him a job. The would-be comedian leaped from the chandelier at the chance.

—Mischa Auer, who has had a leading comedy part in many recent Hollywood films, found a chandelier the turning point in his career. He was hanging from it.

Until he gave his famous gorilla-man interpretation on the screen in "My Man Godfrey," Auer, a white Russian, had been confined to "heavy" rôles.

At heart light hearted, he was virtually playing Hamlet all the time. He wanted a chance at comedy the way Charlie Chaplin wants to play Hamlet. He was always a villain, a spy, a prisoner of war, a Russian soldier, many things, but never a comedian.

To compensate for this perpetual repression of his comic urge Auer developed a gorilla-man routine which was well known to many Hollywood parties. It made him the hit of the parties. But he never got a chance to do comedy on the stage until he added the chandelier to his act.

Since that time he has been a comedian. His salary has increased far above the highest as a heavy. Auer recently played with Oakie and Lily Pons in "That Girl from Paris." He now is in "Marry the Girl" at Warners with Frank McHugh, Mary Boland, Hugh Herbert, Alan Mowbray, Allen Jenkins, Carol Hughes, and Hugh O'Connell, but he is thinking of getting serious again because there are so many other laugh enticers in that group.

Auer is a grandson of Prof. Leopold Auer, master of the violin, and once led a dance band in a Pasadena hotel. His father was killed in the Russian-Japanese war and his mother died of typhus after escaping from the Russian revolutionists to Constantinople with her boy, then 12. His wife is Norma Tillman, formerly of Hamilton, Ontario, a nonprofessional.

The G-men may get their men, but Jean Harlow gets her G-man. J. Edward Hoover, chief of the G-men whom Jean met in Washington a week ago, has accepted an invitation to be the guest of Miss Harlow and her youthful blonde mother, Mrs. Marino Bello, in the Harlow white house in Beverly when Mr. Hoover arrives here in two weeks.

Radio Eloper

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Patti Pickens, 19, youngest member of the Pickens sisters, radio entertainers, and Robert Simmons, tenor, announced their marriage today. They eloped to Newburgh, N.Y., Saturday night. Miss Pickens, a native of Macon, Ga., has been in radio work since she was 14, when she was taken from school in Atlanta to join her sisters under a commercial contract. Simmons is a native of Fairplay, Mo.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

THE NO TRUMP TAKE-OUT.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

To change the opener's suit by taking him out into another suit or no trump is called a take-out. The take-out, while it does not necessarily deny all support for the opener's suit, does say that, in the opinion of the responder, a better contract may be found. A take-out in no trump portrays three qualities of the responding hand:

1. A minimum number of honor tricks, the amount depending on whether the take-out is one, two, or three no trump. 2. Balanced distribution and, therefore, a desire or, at least, a willingness to play the hand at no trump. 3. Lack of a biddable suit or of sufficient trump support to justify a raise.

While a biddable suit sometimes may be hidden behind a no trump take-out, or adequate trump support may be included, the fact that the responder chooses to bid no trump means that he feels that a no trump response best expresses the nature of his hand.

The responder has three available no trump responses: 1. One no trump, a negative response which shows a weak hand and little hope of game unless the opener has well above a minimum. 2. Two no trump, a forcing bid which must be carried to game [unless the responder has previously passed]. 3. Three no trump, which is a hand almost identical to an opening one no trump bid, but is strictly limited to three and one-half to four honor tricks with 4-3-3-3 distribution.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 no trump	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

With West opening his fourth highest club, the almost invariable practice in the past has been to play low from dummy and win East's nine spot with the queen or jack. Then South must knock out both outstanding aces in order to win nine tricks. And if each defender holds one ace South must be certain to knock out West's first. For, in that case, West cannot continue clubs without letting South make three club tricks instead of only two. But if East's ace be attacked first he can safely lead clubs and establish the suit. And then West is in position to run the suit when his ace gives him the lead.

Now, if East has both aces, or if West has only four clubs, South cannot lose the hand. Otherwise South's contract stands or falls on his ability as a guesser. But it doesn't have to! South's proper play is to duck the first club altogether! He still will make two club tricks, for he still can finesse through West's king. But note the vital difference.

If East continues clubs at the second trick, South wins with his own queen or dummy's ace. Now he knocks out an ace. If it be East's, he has no club to lead; if West's, he never can regain the lead!

The only loss occurs when West holds both aces, but that is less than half as likely as a split of the two aces. So, on hands of this type, throw away the turban and the crystal. Rely on technique instead of clairvoyance!

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: You state in some book or other that it is better to play for penalties than for game and rubber bonuses. Why?

Answer: Don't say "some book or other." I've stated it in every book and many times, besides, in this column. More accurately, I advocate choosing penalties rather than roughly equivalent bonuses. [Naturally, you shouldn't give up a rubber for a measly 100 points.]

The choice is dictated largely by human fallibility. Say, for example, you either can set the opponents three tricks, not vulnerable, or take the rubber. You realize you may be slightly off in your appraisal of the hand. If you bid your own game a mistake will land you in the red. If you double, a mistake will cost you a couple of hundred points, but you still will beat them and make a profit on the transaction. Furthermore, if they make a mistake, you profit more when you've doubled them. Then the mistake gives you 200 points instead of just 30 points for an extra trick.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Betty Jaynes, Chicago's 15 year old opera prodigy, is to make her first radio appearance in her home town on Saturday, Feb. 20, as guest singer on the WLS National Barn Dance broadcast from the Eighth street theater. For her singing Miss Jaynes is to draw $1,000. She is also to make an early appearance on the Bing Crosby program in Hollywood.

Speakers during the Chicago portion of the American Town Meeting of the Air at 8:30 tonight over WENR, when the President's proposals regarding the Supreme court are to be discussed, will include Louis A. Stebbins, president of the Chicago Life Insurance Lawyers' club; Attorney Robert M. Golding, Judge Edward B. Casey, and Alice Greenacre, past president of the Chicago Women's Bar association. Phil R. Davis, attorney, will be chairman. Representative Maury Maverick of Texas and Attorney Frederick W. Wood will speak from New York, and Senator William H. King of Utah and Senator Hugo Black of Alabama from Washington.

A dramatization of the story of Abraham Lincoln at Gettysburg and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's report of the event the next day will feature the "Lawyer Lincoln" series over WLS at 8 tonight.

That current hit, "I Love You From Coast to Coast," is bound to get a big workout next Sunday, Valentine's day. As a matter of fact NBC is airing a program under that title at 11 p. m. Saturday. Personal valentine greetings are to be broadcast by "just folks" in various cities. Norman Barry will carry a microphone to a man over on Randolph street and let him send his love to his sweetie.

Kay St. Germaine, headliner of the W-G-N-Mutual Listen to This series, lost her voice just before the broadcast Tuesday evening. Avis Leone, who had been used as a "deserving guest" not long ago, was hurriedly summoned and made a new speed record between St. Charles, her home, and W-G-N studios.

Candid cameramen have been finding Nelson Eddy sympathetic to their activities in local CBS studios the last few days—up to a certain point. He will NOT permit himself to be photographed with his shell rimmed glasses which he wears when reading music.

Edgar Bergen, the ventriloquist, will hop a train tonight for Chicago after his appearance on the Vallee hour in New York. He opens at the Chez Paree along with Gertrude Niesen, another radio headliner, tomorrow evening.

The W-G-N Fireside Theater, Fred Astaire's revue and Ozzie Nelson have just been awarded 13 week renewals by their sponsors.

Children Should Share Love of Mother Equally

Show of Favoritism Is Decidedly Unfair.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

You know and I know that all the world loves a baby, for a baby is a fascinating creature, pulling at nearly everybody's heartstrings.

Nevertheless, if it isn't a first child, don't lose your head over its charms. See that your new baby isn't so enthralling to you, its father and its mother, that you let it even for the first months alter the warm intimacy that has existed between you and your other child, or children.

After the new baby's coming, it may be necessary to make a conscious effort to keep up certain contacts, perhaps established cozy times like reading or talks that you and your child had before the baby was born. Explaining will not do the trick.

I know of cases where the new baby has slipped so smoothly into the family life that pleasure and interest on its advent were the only effects. But there are families in which this does not happen.

One instance is the way in which a young child will sometimes get out of his well established "dry habit" after the baby has come. This sometimes happens as a simple result of neglect, but often it is due to the child's unconscious desire to attract the attention of his grownups.

Every new person of any age who becomes a member of an established family group, creates changes in it. All sorts of new adjustments must follow. How much more, then, should we expect this to hold true when that interest demanding, time and energy taking, absorbing little person known as the new baby comes along?

When that happens in your family, be fair, wise, and kind in the way you handle the situation.

Convention

The thirtieth annual convention of Beta Gamma Upsilon sorority will open tomorrow at the Drake hotel and continue through Saturday evening when the formal dinner-dance will be held. Miss Florence Fisher of Chi chapter, East Chicago, is the grand president of the sorority and chairman of the convention arrangements committee.

THRIFTIEST CARS IN ALL FORD HISTORY!

DRIVE ALL DAY ON A TANKFUL OF GAS!

Owners report 22 to 27 miles per gallon under ordinary driving conditions.

ONLY 4 QUARTS OF OIL TO FILL CRANKCASE!

Drive 2000 miles between changes. Most owners report no additional oil needed.

LOWEST FORD PRICE IN YEARS!

You have to go back to the 4 cylinder model "A" to find a Ford price so low.

LOWEST PRICED "8" EVER SOLD IN AMERICA!

Ford now brings to even more people the smoothness and responsiveness of a modern V-8.

Yet they're big and roomy, same wheelbase and body size as the brilliant "85" . . . with modern style, rich appointments . . . and quiet, sweet-running V-8 engines!

THE new Thrifty "60" V-8 cars save you money, in a great big way, without cutting down size or comfort! They have the same Center-Poise ride as the brilliant "85" Ford V-8. The same steel-on-steel structure. The same new quick-stopping, easy-acting brakes. The same big luggage compartments and modern lines . . . But the "60" is powered by a smaller engine and carries a lower price tag. And though it can't quite match the brilliant 85's pick-up and top speed . . . it is still amongst America's best-performing low price cars! Come in and drive one today!

YOUR FORD DEALER

THE THRIFTY "60"

FORD V-8

Atlanta Journal finals.
Eau Claire Leader-Telegram preliminaries.
Green Bay Press-Gazette preliminaries.

BY FRENCH LANE.

A bird's eye view was the only way to take in everything happening on the Golden Glove battle field in Chicago last night.

If you had taken your eye off any one of the three sectional tournaments held simultaneously you in all probability would have missed the fight of the night. No one had any notion just when the feature would pop up.

By far the biggest sectional tournament in Chicago got under way in the White City arena on the south side.

Out north, at Marigold Gardens, the fighting for places on the northwest sectional team had passed through the semi-final stages before the lights were turned out at 11 o'clock.

Pick 16 Champions.

On the west side 16 boys—eight novice and eight open division boxers—fought their way to championships. The new champions are:

NOVICE DIVISION.

German Is Impressive.

Lee Christians, 180 pound representative of the Lincoln Turners, was the most spectacular of the eight novice winners in the west side finals. Christians, who is on a leave of absence from his father's tool and die factory in Wuppenthal, Germany, stopped George Mason of Union Park in the semi-finals and then knocked out Charles Kupec. Both knockouts came in the first round.

The 23 year old German, who is 6 feet 2½ inches tall, floored Mason for a nine count. Mason evened the score by scoring a knockdown, but Christians jumped to his feet and ended hostilities by crashing a right to Mason's jaw. Later Dr. Edward Rategan found Mason had suffered a broken jaw.

One blow was struck in Christians' second match of the evening—a right to Kapec's chin. The time was 58 seconds,

Tonight the northwest sectional championship battle will be fought at Marigold Gardens while the work of whittling down the big field in the south side sectional will continue at White City.

Five more teams that will invade the Tournament of Champions will

POLO STAR HURT

Laddie Sanford walking off field with Mrs. Sanford after suffering fractured collar bone.
[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Sanford, recently arrived from Palm Beach, Fla., for Midwick's winter high goal matches, was brought to a hospital here, where it was said his collar bone was broken in four places.

SOLDIERS' FIELD GETZ'S CHOICE FOR BIG FIGHT

But Agrees Rental Asked Is Too High.

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—George F. Getz, member of the state athletic commission of Illinois and promoter of the Dempsey-Tunney championship fight in Chicago in 1927, today gave his unqualified approval to the heavyweight championship fight between Jim Braddock and Joe Louis in Chicago next June, contracts for which already have been signed.

Getz returned from a fishing trip aboard his yacht Virago today and at once announced he had been in communication with Chairman Joe F. Triner of the Illinois commission.

Soldiers' Field His Choice.

"Either Louis or Schmeling would have been satisfactory to the commission as Braddock's opponent," Getz said, "and now that Louis has been selected I feel confident that all forces in Chicago will unite to make the fight the success it deserves to be."

Getz asserted that Soldiers' field, where Tunney defeated Dempsey in the famous "long count" contest of Sept. 22, 1927, is the place to hold the fight, "in so far as the public is concerned."

Discussing the 25 per cent rental suggested by the park board which controls Soldiers' field, Getz declared he thought the charge was high, but that this problem would be ironed out in due time. He revealed that he paid a flat $100,000 for the arena for the Dempsey-Tunney battle, but added this figure would be out of the question for Louis-Braddock because it could not possibly draw the $2,658,000 gate which 102,000 persons paid in 1927.

Sees Little Chance for Max.

"I hope the park board will lower its percentage or reach some satisfactory compromise for the promoters," Getz continued. "Chicago wants this fight."

Getz declared Schmeling has "little chance" of blocking the fight.

"These fellows arranging the match know pretty well what their legal status is," he commented. "In all big fights some people are always trying to get out injunctions. They did on the day of the Dempsey-Tunney fight, but the suit was thrown out."

Getz gave his personal indorsement to Sheldon Clark, head of the Sporting Club of Illinois, which guaranteed Braddock $500,000 for the bout.

"If Sheldon Clark makes any guarantee he's perfectly responsible and reliable in every way," said Getz. "He's one of our leading citizens."

Suggests $25 Top.

Concerning the selection of a referee for Braddock-Louis, Getz pointed out "that you can bet your last nickel it will be an Illinois man. That's law," he said. "And the commission has at least half a dozen referees available, any one of whom is thoroughly capable of handling a heavyweight championship."

While Getz set a top price of $40 for ringside seats when Dempsey battled Tunney, he declared himself opposed to "anything over $25 when Jim Braddock and Joe Louis square off.

"There should be a $3 low and a $25 top," he concluded.

SIGN NEXT WEEK

The formal signing ceremony for the heavyweight title contest between Champion James J. Braddock and Joe Louis will be held next Thursday or Friday, Chairman Joe Triner announced yesterday after a conference with Sheldon Clark, president of the Sporting Club of Illinois, and Joe Foley, publicity director and matchmaker for the organization. The bout is scheduled to be held under the auspices of the Sporting Club of Illinois next June. Contracts already have been signed.

APPROVES FIGHT

George F. Getz, Illinois boxing commissioner, yesterday gave his approval to Braddock-Louis fight plans. Though he favored Soldiers' field as the site he balked at the rental asked.

Army Retires Jones, Coach at Nebraska

Biff Jones.

The order released him from active army duty. Recently Jones gave up coaching at the University of Oklahoma where he was an R. O. T. C. instructor, to remain in the army. Then he gave up the army to coach at the University of Nebraska.

Jones had been ordered to an officers' school at Fort Leavenworth, Kas., where his long coaching career might have ended.

Action Is Routine.

Referring to today's order from Washington, he said "that is the war department's routine action on my application for retirement. I have some leave of absence coming and my retirement will be announced at the end of that time."

He said he would leave for Lincoln, Neb., Monday, the day Tom Stidham will open spring football practice here.

At the end of last season Jones announced he would quit football to accept the Fort Leavenworth assignment he had passed up three years before.

Huskers Turn to Jones.

A dizzy whirl of coach exchanging ensued. Jack Chevigny resigned from Texas university. Texas hired Dana X. Bible from Nebraska, and Nebraska officials turned to Jones.

The man who served nine years as head coach of Army, Louisiana State university, and Oklahoma university teams, changed his mind, announced his retirement from the army, and accepted Nebraska's offer.

He said he will open spring practice at Nebraska March 1, retaining Assistant Coaches Roy [Link] Lyman and W. Harold Browne, who served under Bible.

Jones has been in the army since 1917, when he was graduated from West Point. He served eight years as assistant coach of army teams before being named head coach in 1926.

RANGERS CLASH WITH HAWKS AT STADIUM TONIGHT

Chicago Team Has Hope of Catching Bruins.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The New York Rangers, about the only hockey team that comes week nights to this port of call, this evening will engage the Hawks at Chicago Stadium. The Gotham lads naturally will want to adjust a severe misfortune which befell them when they were here on Thursday night, Jan. 21, an occasion on which they were slapped down, 2 to 0.

That 2 to 0 Hawk victory lingers in the memory of the Chicagoans, for it was the first time they had licked the New Yorkers in four tries. In three earlier games they had accomplished a grand total of one goal. On Jan. 21 Glenn Brydson, Ranger castoff, scored the first goal, which was enough to win; then Harold Jackson followed up with his first major league marker. Harold whanged one from the blue line that proceeded with such force that it went clean through the nets and thumped against the end boards on the wing.

Hawks' Hope Revives.

With the recent fading of the Boston Bruins, the team the Hawks must pass to get in the playoffs, Manager Clem Loughlin's lads are dreaming just a tiny bit about the possibility of getting into the playoffs, though they still are nine points [four and one-half games] back of the Bruins. They have no hope of overtaking the second place Rangers, but obviously they are just as eager to lick tonight's visitors for the climbing opportunities it will give them in their ambition to overtake the Bostonese. The Bruins, who will be here Sunday night, have won only three games in their last fifteen, making twenty-eight goals to their opponents' forty-eight.

Those of the loyalists who are technically minded, recall that the Rangers probably have the National league's best balanced trio of front lines. Butch Keeling, Frank Boucher, and Cecil Dillon, creaking veterans, have been getting their goal and assist quotas and are not far behind the youngsters who have done so much to revive last year's tailenders. Neil Colville is leading the Ranger point accumulators with 10 goals and 14 assists. Dillon leads Colville in goals with 16. Murray Murdoch, National league iron man, will be playing his 568th consecutive National league game tonight.

Romnes Is Back.

Doc Romnes, who came back to the wars in a brief appearance Sunday night, will play tonight, perhaps with recollections that it was in the Ranger game of Dec. 6 that he was knocked out by Art Coulter, Ranger defense man. Doc did not play a game between Dec. 6 and last Sunday.

Lineup:

CHICAGO.		NEW YORK.
Karakas	Goal	Kerr
Levinsky	R. D.	Coulter
Burke	L. D.	Heller
Thompson	L. W.	Shibicky
Romnes	Center	Neil Colville

HORSE'S VICTORY ENABLES OWNER TO KEEP STABLE

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Fogarty, 4 year old in the stables of Neil Evans, Canadian sportsman, raced to victory and paid—not the fabled homestead mortgage—a breach of contract judgment against its owner.

Patricia Ridgeway, who recently won the $1,500 judgment, attached Evans' horses. They were to be sold today.

But Evans paid, explaining he had won the money when Fogarty raced home first at Santa Anita Saturday. Pari-mutuels paid 4 to 1 on Fogarty, on which Evans had wagered $300.

Talking It Over

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THIS is the first year in his major league career that Wally Berger of the Boston Bees has accepted a contract without protest. . . . "It seems strange not to be squabbling over salary," Berger said the other day. "In the old days Judge Fuchs [former head of the club] and I went through the same routine. He would send a contract and I would send it back. The long distance bargaining invariably would wind up with a telegram which read: 'Will talk it over with you at spring training camp.'" . . . Mrs. Joe Louis, Mrs. Julian Black, and Mrs. John Roxborough have sailed for a vacation in Bermuda. . . . The Green Bay Packers are making a movie short for M-G-M titled "Pigskin Champions." . . . It is being shot at Loyola university in Los Angeles. . . . Bob Feller speeds home from school at Van Meter, Ia., every day in a new 12 cylinder car to help feed the 60 cattle and 24 hogs on his father's farm . . . Al Schacht, who received $6,000 last year as coach of the Boston Red Sox, has sufficient bookings for his comedy routine in the minor leagues to assure him of $35,000 this summer. . . . A bet of $600 to $200 was made on Diversey parkway the other night that Joe Louis will come out of the ring with the heavyweight championship if and when he fights Jim Braddock. . . . Contracts for the bout already are signed. . . .

SEABISCUIT NOW 6 TO 1 CHOICE FOR $100,000 STAKE

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Seabiscuit's victory in a seven furlong race at Santa Anita yesterday moved the horse to the favorite position at 6 to 1 today in Charles Burke's future book for the Santa Anita handicap, Feb. 27.

The St. Louis betting commissioner quoted Rosemont and Indian Broom at 8 to 1 for the $100,000 added event. He listed Top Row, the 1936 Santa Anita winner, as a doubtful starter and made the odds 60 to 1 against Azucar, winner in 1935.

A MASTER CROOK STEALS DOG OUT OF SHOW CAGE

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—A brown Pomeranian valued at $150 was stolen tonight from its cage in Madison Square Garden while the large hall was crowded with visitors to the Westminster Kennel club's show.

A man who said he was Everiste Girouard was stopped by private police as he was leaving the building. The dog was found under his coat. He was booked for grand larceny.

The dog, a 13 month old female, Supreme Midget, was in a cage with an open top.

CLOSING RALLY BY CHICAGOAN SPLITS DECISION

Champion Wins on Early Advantage.

Fight Decisions

At New York—Lou Ambers, beat Davey Day [10]; Joey Archibald, beat Cyrill Josephs [6]; Joe Straiges and Charles Bianschino drew [6]; Milton Cofresi, beat Eddie Doscheor [4]; Richard Cabello, beat Benny Piazza [4].

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Lou Ambers, world's lightweight champion, whipped Davey Day of Chicago tonight in their ten round nontitle bout at the Hippodrome. A crowd of 3,500 saw the lanky ex-Golden Glover extend the title holder. Ambers weighed 135 pounds and Day 136¼.

A closing rally, waged desperately and consistently in the last three rounds, carried Day from far behind almost to the verge of victory. But the rally came too late to overcome Ambers' early advantage, although it fired the partisan Day rooters in the crowd to a noisy demonstration when the decision was announced.

Decision Is Split.

It was not a unanimous verdict. Referee Frank Fullam voted for Day, giving the Chicagoan five rounds to Ambers' four, with one even. But he was outvoted by the judges, Billy [Kid] McPartland and Jack Britton, each of whom gave Ambers six rounds and Day three, with one even.

Had Day fought throughout with the same reckless abandon he showed in the closing three rounds, or with the daring he exhibited in the third, the Chicagoan no doubt would have conquered the champion.

As it was Ambers, starting with accustomed fury and throwing punches with tireless consistency that is his stock in trade, bewildered and befuddled Day from the opening gong until the seventh round, when the Chicago fighter started his futile rally. During this stretch, the only round in which Day held his own was the third.

Two Fisted Attack.

The champion laid down a barrage of rights and lefts to the face and body, alternately, in the first and second rounds, when he was particularly effective with a left hook that found an easy mark and early started bruising Day's right eye.

In his desire to get at his foe Ambers slipped in the second, one of three times he visited the canvas, never from a punch. He spilled and pulled Day with him in the fourth and again slipped in the sixth.

Day's right swung into action in the third and he repeatedly bounced it off Ambers' jaw, but without damage to the champion. Ambers came back strong in the fourth and through this round, the fifth, sixth, and seventh battered Day all over the ring. Day sought to stem this attack with long range rights to the jaw and body drives in close, but in neither mode of attack could he land consistently.

Day Starts Rally.

The abuse of Ambers' punches and criticism from his own corner led Day to recklessness in the eighth round and through the rest of the battle he fought without regard for Ambers' blows, driving the champion before him with sharp rights at long range and at close quarters using a drum fire of lefts and rights to the body for which Ambers had no protection. The attack was well executed, but tardy.

HENDRIX BEATS SIR CLIFFORD IN BAHAMA TENNIS

NASSAU, Bahamas, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland, Fla., defeated Sir Bede Clifford, governor of this British possession, 6-3, 6-3, in the second round today of the Bahamas tennis tournament.

In the day's other regular match Elwood Cooke of Portland, Ore., eliminated E. F. Taylor of Nassau, 6-0, 6-1. Several second round matches were played yesterday.

Don Budge of Oakland, Cal., defeated Walter Senior of San Francisco, 6-4, 6-4, in an exhibition. Budge, top ranking United States player, is not competing in the tournament.

Budge and Senior teamed to beat Hendrix and Wayne Sabin of Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-2, in a doubles exhibition.

INCLUDE JAPAN, ENGLAND IN 1940 BASEBALL SERIES

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 10.—(AP)—England and Japan will be included in the 1940 international championship semi-pro baseball series, Raymond Dumont, president of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress, announced here today. This decision followed the closing of the national conference of state commissioners earlier in the week at Chicago, Dumont said.

Minneapolis is being considered as the site of the first international series, which has definitly been scheduled for Sept. 1 to 5, 1938.

be selected in the outlying districts tonight. They will represent the Bloomington, Ill., Pantagraph; Davenport, Ia., Times; Nashville, Tenn., Tennesseean; Atlanta, Ga., Journal, and Burlington, Ia., Hawkeye-Gazette.

Record Crowd at Danville.

Last night in Quincy, Ill., a record breaking Golden Gloves crowd watched the Herald-Whig championship battles. The Danville Commercial News also selected its team of champions last night.

The largest crowd that ever watched a boxing show in Danville looked on while youngsters battled for places on the team that will come to Chicago on Feb. 22.

The fighting at White City was in two rings and it was spectacular. A knockout came in the very first scrap. Lightweight Anthony Kiselus delivered the punch in the second round. His victim was Sam Thomas of 6400 Dorchester avenue.

Harold Typner of the Opal A. A. was the second lad to score a knockout. He put Melvin Blume of the Lincoln-Belmont Y. M. C. A. away in the second round of their lightweight bout.

Bang! and Down He Goes.

The outstanding fight of the night, however, brought together Roland Jones, a colored boy who does chores around a big south side grocery store, and red haired Dan Romonelli, a railroad brakeman from 135 East 117th street.

They were battling for south section welterweight honors and put on one of the most spectacular slugging matches a Golden Gloves crowd ever witnessed. Both scored knockdowns. Jones staged the stronger finish. It got him a close decision. South side boxing fans will long remember that one.

Big Fellows Tonight.

The field in the south section was so large that only the boys in the five lower weight divisions competed last night. The big fellows will have their inning tonight.

4,000 AT MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Another near capacity throng of 4,000 turned out for more than 60 bouts tonight as the Milwaukee sectional Golden Gloves tournament, sponsored by The Journal, moved into its semi-final phase. Competition will continue Feb. 15 and Feb. 17, with the eight open division winners qualifying, as usual, for the Tribune's Tournament of Champions in Chicago.

Novices in eight weight classes dominated tonight's five hour boxing program, with several of the beginners appearing twice in order to keep pace with the field.

Open Division Fights Next Week.

Open division fighters will swing into action for the first time next week. Among entrants in this class are three title winners from a year ago, Roman Ewert, open division 112 pound champion; Raymond [Buck] Kramer, king of the novice division 147 pounders, who is entered in the open division, 160 pound class, this year, and William Smolak, the lightweight victor among beginners 12 months ago.

Braby's Athletic club has taken the lead for the trophy going to the team or organization sending the most boys into actual battle. The Urban league entry, composed of colored lads, and the West Allis Boxing club are close behind.

The present tournament, seventh here since 1931, opened Monday night, when 53 contests were completed.

MONARCH BEERS WIN 3 GAMES IN CLASSIC LEAGUE

The Monarch Beers won three games from the Oak Leaf Motors in the Classic league at the Grob Recreation last night. The Prager Beers took three games from the Charles H. Webers; the Kraft Oke Dokes defeated the Pabst Blue Ribbons in all three games; and the Winkler Motor Service dropped two to the Baby Ruths. The Krafts' 1,051 was high team game.

Paul Krumske of the Baby Ruths totaled 667 with games of 213, 257 and 197; while Eddie Zajac was low with a 448 series.

THREE TIED FOR 2D IN POCKET BILLIARDS MEET

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Edward C. Rogers of Glen Cove, N. Y., went into a three-way tie for second place in the national amateur pocket billiards championship tonight by defeating Herbert Courtney of New York 125 to 119.

The victory was the second in three starts for Rogers, a former champion, and deadlocked him with Shoemaker and Herbert Courtney of New York at two victories and a loss each for second place behind the defending champion, Lewis Brooks of Philadelphia, who has been undefeated in three starts.

Earlier in the day, Courtney had defeated Charles Oliva of Chicago 125 to 36 to advance to the second place tie. Oliva has yet to win his first game, after three starts.

John Carroll Is Next Foe for Loyola

Loyola university's basketball team makes its last home stand of the season tomorrow night with John Carroll university of Cleveland furnishing the opposition. This will be the last Chicago appearance for four members of the squad, Marv Colen, Ed Murray, Ed Calihan, and Johnny Brennan.

With hopes for a clean record smashed by defeat at the University of Chicago last Saturday, the Ramblers put in hard practice sessions this week to preserve their twelve home game winning streak.

The graduating players include four of the most active students on the campus. For the last two years Colen led the team in scoring. Last season he had the rôle of acting captain in the majority of games. Calihan, regular forward for the third year, is also a monogram winner in track. Murray held down the center post for two years, but was shifted to forward this season to provide room for Mike Novak. Brennan, a substitute for three seasons, is president of the Loyola Union, all-university student governing body.

In the 46 games played the last three seasons Colen, Calihan, and Murray have accounted for 791 points, Colen getting 336, Calihan 236, and Murray 219.

PACIFIC COAST SKATERS ARRIVE FOR TITLE MEET

National Event Starts at Chicago Arena Tomorrow.

Pacific coast skaters arrived yesterday for the National Figure Skating meet to be held at the Chicago arena tomorrow and Saturday. Mary Taylor of Los Angeles, Pacific coast champion, was among the far western stars who took their first workout at the arena yesterday.

Frances Johnson of Minneapolis, who recently won the middle western title, also tried out a variety of routines. Roland Janson of the Manhattan Figure Skating club and Robin Lee, the senior champion, were on hand for a brisk workout. More contenders will arrive today and by tomorrow all of the leaders from the various sections will be testing the big rink.

Eugene Turner of Los Angeles remains the favorite in the men's junior event, but with the entry of Ollie Haupt Jr. of the St. Louis Skating club that division will be filled with top notchers. St. Louis came through with some belated entries who should figure in the dance and junior pairs. Josephine Fogassey and Len Fogassey will be the St. Louis representatives in those tests.

Jack Dempsey's Wife Operated On for Appendicitis

Newark, N. J., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey tonight flew from Newark airport to be with his wife, the former Hannah Williams, Broadway stage star, whose appendix was removed today in a Miami Beach, Fla., hospital.

"Everything has to come at once," said the former world heavyweight champion.

"My mother is in a Los Angeles hospital with pernicious anemia. She had a blood transfusion yesterday.

"Last week my sister, out there with her, took another bed in the hospital and now is recovering from an operation.

"Down in Miami the two children are just recovering from intestinal flu. Barbara, the youngest, had a tough time of it."

"Anything else?" the Manassa Mauler was asked.

"O, nothing much," he said as he stepped up the gangway, "only that suit the fellow filed against me for $3,000, saying I slugged him, goes on trial in the morning, and I don't know whether my lawyer can get it postponed or not."

Pastor, Max Baer Bout Fails to Win Approval

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The proposed ten round bout between Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, and Max Baer, former world's heavyweight champion, will not be held on March 19. The New York state athletic commission failed to approve the match today because Baer and his manager, Ancil Hoffman, have not applied for licenses in New York.

Lane Tech's junior basketball team went into a tie with Von Steuben for first place in the north section of the Chicago Public High school league by defeating Waller, 27 to 16, yesterday. Lane Tech and Von Steuben each have scored five victories and they played a 38 to 38 tie early in the season.

The leaders each have three more sectional games to play and two more victories will give them the right to represent the section in the quarterfinal round.

Jacobs, Hope Are Stars.

First and second place teams in each section will qualify for the title playoffs. Tuley of the west section became the first quarter-final qualifier by scoring its sixth victory last Tuesday.

Leading Lane Tech to victory over Waller were Jacobs, center, and Hope, forward. Jacobs contributed three field goals and two free throws, while Hope scored two baskets and three free throws. Lane Tech led at the end of the first half, 13 to 6. It was Waller's third defeat of the season.

Fenger Rally Wins.

Fenger's senior quintet, led by Hezinga and Novotany, forwards, defeated Morgan Park, 30 to 29, in a south section game. Fenger rallied in the last half to score its first league triumph. Morgan Park led, 15 to 10, at the intermission. Lineup:

Branch Rickey, St. Louis Cardinals' general manager, would not comment on the terms of the contract. The Globe-Democrat said tonight Dean's salary last year was $22,500.

Durocher Rallies to Beat Medwick in Florida Golf

Ormond Beach, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Staging a rally during which he won six straight holes after being three down, Leo Durocher, St. Louis Cardinal shortstop, defeated Joe Medwick, star Cardinal outfielder, 3 and 2, in the second round of the Ormond Beach golf championship. Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cards, followed the match in the rain.

Chick Hafey to Try Comeback in Red Outfield

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Chick Hafey, bespectacled, hard hitting outfielder, is going to attempt a comeback with the Cincinnati Reds this season. Hafey, former National league batting champion, has informed General Manager Warren C. Giles that he will report at the Reds' spring training camp in Tampa, Fla.

Chick Hafey.

Hafey, who will be 34 years old Friday, has demanded the same salary he received in 1935, when he went on the voluntary retirement list. Giles said he has offered the veteran his expenses in training camp and return fare to California if he found himself unable to play during the 1937 season.

If the outfielder flashes his old form the Reds will offer a contract which on June 1 will give him a bonus as large as his 1935 salary for that period. Another payment would be made for the second half of the season. Hafey is reported to have received $15,000 two years ago.

HUNK ANDERSON TO SUE COLLEGE FOR CONTRACT

Charlotte, N. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Heartly W. [Hunk] Anderson, who recently was ousted as head football coach at North Carolina State college, today said he would sue the school for $6,000 for its failure to renew his contract.

Anderson, former University of Notre Dame coach, said he felt the money was due him because Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University of North Carolina, ordered him discharged after the state college athletic committee had voted to give him a contract for the 1937 season.

SCHAFER, WORLD FIGURE SKATING KING, TURNS PRO

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Karl Schafer of Austria, Olympic figure skating champion in 1932 and 1936 and world's champion since 1930, announced tonight through Madison Square Garden that he is turning professional.

Schafer recently arrived in this country on an exhibition tour. The Garden said he would appear as a professional in the international carnival March 27, 29, and 31.

His decision was the result of inability to obtain a sanction from the International Skating union to appear as an amateur in this country.

Watery Hell.

Whirling, swirling, angry waters,
  Muddy water everywhere,
Icy, murky, thick germ laden,
  Havoc wrought beyond repair.
Buildings flying, bodies lying,
  Rigid, cold, for nature's wrath
Blindly plunges to destruction
  Every object in her path.

Sobbing children, stricken mothers,
  Victims of the river's prey,
Years of sacrifice and labor
  Crumble, crash, and wash away.
With the dawn of the tomorrow,
  Let us pray that we may see
Nature humbled and receding
  Back to tranquil normalcy.

Mountainy Man Second in Widener Test

Miami, Fla., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—F. L. Flanders wanted to have his colors up in the $50,000 Widener climactic feature of the racing here at Hialeah, so he purchased Mountainy Man, an eligible for that mile and a quarter special. He sent out Mountainy Man this afternoon in the mile and an eighth feature and Mountainy Man came home second. His stablemate, Blackbirder, won. But Blackbirder is not eligible for the Widener.

Blackbirder, with 114 pounds, had four pounds less weight to carry than his more favored stablemate. But he won by two lengths and in a manner to indicate more than a four pounds difference.

Chasar Runs Out.

The test was run over a track that was rated good, but one that was going off rapidly under dousing showers that hit the track between bursts of sunlight. Chasar, a good rough mudder, owned by Mrs. Emil Denemark of Chicago, went to the post an odds-on favorite, but brought up a sorry fourth in a field of five horses, two of which were coupled as the Flanders entry. The winner was timed in 1:51 3-5 and returned $5.60 for $2. The place payoff was as good as $3.50 because the entry ran one-two.

The Danarco race was supposed to be a battle between That Fellow and Rainland, the gelding that defeated Sortie and looked so well as to cause the Shandon farm to purchase a half interest. Rainland competed in the Shandon silks this afternoon and led into the stretch.

Rainland Gets a Third.

There Danarco came to him and made short work of the race. Rainland hung on gamely in the face of a late rush by Fencing, and it appeared to the usual number of competent observers that he had gained second. But the camera favored the outside horse, and Fencing's number was put up as being second, while Rainland was relegated to third place.

NATIONAL BOXING OFFICIALS BAR LEWIS FOR YEAR

Providence, R. I., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Putting into effect a ruling adopted at the annual convention in Houston, Tex., last September, the National Boxing association, through its executive secretary, Edward C. Foster of Providence, today meted out a year's suspension to Light Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis and his manager, W. A. Greenlea of Pittsburgh.

The N. B. A. action grew out of an indefinite suspension of Lewis and Greenlea for their alleged refusal to go through with a contract to meet Tiger Roy Williams at Washington, D. C., last Oct. 13. Lewis broke the newest of the N. B. A. laws when he boxed Art Sykes and Al Ettore in Pennsylvania prior to the ironing out of his difficulties with the District of Columbia commission.

Child Star to Support Sonja in Ice Revue

When Sonja Henie, three times Olympic figure skating champion from Norway skates out on the Chicago stadium ice next week as the headlined star of Ice Revue Internationale, she will be supported by one of the most notable casts of American and Canadian skaters ever assembled. The producing staf of the Stadium has signed 35 professional stars to appear in the big skating spectacle, which will open Thursday night, Feb. 18 to run four nights.

A new star who has never before appeared in a major ice carnival was signed yesterday when the Stadium received the acceptance of an offer to the juvenile skating and acrobatic sensation, 10 year old Adele Inge of Clayton, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis. She is billed as "Adele, the wonder child."

She performs one trick never before attempted by any other skater. From a standing start, with no momentum, she turns forward somersaults in the air without touching her hands to the ice and alights on her skates. She also will appear in a comedy number of her own invention. She has been on skates for only nine months.

Sonja Henie, the star of the Stadium revue is being fêted in Pittsburgh this week, where she has stretched what was scheduled for a run of two performances into four appearances because the Duquesne Gardens was sold out for both of her opening performances.

CHICAGO DAVIS CUP CANDIDATES TO PLAY TONIGHT

Chicago candidates for the United States Davis cup tennis team will begin a round robin series of matches at the University of Chicago fieldhouse tonight. Included in the group are Norman Bickel, Norbert Burgess, Chester and William Murphy, John and Charles Shostrom, George and Russell Ball, Frank Froehling, Seymour Greenberg, and Eugene Richards.

The purpose is to select players of promise for development for the United States Davis Cup team of the future.

MANDOO II. FIRST ACROSS FINISH IN RACE TO NASSAU

Stormy Weather Second, Two Hours Behind.

NASSAU, Bahamas, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Darkness closed in on this ancient fortified port tonight with most of the Miami-Nassau ocean racing fleet still at sea.

Mandoo II., sailed by D. Spencer Berger of New Haven, Conn., was first to finish, covering the 184 nautical miles from the Florida city in 28 hours and 28 minutes.

Almost two hours later, Roderick Stephens Jr., veteran trans-Atlantic yacht racer, piloted the Stormy Weather into the harbor. Close behind came the Tioga, leader for much of the race, and Winsome Too.

Flyer Reports on Fleet.

The Stormy Weather, a 54-foot yawl, is owned by Robert W. Johnson of New York. Harry E. Noyes of Marblehead, Mass., is master of the Tioga, and the Winsome Too is a 64-foot yawl owned by Harkness Edwards of New York.

A Pan American Airways pilot, leaving Nassau in midafternoon, reported that six of the eighteen yachts, including the Mandoo II., were in the van of the fleet, the others some ten miles back.

Weather Is Favorable.

A low handicap may win the race for the Stormy Weather and Stephens, who captured the America to Plymouth race in 1931 and the America to Norway sail in 1935.

The Pan American pilot said the wind was favorable for sailing craft. The surface was comparatively smooth. A rain squall swept Nassau during the afternoon but passed away from the racers.

LOOMIS TO PLAY ACME.

ARON IN HARD DRILL FOR FIGHT WITH LE CADRE

Pair to Clash Monday at Marigold.

Milt Aron, who won the flyweight championship in 1932 and the featherweight title in 1933 in the sectional Golden Gloves trials at Dubuque, Ia., and now is a contender for the world's welterweight crown, started sparring drills yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium in preparation for a ten round bout with Gaston Le Cadre of France at Marigold Gardens Monday. . . . Max Marek, Al Nettlow, and Johnny Brown, all of whom are former Golden Gloves monarchs, and Jimmy Christy, former Catholic Youth organization title holder, boxed yesterday at C. Y. O. center for forthcoming matches. Marek clashes with Tony Shucco for ten rounds at Boston Feb. 24. Nettlow will appear in the semi-final set for eight rounds, probably against Honey Mellody. Brown will compete in a supporting match to the eight round headliner involving Jimmy Christy and Patsy Severo, Cleveland lightweight, at the Marigold arena Feb. 22. Edward A. Hintz, Illinois boxing commissioner and Golden Gloves judge, has been appointed treasurer of the Dave Barry memorial fund, to which 50 per cent of the profits from the Christy-Severo card will be donated. Tommy Thomas, veteran Golden Gloves and commission referee, is head of the fund committee.

Negotiations were started yesterday to arrange a bout between Milt Aron and Frank Sagilio, or Maurice Strickland and Johnny Erjavec at White City Feb. 26. . . . An amateur show for the benefit of flood sufferers will be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., next Wednesday. . . . Oscar Rankin, California light heavyweight, has returned from Pittsburgh where he was stopped in one round by Bud Mignault Monday. Rankin, who was a 10 to 3 favorite over Mignault, is in quest of a rematch. Mignault is signed to appear in a supplementary contest to the 15 round middleweight championship scrap between Champion Freddy Steele and Babe Risko at Madison Square Garden a week from tomorrow. . . . Clyde Moore, head of a Chicago electrical engineering company, plans to operate a community boxing club on the west side within the next few weeks. . . . Pat Schoenberger, Kansas City, Mo., amateur welterweight, and George Dion of Kankakee have been signed to meet for five rounds at the Madison Athletic club tomorrow. Johnny [Twin] Helstrom is paired with Verle Davis, Kankakee lightweight, in a cofeature at five rounds. . . . Dave Clark, 1935 Chicago Golden Gloves intercity and international middleweight king, will fight in a preliminary to the ten round windup involving Joe Louis and Natie Brown at Kansas City, Mo., Wednesday.

Champion of Irish Setters Is Dethroned

Handled by Harold Correll, the well acting setter was chosen over a field of thirteen, which included Champion Milson O'Boy, Mrs. Cheever Porter's dog, who last year was chosen best of the hunting breed and ranked high when the best of show was chosen.

Champion Milson O'Boy caught the crowd's fancy early and held it throughout the 1936 show, and brought applause from numerous friends in the gallery tonight who remembered his action in the ring and wanted him to repeat.

Champion Faces Test.

But Mrs. Florence Nagle, a Southampton, England, woman who judged the setters in today's first showing of the sixty-first Westminster Kennel club show, picked out the younger dog.

Tomorrow Champion St. Marget Magnificent of Clairedale, best in the 1936 show, faces his big test as the Sealyham judging begins.

Foxcatcher Squire Wins.

Another winner in tonight's show was Champion Foxcatcher Squire, a beagle from the Foxcatcher kennels, Bellevue, Del., chosen best of breed

The cocker spaniel best of breed was Champion Torohille Smoky, owned by Peter Dunne Garvan of Roslyn, L. I. The cockers are the most numerous breed in the show.

EVANSVILLE, IND., GOLFER LEADS IN FLORIDA TOURNEY

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Ralph Stevens, Evansville, Ind., led a field of twenty-nine golfers in the first round of the third annual Florida amateur medal play championship at the Lakewood Country club today with a 76, 5 over par. The final thirty-six holes will be played tomorrow. Stevens, out in 36, even par, encountered difficulties coming back and posted a 40, 5 over par.

The Indiana golfer led George Bolesta, Panama City, Fla., the defending champion, and George Edmondson, veteran Tampa, Fla., golfer, by a single stroke. Lloyd Brown, pitcher for the Cleveland club of the American league, carded a 78.

Oral Hildebrand Signs Contract with Browns

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Oral Hildebrand, pitcher, one of three players obtained from Cleveland, appeared at the St. Louis Browns' office today and signed his 1937 contract. Terms were not disclosed.

JOHN WERRING	101	5	1	2^2	2^1	8	8	J.Jaekle	29.10-1

Time, 1:38 2-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Hermie Roy $18.40 straight, $8.60 place, $5.00 show; Kerry Patch $3.80 place, $3.10 show; Bellum $3.70 show. Winner, bg., 6, by Brown Bud-Prodigy. Owner, P. Bieber. Trainer, P. Bieber. Start good. Won easily; place driving.

HERMIE ROY was outrun going into backstretch, began to move up turning out of backstretch, came around field, caught leader at furlong pole and won going away. KERRY PATCH closed fast and was next best. BELLUM did not appear to like the going. ATTA KNIGHT had no mishap. COUNT RAE stopped badly after assuming the lead.

FIFTH RACE—Three year olds and up. Graded handicap, class C. One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

NED STORM	104	5	3	2^5	$2^{1\,1/2}$	5	5	H.LeBlanc	10.30-1

†F. L. Flanders entry.

Time, 1:51. Two dollar mutuels paid: Blackbirder $5.60 straight, $3.50 place, out to show; Mountainy Man $3.50 place, out to show; Old Comrade, out to show. Winner, dk. bg., 5, by Bostonian-Kenya. Owner, F. L. Flanders. Trainer, R. McIlvain. Start good. Won easily; place same.

BLACKBIRDER, at home in the going, followed pace to top of stretch where he moved into lead and was going away at end. MOUNTAINY MAN broke well in motion, assumed lead early, set fast past in the going and was next best. OLD COMRADE appeared sore going to the post, but ran out of it and finished well. CHASAR was hard ridden last half mile, but failed to close any ground. He ran as if he did not like the going. NED STORM ran well for six furlongs then quit.

SEVENTH RACE—Three year olds. Six and one-half furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, 1:18. Two dollar mutuels paid: Danarco $6.40 straight, $3.60 place, $2.60 show; Fencing $8.10 place, $4.20 show; Rainland $2.60 show. Winner, bg., 3, by Caruso-Diana D. Owner, Cosgrave stable. Trainer, A. E. Alexandra. Start good. Won driving; place same.

DANARCO, at home in the going, moved up fast on inside around turn, was taken around RAINLAND entering stretch, assumed lead and held on well. FENCING, well up all the way, finished with a good burst of speed. RAINLAND broke good, showed speed and made a game effort. PAR was lame going to the post. AFTERMATH was outrun.

EIGHTH RACE—Four year olds and up. Claiming. One and one-eighth miles. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

FISHING THROUGH ICE IS A KEEN BUT COLD SPORT

Pickerel Reported Biting Well in Fox Lake.

BY BOB BECKER.

The fishermen who do not mind playing around on the ice are having a little fun in northern Illinois waters, according to reports from the ice fishing front. Here is a late flash on conditions as relayed to us by Walter Prehm of Lake Zurich. He writes:

"Ice fishing is getting good in this section. Crappies have been biting pretty good in the Fox river. Starting from Burton's bridge and then going south to Bay View beach and Mrs. Nielson's, the fishermen have been doing pretty well. The channels off the river seem to be the best grounds. Pickerel have been biting in Fox lake.

Ice Fishing Is Legal.

According to Illinois laws it is legal to fish through the ice during the winter, although fishing shanties are barred. If you want to try your luck through the ice you have to sit out in the open. But this isn't so hard to do unless there is a strong wind blowing.

Last winter when we were on Fox lake with the pickerel and bluegill fishermen some of the boys rigged up windbreaks near their fishing holes and thus were able to get some protection from the wind.

Most of the ice fishermen who spend considerable time fishing during the winter months have rather impressive outfits. They use sleds on which to haul their equipment. Many of the fishermen place large minnow cans on these sleds so they are able to take their live bait anywhere without much trouble. Then they can use these sleds for seats near the fishing holes. But there are many fishermen who bring worms to bait their hooks.

Sport at Lake Geneva.

At Lake Geneva, a dandy lake for ice boating when the ice is right, you find the cisco fishermen having a fine time during the winter. When we visited the lake one afternoon early in March last year the ice was dotted with heated shanties in which the cisco squads were hooking the small silvery fish. The ice was about 24 inches thick, so we could drive all over the lake in our car.

Although cisco fishing is fun, the trouble with that species of fish is its small size. It's such a little fellow that you do not get much of a thrill in landing it.

ROPER SCORES KNOCKOUT OVER SHELBY IN FIRST

Andy Scrivani, former American Olympic Golden Gloves lightweight champion, defeated Charley Mack, Milwaukee, in five rounds in the semifinal. Other results:

Chuck McCarthy beat Vane Surby, [4]; Billy Gladstone knocked out Jack McCarthy, [2]; Henry Cullen stopped Pat O'Brien, [1].

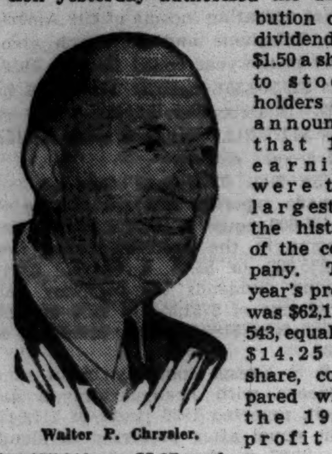
CHRYSLER PAYS $1.50; EARNINGS SET A RECORD

Profit Is 62 Millions, or $14.25 a Share.

Directors of the Chrysler corporation yesterday authorized the distribution of a dividend of $1.50 a share to stockholders and announced that 1936 earnings were the largest in the history of the company. The year's profit was $62,110,543, equal to $14.25 a share, compared with the 1935 profit of $34,975,819, or $8.07 a share.



Walter P. Chrysler.

The company sold 1,066,229 motor vehicles last year, the largest volume in its history. In 1935, the previous record year, the company sold 843,599 vehicles.

No Regular Dividend Rate.

The dividend authorized yesterday will be paid March 13 to stockholders of record Feb. 20. The company does not maintain a regular dividend rate. The last distribution was $5.50 a share in December. Other dividends paid last year were: March 31, $1; June 30, $1.50, and Sept. 15, $4.

The best previous year of the company was 1935, both in volume of business done and profit earned. The 1936 profit is more than four times the 1929 profit of $21,902,000, which prior to 1935 was the company's best year. The company operated profitably in the depression years with the single exception of 1932, when a deficit of $11,254,000 was incurred.

In the first nine months of 1936, the company's statement showed profit amounted to $41,975,000 after all taxes, including surtax on undistributed earnings, equal to $9.63 a share. This indicates a last quarter profit of more than 20 million dollars, nearly equal to the 1929 total.

Employment Situation Better.

In his report, Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, said that as a result of the change from midwinter to fall introduction of new models, "employment was stabilized to a greater extent than was possible under previous operating conditions."

"During the year the corporation increased its wage rates and paid higher than the average in the automobile industry, which is one of the highest wage rate industries in the country," Chrysler said. "The wage rates now being paid are the highest in the history of the corporation."

Chrysler now ranks third among automobile producers, led only by General Motors and Ford. It manufactures about one in every four automobiles sold in the United States.

DUTCH TRANSFER CURRENCY HERE; GUILDER BREAKS

Transfer of investment funds from the Netherlands to the United States yesterday through buying dollars and selling equal amounts of guilders brought a break in the Dutch currency in terms of American money. The guilder, pegged for the last month at 54.76 cents, fell 0.09½ cent to 54.66 cents in the foreign exchange market. Dutch officials apparently made no attempt to check the decline by supporting operations.

Other foreign currencies were irregular. The British pound advanced a quarter cent in New York to $4.89⅞ and the French franc gained 0.00⅝ of a cent to 4.66⅝ cents. In London the pound was unchanged at $4.89⅝. The franc closed in Paris at the equivalent of 4.658 cents.

Gold engaged yesterday for shipment to this country totaled $4,310,000, of which $1,836,000 was engaged in England and $2,546,000 in Canada.

EXPECT THREE CLOSED BANKS TO MAKE RETURN

Approximately $125,000 is expected to be paid depositors of three more closed state banks in the next few months, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett's quarterly report on closed Cook county state banks disclosed yesterday.

The banks expected to make repayments are the Woodlawn Trust and Savings, West City Trust and Savings and Westwood State.

Complete reports on the condition of 32 closed state banks will be published in the Metropolitan section of Sunday's TRIBUNE this week.

MILWAUKEE RY. OBSERVES 90TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad today is observing the ninetieth anniversary of its birth. On Feb. 11, 1847, Gov. Henry Dodge of Wisconsin approved a bill incorporating the Milwaukee and Waukesha Railroad company, which was given the right to construct a railroad between the two towns, a distance of 21 miles. From that beginning has grown the Milwaukee system, which now operates over 11,000 miles of track in 12 states.

On Feb. 1, 1850, the name was changed to the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad, by November of that year five miles had been completed to Wauwatosa, and on Feb. 25, 1851, the road to Waukesha was opened. It reached the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien in 1857.

CHICAGO AREA'S JANUARY STORE SALES LARGEST

January department store sales of the Chicago federal reserve area showed the largest gain of any reserve district compared with a year ago, the federal reserve board announced yesterday. The upturn was 20 per cent.

The board's adjusted sales index for the entire country last month was 92 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, compared with 81 per cent a year ago, and 92 per cent in December, 1936.

Another report released yesterday by the federal bureau of foreign and domestic commerce showed that retail sales of independent stores operating in Chicago increased 16.5 per cent in 1936 over the preceding year.

The sales totaled $63,553,300, against $54,520,800 in 1935. The percentage of increase was approximately the same as that for all of Illinois, when sales rose to $126,609,000 from $108,465,400 in 1935, a gain of 16.7 per cent.

Evanston had the largest percentage increase of any Illinois city in total retail sales on a gain of 29 per cent. The smallest gain was recorded by Bloomington, only 7.1 per cent.

Two Insurance Companies Report Gains During 1936

The New York Life Insurance company yesterday reported an increase of $40,000,000 in insurance in force during 1936, and again of $160,000,000 in assets. The insurance in force totaled $6,660,000,000 and assets $2,404,236,413 at the end of the year. The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company's insurance totaled $3,815,663,270 on Dec. 31, a new record. Assets were $796,393,304, a gain of $64,892,388.

Japan Plans to Drop Steel Import Duty for Two Years

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The government decided today to introduce legislation in the diet exempting steel and pig iron from import duties for two years. Tarif losses, it estimated, would cost the government 15,000,000 yen annually [about $3,845,000], but extensive military building produced a famine of the metals in the country and sent prices sky rocketing.

STEEL SHARES AGAIN CARRY LIST UPWARD

Many Climb to New High Levels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Picking up the leadership in a rally started by spirited buying of utility shares, steel issues today carried the stock market onto higher ground. Enough new demand appeared to lift prices fractions to 4 points.

Prices were strong from the beginning and profit taking proved only a minor obstacle in the path to higher levels, as it was offset by short covering. Along with the vigorous bullish demonstration in the steel group considerable buying occurred in the coppers and rails, encouraging the public to take on new commitments. Sales amounted to 2,912,120 shares.

U. S. Steel Is Leader.

United States Steel again was the center of interest, bringing a higher price than it has at any time in the last six years and closing at 105⅝, a net gain of 4 points. Other steel shares followed the movement, some establishing new high marks. They included Bethlehem, up 3⅝; Crucible, up a major fraction; National, up 1¼; Pittsburgh Steel, up 1¼; Sharon, up 1½; Superior, up 1¾; and Republic, up a large fraction. In addition, substantial advances were registered by Wheeling, Youngstown, and Acme.

Midweek reviews of the steel trade reported a further gain in operations, on top of a January output that was an all-time record. Added to that, the United States Steel corporation's shipments in January were exceptionally large, especially in view of the automobile strike and floods. Predictions are being made that the corporation's earnings for the first quarter will be the best "since the prosperous years."

Other Developments Bullish.

Several other factors joined forces to nourish bullish sentiment. The overnight announcement that two large utility holding systems had decided to register under the provisions of the holding company act came as a tonic for the power shares as traders viewed the move as constructive. Both American Water Works and North American, the two concerns involved, opened a point higher and held their gains to the end.

Coppers, late features, were bought on expectations of higher domestic prices. Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, and Anaconda were active.

Carriers Have Good Day.

Carrier shares enjoyed their best day for some time. Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley, usually backward, were conspicuous, and New York Central rose more than a point. Early reports indicated a marked pickup in car loadings, as compared with the preceding week.

An air of heaviness hung about aviation issues as a result of the latest tragedy on the west coast. United Air Lines sold off more than a point.

Rubber stocks continued to rise, the gains running to more than 4 points in Goodyear. Lima and New York Air Brake were strong rail equipments.

Can company stocks fought off their depression and came forward. Merchandising issues improved. Case dropped in the farm implements, but Deere posted a gain of nearly 2 points. Mail orders acted well. Amusements softened.

Many low priced issues including American Zinc, International Telephone, and American Agricultural had brisk turnovers. Coca Cola rose 3 points to a new high level.

Health Note—Codliver Oil Imports Set Record

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Codliver oil imports last year rose to an all time high mark, totaling 5,790,000 gallons, valued at $3,547,000, C. C. Concannon, chief of the chemical division of the department of commerce, reported today. Norway provided the United States with approximately 60 per cent of its codliver oil requirements, the remainder coming from Iceland and Newfoundland.

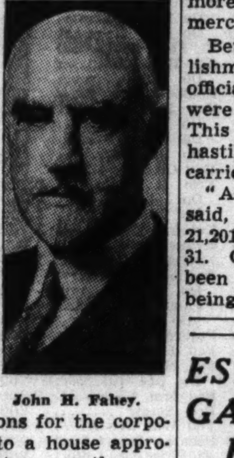
HOLC Collects Only 75 Pct. of Loan Instalments Due

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Home Owners Loan corporation, which its director, John H. Fahey, describes as the largest home loan agency in the world, is having difficulty in making collections. Of $529,605,397 in instalments due last Nov. 1, the corporation collected only $402,520,282, or approximately 76 per cent, an official said today.



John H. Fahey.

Fahey advanced several reasons for the corporation's difficulties to a house appropriations subcommittee recently.

"Those with whom we have the greatest difficulties," he said, "are those who have the small loans [$400 and up]. They get into more trouble because of the limited family income." Collection difficulties, he added, "are affected by every change in the economic situation in any area."

Collections from 600 borrowers stopped at Racine, Wis., Fahey recalled, when the J. I. Case plant was shut down. As a result of the recent maritime strike, collections on the Pacific coast dropped between $600,000 and $700,000 in two months.

"The collection job in any kind of instalment business is a difficult one," the director added. "But the particular kind of case we have is more difficult than in the ordinary merchandising institution."

Between time of the HOLC establishment in 1934 and last Dec. 31, officials estimated today, foreclosures were authorized on 67,735 homes. This did not indicate, they added hastily, that the foreclosures were carried out.

"As a matter of fact," one official said, "the corporation acquired only 21,201 pieces of property up to Dec. 31. Of that number 630 homes have been sold. The remainder are either being rented or held for future sale."

ESTIMATE SHARP GAIN IN RAILROAD FREIGHT TRAFIC

Railroad freight trafic last week registered a gain of approximately 44,000 cars over the preceding week, totaling about 700,000 cars, it was estimated yesterday on the basis of reports from individual railroads released so far this week.

JAPAN BUYS ANOTHER STEEL MILL IN U. S.; SECOND ORDER IN WEEK

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—The Mesta Machine company today announced it has received a $5,000,000 order for a five stand tinplate mill and two planishing stands to be built complete at the Mesta plant here for the Nippon Steel Corporation of Japan.

This is the second large order for steel equipment received by Pittsburgh firms from Japan. Last week Mitsui & Co., Ltd., New York, representing Japanese interests, ordered a new 43 inch continuous hot strip mill from United Engineering and Foundry company.

Part of the electrical equipment for the Mesta order will be fabricated by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company at its East Pittsburgh plant and the remainder will be built in Japan from Westinghouse designs, it was announced.

The order for the mill was placed by the Mitsubishi Soji Kaisha Company of New York.

The United Engineering and Foundry company announced today it received an order from Rustless Iron and Steel company of Baltimore for a new 12 inch merchant mill.

The mill will be used for rolling various sections of stainless steel. It consists of seven roll stands, three cropping shears, and will be driven by a 700 horse power motor.

The mill is to be completed in time for operation in May. The cost was not disclosed.

FIRMS OF VARIED INDUSTRY ALIKE IN PROFIT GAINS

Some Set Records, but All Improve.

Earnings statements for 1936 released yesterday by corporations showed uniform improvement in results over the preceding year. In many cases the results were the best in several years. Chicago Railway Equipment company reported the best year since 1929; Gillette Safety Razor company had the largest profit since 1932, and the Western Auto Supply company's earnings reached a new Kelvinator corporation, Motor Wheel corporation, and the S. S. Kresge company.

George W. Mason.

Gillette Safety Razor had 1936 profit of $4,975,888, equal to $1.72 a share on common stock after provision for preferred dividends. In the preceding year the company earned $4,568,804, or $1.51 per common share.

Best Results Since 1929.

The 1936 results of the Chicago Railway Equipment company were the best since 1929, A. C. Moore, president, reported in the annual statement issued last night. Net income for the year was $405,855, the first substantial profit earned by the company since 1930. From 1931 through 1933 the company operated at a loss and showed only small profits in 1934 and 1935. Revival in 1936 of equipment buying by railroads resulted in a material improvement in operating results. The company earned only $9,011 in 1935. With the exception of 1929, when profit was $602,061, last year's showing is the best on record.

Western Auto Supply company reported that earnings for 1936 were the largest in its history. Profit was $2,066,014, equal to $8.96 a share on the combined A and B stock. In 1935 net profit was $867,896, equal to $4.42 a share.

Kelvinator Sales a Record.

The largest sale of Kelvinator refrigerating units in the company's history were reported by George W. Mason, president of the Nash-Kelvinator corporation, in a letter to stockholders, the final report of the Kelvinator corporation as a separte entity, because of the merger of Nash and Kelvinator this winter. He said profits of Kelvinator in the fiscal year just closed amounted to $1,552,162,

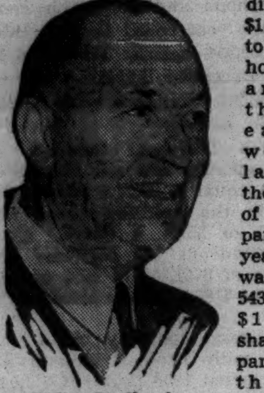
CHRYSLER PAYS $1.50; EARNINGS SET A RECORD

Profit Is 62 Millions, or $14.25 a Share.

Directors of the Chrysler corporation yesterday authorized the distribution of a dividend of $1.50 a share to stockholders and announced that 1936 earnings were the largest in the history of the company. The year's profit was $62,110,543, equal to $14.25 a share, compared with the 1935 profit of $34,975,819, or $8.07 a share.



Walter P. Chrysler.

The company sold 1,066,229 motor vehicles last year, the largest volume in its history. In 1935, the previous record year, the company sold 843,599 vehicles.

No Regular Dividend Rate.

The dividend authorized yesterday will be paid March 13 to stockholders of record Feb. 20. The company does not maintain a regular dividend rate. The last distribution was $5.50 a share in December. Other dividends paid last year were: March 31, $1; June 30, $1.50, and Sept. 15, $4.

The best previous year of the company was 1935, both in volume of business done and profit earned. The 1936 profit is more than four times the 1929 profit of $21,902,000, which prior to 1935 was the company's best year. The company operated profitably in the depression years with the single exception of 1932, when a deficit of $11,254,000 was incurred.

In the first nine months of 1936, the company's statement showed profit amounted to $41,975,000 after all taxes, including surtax on undistributed earnings, equal to $9.63 a share. This indicates a last quarter profit of more than 20 million dollars, nearly equal to the 1929 total.

Employment Situation Better.

In his report, Walter P. Chrysler, chairman of the board, said that as a result of the change from midwinter to fall introduction of new models, "employment was stabilized to a greater extent than was possible under previous operating conditions."

"During the year the corporation increased its wage rates and paid higher than the average in the automobile industry, which is one of the highest wage rate industries in the country," Chrysler said. "The wage rates now being paid are the highest in the history of the corporation."

The company announced a wage increase of 13 to 14 million dollars yearly on Tuesday.

Chrysler now ranks third among automobile producers, led only by General Motors and Ford. It manufactures about one in every four automobiles sold in the United States.

DUTCH TRANSFER CURRENCY HERE; GUILDER BREAKS

Transfer of investment funds from the Netherlands to the United States yesterday through buying dollars and selling equal amounts of guilders brought a break in the Dutch currency in terms of American money. The guilder, pegged for the last month at 54.76 cents, fell 0.09½ cent to 54.66 cents in the foreign exchange market. Dutch officials apparently made no attempt to check the decline by supporting operations.

Other foreign currencies were irregular. The British pound advanced a quarter cent in New York to $4.89⅞ and the French franc gained 0.00⅝ of a cent to 4.66⅝ cents. In London the pound was unchanged at $4.89⅝. The franc closed in Paris at the equivalent of 4.658 cents.

Gold engaged yesterday for shipment to this country totaled $4,310,000, of which $1,836,000 was engaged in England and $2,546,000 in Canada.

EXPECT THREE CLOSED BANKS TO MAKE RETURN

Approximately $125,000 is expected to be paid depositors of three more closed state banks in the next few months, State Auditor Edward J. Barrett's quarterly report on closed Cook county state banks disclosed yesterday.

The banks expected to make repayments are the Woodlawn Trust and Savings, West City Trust and Savings and Westwood State.

Complete reports on the condition of 32 closed state banks will be published in the Metropolitan section of Sunday's TRIBUNE this week.

U. S. Steel's Shipments Set 8 Year Peak

January shipments of finished steel by the United States Steel corporation were the largest for that month since 1929, and the largest for any month since May, 1930, the company reported yesterday.

Shipments totaled 1,149,918 tons, an increase of 82,553 tons over the preceding month and a rise of 428,504 tons over January, 1936. Last month's total was close to the January record of 1929, when the company shipped 1,267,823 tons of finished steel. In only two months last year, October and December, did shipments exceed a million tons.

Output at 7 Year Peak.

National ingot production rose 2 points this week to equal the preflood high mark—81 per cent of plant capacity—a seven year peak, the magazine Iron Age reported yesterday. That the present high rate of production can be maintained in the face of motor strikes and the fact that many flooded southern Ohio plants are operating at an average production of only 19 per cent, point to a still higher rate when these troubles are ended, the journal said.

January steel output, the publication reported, set an all-time high record for that month and was only 10 per cent below the peak figure of 5,273,167 gross tons in May, 1929. Last month's total was 4,736,697 tons.

Expect Rate to Continue.

"Barring a soft coal miners' strike and possible labor troubles in steel plants," Iron Age continued, "major steel companies are confident they will maintain the present rate during the remainder of the first half year. There is no doubt as to the first quarter, as present backlogs assure production of all the steel that shortages of raw materials will permit. There will be considerable carryover of tonnage into the second quarter."

That a world shortage of pig iron exists is illustrated by a recent inquiry for 100,000 tons for Great Britain, following recent large purchases by Japan, but steel companies have no iron to spare and merchant furnaces that are not now in blast are confronted by shortage of coke and ore, according to Iron Age.

Scrap prices moved higher. An advance of 25 cents a ton on heavy melting steel at Pittsburgh pushed the Iron Age composite price to $19, the highest since Jan. 27, 1935.

Markets and Banks Close Tomorrow

The New York and Chicago Stock exchanges, the Chicago Board of Trade, and most other commodity and security exchanges will be closed tomorrow, Lincoln's birthday, a legal holiday in New York and Illinois. Banks also will be closed. Most exchanges will resume business Saturday morning. The New York Cocoa exchange will remain closed Saturday, resuming regular business Monday morning. Markets which will not observe the Friday holiday include the New Orleans cotton exchange and the Chicago Live Stock exchange.

MILWAUKEE RY. OBSERVES 90TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad today is observing the ninetieth anniversary of its birth. On Feb. 11, 1847, Gov. Henry Dodge of Wisconsin approved a bill incorporating the Milwaukee and Waukesha Railroad company, which was given the right to construct a railroad between the two towns, a distance of 21 miles. From that beginning has grown the Milwaukee system, which now operates over 11,000 miles of track in 12 states.

On Feb. 1, 1850, the name was changed to the Milwaukee and Mississippi railroad, by November of that year five miles had been completed to Wauwatosa, and on Feb. 25, 1851, the road to Waukesha was opened. It reached the Mississippi at Prairie du Chien in 1857.

CHICAGO AREA'S JANUARY STORE SALES LARGEST

January department store sales of the Chicago federal reserve area showed the largest gain of any reserve district compared with a year ago, the federal reserve board announced yesterday. The upturn was 20 per cent.

The board's adjusted sales index for the entire country last month was 92 per cent of the 1923-'25 average, compared with 81 per cent a year ago, and 92 per cent in December, 1936.

Another report released yesterday by the federal bureau of foreign and domestic commerce showed that retail sales of independent stores operating in Chicago increased 16.5 per cent in 1936 over the preceding year.

The sales totaled $63,553,300, against $54,520,800 in 1935. The percentage of increase was approximately the same as that for all of Illinois, when sales rose to $126,609,000 from $108,465,400 in 1935, a gain of 16.7 per cent.

Evanston had the largest percentage increase of any Illinois city in total retail sales on a gain of 29 per cent. The smallest gain was recorded by Bloomington, only 7.1 per cent.

Two Insurance Companies Report Gains During 1936

The New York Life Insurance company yesterday reported an increase of $40,000,000 in insurance in force during 1936, and again of $160,000,000 in assets. The insurance in force totaled $6,660,000,000 and assets $2,404,236,413 at the end of the year. The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance company's insurance totaled $3,815,663,270 on Dec. 31, a new record. Assets were $796,393,304, a gain of $64,892,388.

Japan Plans to Drop Steel Import Duty for Two Years

TOKIO, Feb. 10.—(AP)—The government decided today to introduce legislation in the diet exempting steel and pig iron from import duties for two years. Tarif losses, it estimated, would cost the government 15,000,000 yen annually [about $3,845,000], but extensive military building produced a famine of the metals in the country and sent prices sky rocketing.

STEEL SHARES AGAIN CARRY LIST UPWARD

Many Climb to New High Levels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Picking up the leadership in a rally started by spirited buying of utility shares, steel issues today carried the stock market onto higher ground. Enough new demand appeared to lift prices fractions to 4 points.

Prices were strong from the beginning and profit taking proved only a minor obstacle in the path to higher levels, as it was offset by short covering. Along with the vigorous bullish demonstration in the steel group considerable buying occurred in the coppers and rails, encouraging the public to take on new commitments. Sales amounted to 2,912,120 shares.

U. S. Steel Is Leader.

United States Steel again was the center of interest, bringing a higher price than it has at any time in the last six years and closing at 105⅝, a net gain of 4 points. Other steel shares followed the movement, some establishing new high marks. They included Bethlehem, up 3⅝; Crucible, up a major fraction; National, up 1¼; Pittsburgh Steel, up 1¼; Sharon, up 1½; Superior, up 1⅜; and Republic, up a large fraction. In addition, substantial advances were registered by Wheeling, Youngstown, and Acme.

Midweek reviews of the steel trade reported a further gain in operations, on top of a January output that was an all-time record. Added to that, the United States Steel corporation's shipments in January were exceptionally large, especially in view of the automobile strike and floods. Predictions are being made that the corporation's earnings for the first quarter will be the best "since the prosperous years."

Other Developments Bullish.

Several other factors joined forces to nourish bullish sentiment. The overnight announcement that two large utility holding systems had decided to register under the provisions of the holding company act came as a tonic for the power shares as traders viewed the move as constructive. Both American Water Works and North American, the two concerns involved, opened a point higher and held their gains to the end.

Coppers, late features, were bought on expectations of higher domestic prices. Kennecott, Cerro de Pasco, and Anaconda were active.

In the auto section, Chrysler raced ahead 3½ points on hopes the directors would ladle out a good dividend. General Motors picked up more than a point and Mack advanced 2.

Carriers Have Good Day.

Carrier shares enjoyed their best day for some time. Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley, usually backward, were conspicuous, and New York Central rose more than a point. Early reports indicated a marked pickup in car loadings, as compared with the preceding week.

An air of heaviness hung about aviation issues as a result of the latest tragedy on the west coast. United Air Lines sold off more than a point.

Rubber stocks continued to rise, the gains running to more than 4 points in Goodyear. Lima and New York Air Brake were strong rail equipments.

Can company stocks fought off their depression and came forward. Merchandising issues improved. Case dropped in the farm implements, but Deere posted a gain of nearly 2 points. Mail orders acted well. Amusements softened.

Many low priced issues including American Zinc, International Telephone, and American Agricultural had brisk turnovers. Coca Cola rose 3 points to a new high level.

Health Note—Codliver Oil Imports Set Record

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Codliver oil imports last year rose to an all time high mark, totaling 5,790,000 gallons, valued at $3,547,000, C. C. Concannon, chief of the chemical division of the department of commerce, reported today. Norway provided the United States with approximately 60 per cent of its codliver oil requirements, the remainder coming from Iceland and Newfoundland.

EASTMAN KODAK BOOSTS ANNUAL DIVIDEND TO $6

Votes Quarterly Payment of $1.50 a Share.

Directors of the Eastman Kodak company yesterday increased the annual dividend rate by declaring a quarterly payment of $1.50 a share on the common stock, compared with the $1.25 payment previously made quarterly. Last year the company paid occasional extras, the last a year-end disbursement of $1.50. Yesterday's action establishes a yearly rate of $6 a share.

An extra dividend of 12 cents a share and the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents were declared by the Great Northern Paper company.

The Calamba Sugar Estate voted an extra common dividend of 60 cents a share, the regularly quarterly dividend of 40 cents a share, and the usual preferred dividend of 35 cents.

Rayon Concern Resumes.

The Tubize Chatillon corporation ordered a disbursement of $1 on the class A stock, the first to be paid on the issue.

Crown Willamette Paper company declared $1.16⅔ a share to apply on accumulations on the first preferred stock, reducing the arrears to $11 a share.

International Utilities corporation voted to clear up dividend accumulations on prior preferred shares—$4 a share on the 7 per cent issue and $2 on the $3.50 issue.

Regular payments were ordered by several concerns. Michigan Steel Tube Products company voted 25 cents a share; Bullocks, Inc., declared 50 cents a share; Frank G. Shattuck company ordered a payment of 15 cents a share, and the Atlantic Refining company declared 25 cents a share.

Others Vote Usual Payments.

El Dorado Oil works voted a dividend of 40 cents a share, and the Devoe & Raynolds company declared 75 cents a share each on common A and B stocks.

Directors of the Philadelphia company voted quarterly dividends of $1.50 a share on the $6 cumulative preference stock and $1.25 a share on the $5 cumulative preference stock. The Duquesne Light company declared a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on its 5 per cent cumulative first preferred.

PLAN MERGER OF NATIONAL CAN AND M'KEESPORT

New York, Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Plans for merging the McKeesport Tin Plate company and its subsidiary, National Can company, were announced today by G. V. Perkins, president of the parent concern. The name of the merged concern will be changed to McKeesport Tin Plate corporation, Perkins said.

Two shares of $10 par stock of the McKeesport Tin Plate corporation will be exchanged for each share now outstanding of McKeesport Tin Plate company and National Can. A special meeting of McKeesport Tin Plate stockholders will be held March 11 to vote on the merger, and National Can company stockholders will meet March 8.

Substantial economies will result from the merger in the way of tax saving and from integrated operation of the two companies, Perkins said.

DROP IN POWER OUTPUT GREATER THAN SEASONAL

A greater than seasonal decline was registered in electric power production in the United States last week, according to the Edison Electric institute. Power generated totaled 2,201,057,000 kilowatt hours, against 2,214,654,000 a week earlier, a decrease of 0.7 per cent. Compared with the corresponding period of 1936 when production totaled 1,962,827,000 kilowatt hours, a gain of 12.1 per cent was shown.

Of the major geographical regions to report increases over the year ago figures, the central west scored the largest advance—14 per cent.

Chicago area electricity output totaled 135,320,000 kilowatt hours last week, compared with 120,983,000 kilowatt hours in the corresponding week a year ago, according to reports of the four companies serving the Chicago area. This was an increase of 11.8 per cent. In the preceding week output here amounted to 134,946,000 kilowatt hours.

compared with profit for the preceding fiscal year of $1,199,445.

Net profit of $1,800,933 for 1936 was reported by the Motor Wheel corporation after provision for the surtax on undistributed earnings. Net income was equal to $2.12 a share on common stock, compared with $1,087,979 or $1.28 a share in 1935.

Telephone Income Much Higher.

Net operating income of the American Telephone and Telegraph company in the year ended Dec. 31, 1936, was $25,309,857, against $15,862,436 in 1935. In December operating income was $4,058,212, compared with $1,515,374 a year earlier.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada reported 1936 net income of $5,455,600, equal to $6.94 a share. Net income in the preceding year was $4,475,223, or $5.74 a share. After paying dividends the company had a surplus of $751,457 in 1936 against a deficit of $186,398 after dividends of 1935.

S. S. Kresge company, chain store concern with headquarters in Detroit, reported 1936 profit of $11,042,139, equal after preferred dividends to $1.97 a share on the common stock. This compares with the 1935 profit of $10,214,946 or $1.82 a share.

J. G. Brill company earnings were $216,516, after surtax, equal to $4.73 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock on which there is an accumulation of unpaid dividends. In 1935 the company incurred a deficit of $853,401. The concern is controled by the Brill corporation, a subsidiary of American Car and Foundry company.

Associated Gas Has Gain.

Associated Gas and Electric company issued a preliminary report for 1936 listing net income of $35,528,370 before provision for interest and preferred dividends of underlying companies. This compares with $33,371,194 on the same basis in 1935. Gross earnings were $118,119,485, against $110,178,621 in 1935.

Cleveland Graphite Bronze company's 1936 net income was $1,238,659 after provision of $65,444 for surtax on undistributed earnings. The per share income was $3.85. In the preceding year net income was $1,273,117 or $3.65 a share.

Globe Wernicke company reported 1936 profit of $90,274, compared with $98,090 in 1935. Unemployment insurance taxes and other new expenses contributed to the shrinkage in profits, the company said.

Slight Improvement Shown.

New Jersey Zinc company's 1936 profit was $5,250,789, equal to $2.67 a share, against $4,666,000, or $2.37 a share, in 1935.

Outboard, Marine & Manufacturing company issued its first quarterly report covering the three months ended Dec. 31, showing a loss of $71,319 before provision for depreciation of $27,267. Ralph Evinrude, president, said that results of predecessor concerns which were consolidated to form the present company show that first quarter results are normally the least profitable.

Net income after all charges of $368,436 was earned by the Southwestern Light and Power company in the 12 months ended Dec. 31, against $243,904 in the preceding 12 months.

SEC BROADENS STOCK PROBE OF W. E. HUTTON CO.

Removes All Restrictions on Scope of Testimony.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—The Securities and Exchange commission removed all restrictions today on the scope of testimony permissible in the government's stock manipulation case against W. E. Hutton & Co. Defense counsel, who sought to limit the testimony, said he would prepare to appeal. The government contends the Hutton company, being guilty of rigging, should be suspended or expelled from the country's major stock exchanges.

The testimony issue was forced by David W. Peck, counsel for Hutton. He moved to quash subpenas issued for witnesses called to testify about transactions in the stock of the Artloom corporation of Philadelphia. He insisted Artloom was not named in the citation against Hutton.

Defense Motion Overruled.

Jacob Gruber, commission attorney, said he planned to show the Hutton firm tampered artificially with Artloom stock after disposing of its Atlas Tack corporation holdings at top prices, and Edward C. Johnson, trial examiner, overruled Peck's motion.

"The commission finds that the Artloom situation is a matter of importance in the situation," Johnson said.

Defense counsel interpreted the ruling as a "nod" to government attorneys to question witnesses on any and all activities of the Hutton firm regardless of whether they tied up with its handling of Atlas stock. When testimony was resumed Peck objected to every question he considered irrelevant and, when overruled, took exception.

Chicagoan Testifies.

Arthur Greene of Chicago, president of the Merchants and Manufacturers Securities company, testified that he sold 37,631 shares of Atlas Tack stock with assurance the purchaser would hold them. The purchaser was Herbert J. Adair, now president of the tack company, who testified yesterday that he obtained an option on the shares from Greene and immediately assigned it to W. E. Hutton and company, a brokerage house.

Greene said he first became interested in Atlas in March, 1934, and thereafter bought the 37,631 shares from the Philbin corporation, which then had control of the tack concern. A year later Adair offered $9 a share, Greene said, while he held out for $10. A compromise was reached at $9.75 on Nov. 14, 1935, and the deal was closed the following day.

Previous testimony had shown the stock was turned over immediately to Hutton and company, at $11 per share, representing a profit to Adair of $1.25.

PRICES OF LARD DECLINE ON SCATTERED LIQUIDATION

Scattered commission house liquidation in lard futures yesterday sent prices down sharply. Closing trades were 32½ to 40 cents lower. Continued weakness in hogs and a lack of demand for cash lard were the depressing influences.

Clear bellies [salt pork] closed 5 cents lower. Cash lard was quoted at $12.37½; loose, $11.72½; leaf, $11.50, and clear bellies at $15.75 per 100 pounds. Prices follow:

Promote Peace by Trade Pacts, Sec. Hull Urges Senate Group

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Even if the United States should be able to escape actual military participation in any large scale war it would suffer heavily from the economic upheaval the war would cause, Secretary of State Cordell Hull warned the senate finance committee in a letter to its chairman, Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi, made public today.

Francis B. Sayre.

The nation's best chance of avoiding this suffering, Hull wrote, is to promote peace through prosecution of the administration's program for the revival of international trade and the promotion of universal prosperity.

Start Hearing on Tarif Pact Bill.

The secretary wrote his letter to be read in lieu of his appearance before the committee as it began its hearings on the resolution to extend for another three years the tarif bargaining powers granted to President Roosevelt in 1934. The house passed the resolution yesterday.

Between the lines of the letter was apparent Hull's concern at the existing international situation and his belief that this country's economic contribution to peace must be hastened lest it come too late. International economic warfare shows signs of abating, Mr. Hull told the committee, adding, however, that an abandonment by this country of its trade agreements program would stir it up again.

In Hull's absence, the administration sent Francis B. Sayre, assistant secretary of state, to testify. He faced a body of men generally less sympathetic with the administration's program than was the house ways and means committee before which he testified.

Questioners Not Friendly.

During the entire day hardly a single question was asked of him or a single observation made which indicated a friendly interest on the part of any questioner. Such conservative Democratic senators as Tom Connally of Texas, Josiah W. Bailey of North Carolina, and Peter G. Gerry of Rhode Island asked more skeptical and critical questions than did the Republican members of the committee.

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan led the Republican attack on the witness, aided to some degree by Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas and Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania. Although Vandenberg's examination of the witness was largely limited to the elicitation of factual information, he has announced his intention of opposing the extension of the tarif bargaining powers.

He asked Sayre whether the question of this country's neutrality legislation is involved in preliminary trade negotiations with Great Britain.

"Nothing of that kind has come to my desk," Sayre replied.

CARNEGIE UNION DEMANDS CUT IN HOURS, PAY RAISE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Feb. 10.—(AP)—Employé representatives of 50,000 workers in eighteen district mills of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation laid their demands for an 80 cents a day increase and $5 a day minimum pay today before company representatives at a general joint council meeting. The company twice refused similar wage demands within the past six months, but gave a general 10 per cent raise last November.

The workers also asked a 40 hour week instead of the present 48 hours, time and one-half for overtime, a minimum pay for women corresponding with that given men, and time and a half for Sunday and holiday work.

The joint council, on which the workers have eighteen members and the company an equal number, deferred action while it took up several other suggestions made by the employés. Approval was given to a resolution defining employés' seniority rights which, among other things, denied supersedence of men transferred to another plant.

First National Bank Stock Climbs $11 a Share to $384

First National bank common stock yesterday advanced $11 a share to $384 bid, $388 asked, in over the counter trading here. Continental Illinois rose $4 to $182 bid, $184 asked. Northern Trust climbed $10 a share to $860 bid, $875 asked.

JUDGE URGES 8 HOUR DAY IN TRUCK DRIVING

Judge John Gutknecht of the Trafic court of Chicago yesterday testified at an interstate commerce commission hearing at the Hotel Sherman that he advocated regulations to prohibit truck drivers from working more than eight consecutive hours. Examiners R. W. Snow and H. H. Kelly are assembling information to be used by the I. C. C. as a basis for establishing hours of work and working conditions for truck drivers.

"Eight hours, in my opinion, would be the safest number," Judge Gutknecht said, "considering not only the safety of the driver but of the people on the highways. Drivers are permitted to drive longer than their ability to withstand fatigue."

General Motors Overseas Sales Higher in January

New York, Feb. 10.—(AP)—Sales of General Motors cars and trucks to dealers in the overseas markets in January totaled 26,990 units, an increase of 5.5 per cent over January last year. For the twelve months ended Jan. 31, 1937, sales totaled 326,166 units, an increase of 12.2 per cent over the 290,696 in the twelve months ended a year earlier.

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX INCREASE RULES OPPOSED

Trade Group Advocates Delay in Rate Boost.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—(AP)—A United States Chamber of Commerce committee urged today that projected increases in taxes under the social security act be postponed until 1947. Old age pension taxes which now are 1 per cent on both workers' wages and employers' pay rolls, are scheduled to climb to 1.5 per cent in 1940 and 3 per cent in 1949.

Collections under the 1 per cent rate, the committee said, "will yield more than enough revenue to meet for years all expenditures under the act." Urging postponement of the increases it said the intervening time could be used "to work out the problems now presented" by the law.

Would Divide Burden.

The group expressed approval of the act's purposes, but suggested that unemployment insurance taxes, borne solely by employers, be extended to employés. Criticism was directed at the plan for building huge government pension reserves. The committee said the program should be put on a "pay as you go" basis. This suggestion also has been advanced in some administration quarters.

The chamber group, headed by Fred H. Clausen of Horicon, Wis., said consideration should be given to "gradual extension of the old age benefit system to workers not now covered . . . as successful methods of administration are developed." It asserted that formulation of private pension systems to supplement the government system should be encouraged.

Urges Tax Free Plan.

"In particular," the report said, "the committee recommends that such plans should be free from taxation in order that all money intended for the benefit of workers may be devoted exclusively to that purpose. The committee points out that government operated pension measures have for their purpose . . . assuring workers that upon reaching retirement they will not be dependent upon public relief."

Another recommendation was that the tax on employers be limited to wages paid persons earning $3,000 a year or less. The committee described as an "impropriety" the present provision taxing gross pay rolls, including compensation to top salaried officers.

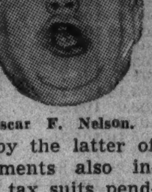
SILVER FUTURES.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 10.—(AP)—SILVER—Futures closed steady, unchanged to 5 points higher. No sales. Closing bids: March, 44.26c per oz; May, 44.05c; July, 44.00c.

2 BIG CHICAGO FIRMS SETTLE FEDERAL SUITS FOR INCOME TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Feb. 10.—[Special.]—Settlement of two large tax suits involving Chicago corporations was disclosed today by the United States board of tax appeals.



Oscar F. Nelson.

Agreements between the government and the Midland Utilities company resulted in tax payment by the latter of $226,000. The agreements also involved settlement of tax suits pending against a number of Midland's affiliates, including the Shore Line Motor Coach company.

The Palmer Investment company, 80 East Jackson boulevard, agreed to an assessment of $1,299,660 for 1930 income. The agreement, however, provided for abandonment of the government's tax claims against several subsidiaries. These included the Avenue Trading company, $401,000, and the Boulevard Trading corporation, $701,000.

At the same time, the board received a petition from Judge Oscar F. Nelson and his wife, Helen Nelson, 3500 Lake Shore drive, Chicago, asking redetermination of an asserted tax deficiency lodged against them amounting to $2,114. The Nelsons' plea contended the commissioner of internal revenue erred by failing to allow deduction of $24,000 for bad debts on their 1934 income tax return.

MEAT PRICES DIP AS LENT STARTS; LIVE STOCK SAGS

Most branches of the live stock markets weakened yesterday, influenced by additional declines in wholesale prices of meats as the Lenten season opened. Restricted buying sent beef and veal down as much as 50 cents per hundred pounds and declines of $1 were registered in pork and lamb meat.

Hog prices at Chicago sagged mostly 5 to 10 cents, with light kinds that showed most action the preceding day off more. Heavy "lard hogs" were steady to 5 cents lower. Both the top and average prices, $10.25 and $10.10, respectively, were off 5 cents and lowest in nine days.

Lamb prices were cut mostly 15 to 25 cents on a late afternoon session. The bulk moved slowly at $10.65 to $10.75, with top sales to packers, city butchers and shippers at $10.85.

A lighter run helped the selling side in the cattle trade, and the general market was uneven. The top of $14.50 was steady, and plain, medium, and some good grades selling at $7.00 to $13.00 were strong to slightly higher. Best beef cows and hefers sold strong to a shade higher.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was quiet and unchanged today at 3.55c per lb for spots with no sales reported. It was believed that sugars were obtainable at this level, but buyers showed no interest. Futures held generally steady, especially the No. 3 contract. Volume was limited. No. 3 advanced 2 to 4 points early on covering and trade commission house buying, but reacted partially near the close under liquidation with final prices 1 to 3 points net higher. Sales were 5,050 tons. No. 4 fluctuated within a range of ½ point with May selling from 1.15½@1.15c and September from 1.18½@1.18c. Final prices were at the lows and 1c lower to 1c net higher on sales of 9,100 tons.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

	Yesterday.	Tuesday.	Wk. ago.	Mo. ago.
Wheat	$1.35¾	$1.31⅞	$1.31⅜	$1.35⅛
Corn	1.09⅝	1.10¼	1.07⅜	1.12
Oats	.51	.51	.51	.54⅛
Rye	1.11⅝	1.11⅝	1.11⅜	1.13¾

Wheat futures closed fractionally higher here yesterday after rising nearly 2 cents a bushel early in the day to a new high on the current movement. May wheat sold at $1.36¾ or within a cent of the highest level of the season, before profit taking developed. Strength in Liverpool, which climbed 1½ to 1⅞ cents, and an aggressive demand for wheat from Germany inspired the buying. Germany was reported to have purchased 1,850,000 bushels of wheat from Czechoslovakia, 200,000 bushels from Argentina, and 125,000 bushels from Canada.

Wheat Erratic in Winnipeg.

Winnipeg was erratic. After selling just under the highest level of the season wheat reacted to close practically unchanged. Seaboard milling and American interests were large buyers of wheat futures in the Canadian market early in the day.

While there were a few unfavorable crop reports from western sections of the winter wheat belt they were not alarming enough to cause buying of futures. The Kansas weekly crop summary said there had been little damage as the result of the recent ice pack which had formed over the fields.

Corn Shows Strength.

Corn showed independent strength early, but advances were confined to a small fraction of a cent. Later, professional operators turned to the selling side and the close was fractionally lower. Price changes in oats, rye, and soy beans were unimportant.

Commercial demand for corn was smaller, sales totaling 12,000 bushels, while 65,000 bushels were purchased for deferred shipment from the country.

The Buenos Aires market, which reopened after a two day holiday, showed a firm undertone on the old wheat crop months, but the May delivery, which represents the 1937 harvest, was easier, reflecting recent highly beneficial rains.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Feb. 10.—Listed bond prices continued to move lower today although volume of trading picked up from the listless pace registered during the first two days this week.

Volume for all bonds totaled $13,294,000 par value, against $10,808,000 Tuesday.

United States governments closed about an eighth point lower. The turnover was of minor proportions, barely topping $500,000.

Domestic List Tends Lower.

Domestic corporate loans trudged along unevenly with the majority declining. Paramount 6s provided a highlight in the industrial quarter, moving up 4⅝ to 105½. Some Wall street observers felt the buying might have come from rumors of a refunding program. Other industrials were mixed with setbacks slightly outnumbering gains.

Rails held about even. Illinois Central 4¾s lost ¾ to 76¾, St. Paul 5s declined ⅝ to 32⅝ and small losses were dealt Erie 5s, Santa Fe 4s, and Great Western 4s. North Western 4¾s added 1¼ to 20¼ and Rock Island 4s were up ¾ to 42.

Foreign Issues Climb.

Foreigns pointed higher with Colombia 6s showing the way with a gain of 3¼ to 37¼. Brazil 6½s were up 1⅛ to 45⅞, and Peru 6s gained 1⅝ to 22⅞. Europeans were slightly mixed.

A good demand was accorded the day's heavy bond flotations, particularly municipals.

Further weakness in Baldwin Locomotive issues, which dropped 6½ to 21 points, marked otherwise quiet trading and narrow fluctuations on the curb exchange.

General Telephone.

Investors' Guide: Please let me have information on the company that used to be Associated Telephone Utilities company.—S. S.

Answer: Under terms of a plan of reorganization placed in effect in July, 1935, General Telephone corporation was formed to acquire assets of Associated Telephone Utilities company, which had been placed in receivership in 1933. Creditors and holders of notes and debentures of Associated Telephone received stock in the new company. Stockholders of the old company received rights to buy common stock of General Telephone at $50 a share at any time before Nov. 1, 1948.

General Telephone is a holding company controling a group of telephone companies. The subsidiaries serve approximately 1,000 communities with a total population of more than 3,200,000. Service extends to communities in Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, California, Washington, Idaho, Montana, New York, and Pennsylvania.

Long distance service is interchanged with the American Telephone and Telegraph company.

Outstanding capitalization of the new company consists of 73,515 shares of $3 dividend cumulative convertible no par preferred and 701,059 shares of $20 par common stock, including 82,175 shares of common held by a subsidiary to take care of conversion privileges of its preferred stock.

Gross revenues were $11,680,000 and net income was $1,277,000 in the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1936. This was equal to $17.38 a share on the preferred and $1.52 per common share, on the basis of 693,248 common shares outstanding. Fixed charges were covered 1.67 times.

Including operations of the predecessor company to July 16, revenues were $11,180,000 and net income was $986,000 or $1.11 per common share [687,223 shares outstanding] during 1935.

The consolidated balance sheet of Dec. 31, 1935, showed total assets of $79,379,000. Current assets were $9,655,000 and current liabilities were $1,851,000. Funded debt of subsidiaries amounted to $29,066,800 and subsidiary preferred stocks were carried at $8,234,433.

Dividends are being paid regularly on the new preferred stock. An initial dividend of 25 cents a share was paid on the common on April 20, 1936. Another of 25 cents was paid Aug. 20, and 85 cents a share was paid Dec. 21.

UTILITY TO OFFER 104 MILLIONS OF SECURITIESTODAY

Northern States Power to Refund Debt.

Offering of securities of the Northern States Power Company of Minnesota aggregating $104,075,000 will be made today by a syndicate of thirty investment houses, headed by the Bancamerica-Blair corporation. This is the largest offering of electric and gas utility securities to be made thus far under the securities and exchange act.

The offering includes $75,000,000 first and refunding mortgage bonds, 3½ per cent series, due 1967, which will be priced at 101 and accrued interest, and 275,000 shares of no par $5 series cumulative preferred stock priced at 103 and accrued dividends from Jan. 1, 1937.

Proceeds to Refund Debt.

Proceeds will be used together with other funds to redeem all outstanding funded debt except the issue of St. Paul Gas Light company general mortgage gold bonds, 5 per cent, due March 1, 1944.

The company is an operating utility which also controls seventeen subsidiaries serving the northwest. The interest saving which will result from the refunding will approximate $800,000 annually. Eleven bond, note, and stock issues will be reduced to four.

Frank D. Comerford, chairman of the New England Power association, said yesterday that the company will file with the SEC within the next two weeks registration statements covering the initial steps in its refunding program. The company was the first public utility organization to register under the public utility holding company act.

New Issues Close Unchanged.

Argentine Republic and Dallas Power and Light company bonds which were placed on the market yesterday sold at fractional premiums during the day but closed at about the offering prices. The Argentine issue of $70,000,000 of bonds was offered at 91, and the Dallas Power issue, totaling $16,000,000 of 3½ per cent bonds, was offered at 102⅝.

Three railroads yesterday asked permission of the interstate commerce commission to sell more than $22,000,000 of equipment trust certificates to finance the purchase of new equipment. The Santa Fe seeks to sell $13,800,000 of the securities; the Bessemer and Lake Erie railroad, $6,700,000, and the Union railroad, $2,380,000.

COURT APPROVES CAPITOL BUILDING REORGANIZATION

Reorganization of the twenty-one story Capitol building, one of Chicago's first skyscrapers, at the northeast corner of State and Randolph streets, was confirmed yesterday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward when he entered a final decree under section 77-B of the amended bankruptcy law. Simultaneously he set March 1 for a hearing on application for fees amounting to $216,000 for services rendered by various interests in both the state court and federal proceedings involving foreclosure and ultimate reorganization.

The largest fee asked was by Schuyler, Weinfeld & Hennessy, attorneys for the bondholders' committee, $75,000. The committee asked $35,000, and the law firms of Eckert & Peterson, and Sabath, Perlman, Goodman & Rein, attorneys for the corporation, $50,000.

The court also authorized the First National Bank of Chicago, trustee, to pay the Harry Goldstine Realty company $42,000 for services rendered to the corporation in connection with the reduction of real estate taxes for four years.

BLISS & LAUGHLIN FEATURES RISE IN CHICAGO STOCKS

Chicago stocks were strong yesterday, with nine issues advancing to new high prices for 1936-'37. The sharpest gain was an advance of 3⅛ by Bliss & Laughlin, which closed at 39⅜, a new high for the year. A. M. Castle closed at 67¾ for a gain of 1¼ after having touched 68½. Chicago Flexible Shaft climbed a point to 64.

Chicago corporation was the most active issue in the list, closing at 5⅞, up ⅛, on a turnover of 13,750 shares. Consumers common declined ⅛ to ⅜; Cities Service eased the same amount, and Jarvis and Berghoff advanced fractionally. Other substantial gains made were 1⅜ by Abbot Laboratories and 2 by Commonwealth Edison.

CLOSING COTTON TRADES .02 TO .08 CENT LOWER

A slightly easier undertone developed in American cotton markets yesterday. Chicago closed at net losses of .03 to .08 cent, while New York was .02 to .05 cent a pound lower.

Spot cotton closed unchanged to .05 cent lower, with New Orleans at 13.15 cents; New York, 13.10 cents; Houston, 12.70 cents, and Galveston at 12.65 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

16 Steers Sold.

February 10, 1937.

SIXTEEN head of steers—the last of the 3 year old Herefords on feed at the Tribune's Yorkville experimental farm—were sold on the Chicago market yesterday. The steers have been on feed since last August. The sixty animals delivered at the farm cost a total of $3,721.20 and brought a total of $6,312.96 after marketing and transportation costs were paid. This leaves $2,591.76 to pay feed and labor costs.

The steers were bought in Kansas City on Aug. 24, 1936. They weighed a total of 56,130 pounds, or an average of 935 pounds. While at the farm they gained 11,050 pounds, weighing an aggregate total of 67,180 pounds when brought to market. The steers cost $6.35 a hundredweight.

Marketed in Three Lots.

The white faces were sold in three separate lots. The first lot of twenty-two head was sold on Dec. 22, 1936, at $9.40 a hundred pounds. They weighed a total of 24,560 and averaged 1,116 pounds.

The second lot of twenty-two was sold on Feb. 3 at $9.75 a hundred pounds, weighing a total of 25,290 and averaging 1,150 pounds.

Yesterday the third and last lot of sixteen head, making a total of sixty, was sold at $9.85 a hundred pounds. They weighed a total of 17,330 pounds, or an average of slightly more than 1,083 pounds.

The transportation and marketing costs on the three lots were $56.10, $67.74, and $48.61, respectively.

It cost $27.59 to bring the sixteen head of steers to Union stockyards—$25.99 trucking charge and $1.60 to cover transportation insurance. Marketing costs totaled $21.02—yardage, $8.80; hay [100 pounds], $1.80; fire insurance, 7 cents, and commission, $10.35.

The last bunch marketed was made up of the lightest steers in feed lot No. 1, but they brought 45 cents a hundred pounds more than the first bunch and 10 cents a hundred more than the second bunch.

Procedure Deemed Success.

Clarence Thurow, manager of the Yorkville place, believes that it paid him to split the 3 year old steers up into bunches and sell them in three different lots instead of marketing the sixty head all at the same time.

With the 3 year olds out of the way there still are 166 head left at the farm. There are seventy-two head of 2 year olds in the feed yards and ninety-four yearlings that are being roughed through the winter.

COMMODITIES ADVANCE AGAIN; COFFEE AT PEAK

Copper for Export Rises to 13.44 Cents.

Commodity prices advanced again in most principal markets yesterday. The chief interest centered in copper and coffee. Coffee reached another new high price peak for the season. In the futures market in New York closing quotations were 0.07 to 0.13 of a cent a pound above Tuesday's prices. All future contracts of Santos coffees closed above 11 cents a pound.

Reawakening speculative interest in copper sent prices in the futures market up 0.07 to 0.12 cent a pound. In the export market sales were made as high as 13.44 cents a pound, the highest price in several years.

Domestic Price Unchanged.

The official domestic copper price remained unchanged at 13 cents, however. Copper for delivery next May closed at 12.36 cents a pound, 0.11 of a cent above Tuesday's quotation.

Rubber prices advanced moderately. Contracts calling for delivery in May closed at 21.49 cents a pound, compared with Tuesday's price of 21.33 cents. Cocoa and hides, recent speculative favorites among commodities, closed slightly lower.

FEDERAL BUYING PREVENTS DIP IN EGG PRICES

The government resumed buying of fresh eggs in leading markets yesterday and was believed to have prevented a general decline in prices. Federal purchases here amounted to 60,000 dozen, and in New York purchases of 173,250 dozen were reported. Unofficial sources indicated the government also bought 59,850 dozen in Philadelphia.

Early sales of carlots of fresh firsts in Chicago were made as low as 21¾ cents a dozen, down ½ cent as a result of heavy receipts and failure of the government to buy eggs Tuesday, but government buyers immediately came into the market and paid 22 cents a dozen, a price which prevailed the remainder of the day.

Egg futures declined ¼ to ⅜ cent a dozen, however. Sales of futures were 48 cars. Butter futures were unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. Sales were 41 cars. Range of prices of butter, eggs, and potato futures follows:

HELP WANTED—MEN.

Miscellaneous.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR LIFE

Due to our forced expansion program, we need to replace 2 men who have recently been promoted. This is a progressive educational service and requires a man who is earnest and willing to conscientiously work for a better position in life. Substantial commission will be divided and income starts at once. Salary adjusted according to your ability in a very short time. Apply 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. and 2 p. m. to 4 p. m., Room 664, Sherman Hotel.

I SECURED A POSITION WITH ELECtrolux, Inc., in 1934, selling their air-purifying and cleaning equipment, and that year made commissions of $2,461.08. In 1935 my income was $2,944.28 and in 1936 it was $3,421.62.
My business has grown to such proportions that I need a married man 28 to 58 years old, with car, to assist me. A man who would be willing to work as hard as I worked in 1934 to make commissions of $2,461.08. I want a man who can do as well as I have done or better. For appointment, address Frank Johnson, Electrolux, Inc., 4832 Lincoln-av., Chicago.

MAN WITH CAR.

Between 18-26, to promote single copy sale of magazine every afternoon and on Saturday morning; salary. Call Van Buren 2516 for appointment.

I'LL TAKE THIS PAIL OF DIRT OUT OF OUR BACK YARD DOWN TO OLD MAN BROMIDE, TH' DRUGGIST, TO BE ANALYZED! BY GOSH, IT MAY BE FULL OF GOLD, SO I CAN'T TELL A LIVIN' SOUL A WORD ABOUT THIS!
SAY, DOC, DO YOU KNOW ABOUT GOLD AND SILVER AN' ALL THEM PRECIOUS METALS?
WELL—A LITTLE! ABOUT AS MUCH AS MOST CHEMISTS DO!!
I MEAN, IF Y'LOOKED AT A HANDFUL OF DIRT, COULD Y'TELL IF IT HAD GOLD, OR DIAMONDS, OR ANYTHING ELSE OF VALUE HIDDEN IN IT?
YOU MEAN, AM I A GEOLOGIST? NO, BUT I COULD SEND IT TO AN ASSAYER FOR YOU!!

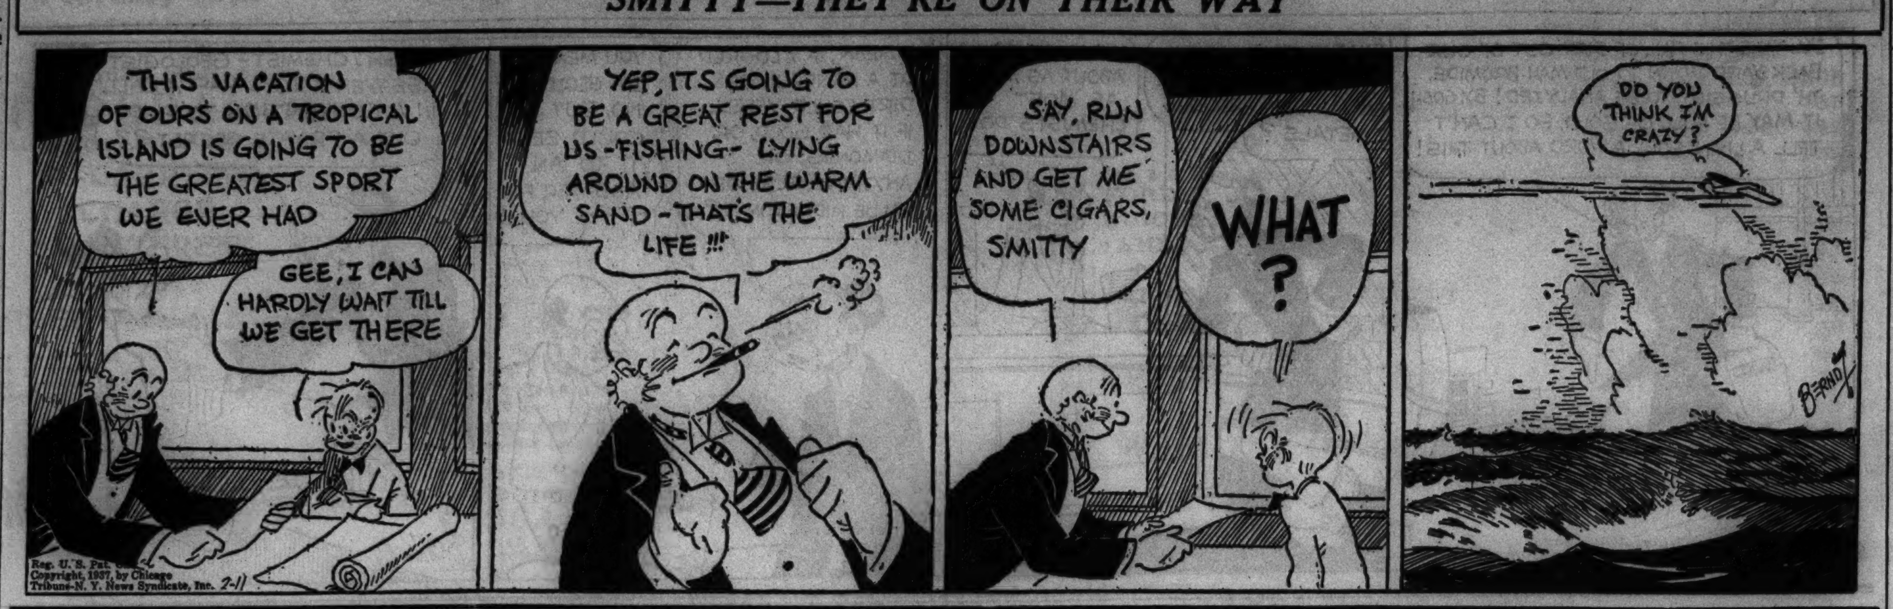
SMITTY—THEY'RE ON THEIR WAY



THIS VACATION OF OURS ON A TROPICAL ISLAND IS GOING TO BE THE GREATEST SPORT WE EVER HAD GEE, I CAN HARDLY WAIT TILL WE GET THERE
YEP, ITS GOING TO BE A GREAT REST FOR US-FISHING-LYING AROUND ON THE WARM SAND-THATS THE LIFE !!
SAY, RUN DOWNSTAIRS AND GET ME SOME CIGARS, SMITTY
WHAT ?
DO YOU THINK I'M CRAZY?

HOW YOU CAN BORROW.
1. If you can make monthly payments you can qualify for a loan.
2. You do not need co-makers or endorsers.
3. No inquiries made of employer or friends.
HOW YOU CAN REPAY.
1. Payments on all loans are small. For example, payments on a $200 loan are $10 per month plus interest charges on a 20 month schedule.
2. Monthly rate is 2% on the balance above $100, 3% on $100 or less. This is substantially less than the lawful maximum on loans over $100.

A CORRECTION.
Recently we insterted an advertisment which carried the words, "90 DAY FACTORY GUARANTEE."
We should have made it clear that these used cars were guaranteed by us and not by the factory, but that the terms of the guarantee were the same.
We regret this error and pledge it will not recur.

WRECKAGE OF PLANE IN WHICH ELEVEN DIED IS RAISED FROM SAN FRANCISCO BAY—Graphic picture sent to Chicago yesterday by wirephoto as investigations opened into the latest air tragedy. The United Air liner which fell into San Francisco bay near Mills field, its destination, was raised by a crane, revealing a crushed wing and the bodies of three of the victims. The body of a fourth was recovered last night. The bodies of the other seven victims were still in the water, having been thrown from the wreckage. The ship fell at conclusion of flight from Los Angeles Tuesday night.
